

GERMANS DRIVEN BACK

21 FAMOUS DRIVERS IN 500 MILE AUTO RACE

Thousands of Persons at Chicago Speedway for Great Race—$54,000 in Prizes

SPEEDWAY. Chicago, June 25.—Thousands of persons at an early hour today were on their way to the new two mile automobile speedway, advertised as the fastest in the world, to witness the 500-mile derby participated in by 21 of the best known drivers in the country. Twenty-four drivers were entered but three withdrew before the start.

Twenty years ago a so-called "horseless carriage" driven by Charles Duryea of Springfield, Mass., plowed through snow and ice on the roads between Chicago and Evanston and won the first automobile race ever held in this country. His time for the 10 mile route laid out was at the rate of 7.5 miles an hour. Today the finest creations of the engineers of three countries meet at 10 o'clock to battle for $54,000 in prize money, and they expect to go twelve times as fast as Duryea did as a pioneer.

The drivers have two 500-mile marks to shoot at. First comes the Brooklands, England, mark of 34.75 miles an hour, made in 1913, by Resta, Chasagne and Guinness, who relieved each other at intervals of a 12 hour stint and the Indianapolis record of 59.84 miles an hour, established by Ralph De Palma, who won the Hoosier classic this year.

Predictions were made that the De Palma record would be overwhelmed, based on practice records over the board track. Enthusiasts declared that the winner would have to average 97 miles, but the more conservative questioners whether the Brookland record would be broken.

IN POLICE COURT

Failure to abstain from indulging too freely in intoxicating liquors was responsible for the presence of 10 men and four women in the police court dock this forenoon.

Among the other offenders was a young man who registered as John G. Sunderland, charged with unlawfully throwing a lighted fire cracker on Sunday last. He pleaded not guilty.

Patrolman James Conidine, who keeps the peace in the vicinity of the South common, testified that on last Sunday he saw Sunderland and a number of companions exploding fire crackers near the South common. He chased them and arrested the defendant as he was one of the largest boys of the group.

In his own behalf, the defendant said that he was standing alone on the common when approached by the officer. His story did not satisfy the court, however, and a finding of guilty was made. At the request of Deputy Downey, the case was placed on a summary but on the day of his arrest, left the document in his room. Judge Enright ordered him to pay a fine of $5.

Erimantous Corotakis was called to answer to a complaint charging him with the larceny of $20 from Photo Papastakis. He pleaded not guilty and his case continued until next Tuesday for trial. In the meantime a settlement will probably be made.

James C. Gannon, one of the drunken offenders, was complained of by Patrolman Sewall for soliciting money from men in Merrimack square. He was sent to jail for three months. Mary Vincent was arrested early this morning by Patrolman Farley and when arraigned in court pleaded guilty to drunkenness. It being her fourth offense, a three months' jail sentence was imposed. The other 12 intoxicants were disposed of with small fines or suspended sentences. For first things were released after being inspected by Probation Officer Slattery.

Ruth Roland, petite and pretty, pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging her with disorderly conduct, but the testimony of Special Officer J. H. Clark and Patrolmen Cullen and Alfred Conney regarding her alleged improper behavior was sufficient to satisfy His Honor of her guilt and a sentence to the Women's reformatory at Sherborn was imposed. Through her counsel, George F. Toye, she appealed and was held in $300 for the superior court.

Charles W. Barton pleaded guilty to assaulting Patrick F. Walsh and was fined $20. Both parties are employed at the Cartridge company and the assault grew out of an altercation.

FUNERALS

PRESCOTT.—The funeral of George W. Prescott took place from the rooms of C. H. Molloy in Market street, services being conducted by Rev. N. Matthews. Burial was in the West Lawn cemetery, where Rev. Mr. Matthews read the committal service. Charles H. Molloy was the undertaker.

FUNERAL NOTICES

KENNESON.—Died in Togus, Maine, June 12, Jefferson P. Kenneson, aged 51 years. Funeral services will be held in the Edison cemetery, on Sunday afternoon, June 27, at 3 o'clock. Friends invited to attend. J. A. Weinbeck in charge.

McDERMOTT.—The funeral of Miss Jennie McDermott will take place on Monday morning at 8 o'clock from the chapel of C. H. Molloy in Market street. At 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem will be sung at St. Peter's church. Burial in St. Peter's cemetery in charge of Charles H. Molloy.

LEFT BANK OF DNIESTER IS CLEARED OF TEUTONS

Drive of Austro-Germans Has Been at Least Temporarily Checked—England Awaits Next Move by Germany—Italians Advance

The left bank of the river Dniester has been entirely cleared of the Teutonic troops who forced their way across at two points early this week, according to the latest Russian official statements, but the Austro-German forces are making desperate efforts to effect a passage elsewhere.

Temporarily Checked

Nearly everywhere else along the eastern war front, the drive of the Teutonic allies has been at least temporarily checked, according to the latest Russian claims. The report mentions specifically a breaking up of the German offensive to the west of the river Nieman, in the Orzye and Omulav valley and on the Vistula front south of Pilica. A later accession to the force of the German drive in the Orzye region is indicated, however, the Russians reporting they were forced to give way because of annihilating artillery fire. No important changes in the situation to the east of Lemberg is reported.

Next Move of Germans

Military observers are watching the progress of this fighting in eastern territory and reported movements of German troops on interior lines, seemingly unable as yet to determine whether these operations will be followed by another Teutonic drive at Warsaw or renewed activity by the Germans along the western front.

Italians Make Progress

The Italian armies are continuing their work of keeping clear the ground in front of them in the Tyrol-Trentino and in Cadore and Carniolia by artillery fire and isolated infantry operations, the official report says. Progress is being made along the Isontzo, according to the Italian statement, despite the natural difficulties of the ground accentuated by artificial obstacles placed by the Austrians.

Turkish Success Reported

The most recent definite news from the Dardanelles is in a report by the Turkish war office that on June 23 a Turkish patrol had destroyed a part of the invading forces and captured arms and other war booty.

MAKE APPEAL FOR PEACE

The Social Democratic Party in Germany Urges Government in Name of Humanity to End War

BERLIN, June 26, via London.—The board of directors, or managing committee of the social democratic party in Germany has caused to be published in the Vorwaerts a full page appeal for peace.

This interesting document calls for a peace under certain circumstances which will make possible friendships with neighboring nations, and it sets forth most clearly the opposition of the party to territorial conquest and annexation. The people want peace, it declares, and the government is called upon in the name of humanity to make known its readiness to enter peace negotiations.

The appeal is published under the heading "Social Democracy and Peace." It begins with a reference to the fact that the socialists foresaw the coming of the war and worked vainly for an international understanding; but when the war did come they placed themselves at the disposal of the fatherland. It then refers to the declaration of the party made in the reichstag Aug. 4, 1914, which said: "We demand, as soon as safety has been secured and our opponents are inclined to peace, that we brought to an end and through a peace which will make possible friendships with neighboring nations."

NO. CHELMSFORD SCHOOL GRADUATES

High School Class of Twelve Received Diplomas — Town Hall Filled With Friends of Graduates

Before an audience that filled the town hall to overflowing the commencement exercises of the North Chelmsford high school were held last night. The fact that this was one of the largest and also one of the youngest graduating classes in the history of the school accounted for the large attendance, and besides the parents and friends from the village, there was a large number from Lowell and other surrounding towns who came to congratulate the graduates. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the class colors, green and gold predominating in the color scheme, while the stage was a bower of beauty, with its twining lattice work, and greenery. At the rear of the stage, suspended in the midst of the elaborate decorations was the class motto, "Striving to Win." and in front of this were seated the graduates. Principal Arthur Truhey, Supt. Benj. E. Martin, and other school officials. The lower hall was also artistically decorated, and after the exercises the graduates were tendered a reception there, and refreshments were served. The program, even though it was of lengthy character, was so evenly balanced that it did not prove in the least tiresome, and the efforts of the graduates were given well merited applause by the large audience. All received handsome floral offerings and other tokens in honor of the happy occasion. The program which was started promptly at 8 o'clock was as follows:

Selection, orchestra, prayer, Rev. F. H. Reeves; "The Opening Door," John H. Valentine; "Thoughts in a Theatre," May J. Brown; song, "Victory," chorus; "The Manufacture of Inner Tubes," Warren E. Prince; "Baseball vs. Bullets," Willis L. McComb; "The Justice of the Jury," Arthur R. Nyström; song, "The Armorer," "The Bells of Seville," chorus; "How Some of the People Are Fooled All the Time," Herbert C. Reis; "The Dream of an Immigrant Child," Betty A. Nelson; "Our Nation's Emblem," Pauline W. Worden; "The Making of a Criminal," Leroy T. Lakin.

At this point in the program the following class song, written by John H. Valentine, one of the class leaders, was sung:

Passing years have quickly brought us to our graduation day; Faithful study, steady toiling, Pushed us onward day by day. Put aside your mathematics, And your French, too, out of sight, For the time is past for study— This is Graduation night.

Joyous hours we've spent together Since as pupils first we came To that dear old village high school Where we started to make fame. Life's bright future lies before us, Memories fond the heart will cheer; Still a thought of sadness lingers, And we part from those grown dear.

Fare ye well, then, O dear classmates, Friends and teachers, fare ye well, For we may no longer study here. In the school we love so well, Fare ye well, beloved class-room, Now the parting time is here, And we now no more shall enter At the door we love so dear.

The other numbers of the program were:

"Part Time Cooperative Vocational Education," Harold R. Hodge; "The Red Cross Society," Clara Anderson; presentation of diplomas, Supt. B. E. Truhey; song, "The Armorer," E. T. Schofield. The graduates were:

May Jessie Brown, president; Warren Fletcher Prince, vice president; Willis Leonard McComb, secretary; Herbert Carl Reis, treasurer; Clara Anderson, Josephine Margaret Higgins, Betty Annette Nelson, Pauline W. Worden, Harold Bradley Hodge, Leroy Taylor Lakin, Arthur Robert Nyström, John Henry Valentine.

The class poem which was written by Leroy Taylor Lakin, also appeared on the printed program.

At the conclusion of the exercises the graduates were roundly congratulated by their friends and Principal Arthur Truhey, Miss Adele McMillan and Miss Gertrude Sawyer, teachers of the school, were complimented for bringing the school year to such a successful close. Following the reception, all repaired once more to the assembly hall where dancing, to the pleasing strains of Martin's Crescent orchestra was enjoyed. This form of amusement lasted until midnight, making the commencement exercises the most successful held in the history of the school.

WILL THROW 200,000 OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

General Shutdown of Chicago's Building Industry — Beginning of Labor War

CHICAGO, June 26.—A general shutdown of Chicago's building industry, which, it was said, will throw out of employment more than 200,000 workers, went into effect today.

The shut down is regarded by contractors and labor leaders as the beginning of one of the greatest labor wars in recent years. The action was taken at a meeting last night of representatives of the allied building and material interests as an answer to the referendum vote of 16,000 striking carpenters, who overwhelmingly defeated the proposal to arbitrate all questions in dispute.

The carpenters have been on a strike since April 30, when their agreement with the Contractor Employers' association expired. The men had demanded a wage increase from 65c to 70c an hour.

By means of the shut down the employers, it was said, hope to prevent the independent carpenter contractors from obtaining supplies, and thus throw out of work the 10,000 carpenters who are working under individual agreements.

BIG OPIUM RAID

30 Cans of Drug Found
Buried at Canton—
Two Arrested

BOSTON, June 25.—One of the largest seizures of opium that has taken place in Massachusetts for many years was announced yesterday afternoon at the Federal building. The seizure took place May 17 and had been kept a profound secret until yesterday in order to make two arrests. The men under arrest, who later in the day appeared in the United States court before Judge Morton, pleading not guilty and being held for examination, are Matthew Flynn, 35 years old, of 4 Scott court, Charlestown, and Wong June, a well known restaurant keeper in the Chinese colony, who lives on Tyler street.

The federal authorities say that on the night of May 17 inspectors Owen P. McKenna and Thomas F. Finneggan, and one of the flying squadron raiders attached to the office of special treasury agent, Charles B. Dowd, went to Canton, arriving at midnight. They went in an automobile.

They found buried in the ground on a 12-acre farm 30 cans of opium. The cans bore the label of a Canton, China, house and the brand was of the very best. The opium cans, which had never been opened, were under shrubbery and trees that had recently been set.

TYNGSBORO

"To Thee, O Country," chorus; salutatory, Bertha Doyle; piano solo, "March," Mildred Shea; "Travels in Ire-

Randall, superintendent of schools; presentation of diplomas, Bertrand Currier, chairman of school committee; "Auld Lang Syne," school and audience.

BAND CONCERT

Will be One of the Features of Sacred Heart Lawn Fete on July 3

The only band concert in the city on the evening of July 3rd will be given at the Sacred Heart lawn fete, on the spacious rectory grounds, by the Lowell Cadet band. Mr. John J. Giblin, the efficient leader of the band, is at work on an elaborate program, which is to be largely patriotic. A chorus of fifty trained voices will also add to the enjoyment of those present. A list of old and new songs is being prepared, and a number of solos will be rendered. Several of these singers have already become favorites in the parish by means of their association with the church choir.

On the stroke of eight, a detonating bomb will be exploded. This will be the signal for lighting the hundreds of colored incandescents strung artistically among the trees and about the grounds. The current will be operated by means of a silver key in the hands of Very Reverend T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church. At the instant of lighting, the Lowell Cadet band will burst into the

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR HAIR

Even the healthiest head sheds hair all the time, but from such heads the only hairs that fall are the old worn-out ones which have done their work and outlived their usefulness and drop in order that new and vigorous hair may sprout from the follicles they leave.

There never has been a time in the history of the human race when the possession of luxurious tresses was not an enviable condition. Not every woman can have beautiful, long, wavy hair, but if what she has is not glossy and healthy and well cared for, it is her own fault.

To begin with, the head should be shampooed just as often as it needs cleaning. The healthy head is the clean head, and just as much dirt and dust and germs settle on our heads as on our faces. There is nothing better for a shampoo than an egg and a ounce of water beaten together and rubbed into the scalp with the pads of the fingers. There is iron and sulphur in the yolk of the egg which feeds the hair roots.

After rubbing in the egg, wash it all out with warm water till there is not a particle left. Then give it a final rinse in cold water. Dry with warm towels, sunlight, massage and air. If there is a dry condition of the scalp, dip the tips of the fingers in olive oil, and parting the hair rub it well into the scalp.

The hair is so exquisite and so valuable a part of feminine beauty it should be treated with kindly consideration. As a matter of fact, it is often most woefully neglected and abused, covered as it is with hair from other heads and unventilated hats and being burned and scorched and twisted and raked with harsh brushes in heavy hands and genuine hair splitting combs.

CITY COUNCIL VOTES TO HIRE MR. DENMAN

At a meeting of the municipal council held yesterday it was voted to authorize Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, to employ the Luten Engineering company of Springfield as consulting and supervising engineers for the preparation of plans, detail and form drawings, to install the steel reinforcement and to supervise the construction of a reinforced concrete bridge at Pawtucket falls.

Commissioner James H. Carmichael was the only one of the five members of the council to vote against the employment of the Luten Engineering company of which Engineer Walter W. Denman is the head, or as it has been put by one who examined the situation: "The Luten company is Mr. Denman, and Mr. Denman is the Luten company." It was at first thought that Mr. Luten, the inventor of the Luten patterns, of which so much has been said, was the head of the Luten Engineering company of Springfield, but it seems that Mr. Denman simply named his company after Mr. Luten, whom he refers to as the "whitest man who ever wore shoe leather."

Commissioner Carmichael did not beat about the bush in explaining why he should vote against the engagement of Mr. Denman. "I believe," said the colonel, "that when we have a bridge to build we ought to go to Boston and consult with the men who are recognized as the best bridge engineers in the country. I am not satisfied to leave this matter in the hands of Mr. Denman. I have talked with 15 or 20 engineers and I have not heard anything derogatory of him. I have not heard any great praise of him. One engineer told me that Mr. Denman was a bridge seller. I do not think we should proceed in this matter until we know just exactly where we are at."

Mr. Denman was right in on the meeting today, constituting the sixth member, as it were, and he allowed no point to get by without having a word to say about it, and the most remarkable feature of the meeting, perhaps, was the fact that the vote taken by the council was amended by Mr. Denman. The motion, after being once amended, read that permission to construct the bridge be obtained from the war department, and on suggestion of Mr. Denman it was made to read "harbor and land commissioners." He said the war department might not make answer for six months and the mayor allowed that the doughty engineer had the right dope.

It was a funny meeting throughout. At one stage of the game Commissioner Morse, an ardent champion of Mr. Denman, asked him if any of his bridges had collapsed and Mr. Denman made the very astonishing reply that he had heard about bridges built by him collapsing, but this he had never been able to prove. That was a little deep for Charlie, but he didn't say anything.

Story of the Meeting

The meeting was scheduled for 10 o'clock but was not called until 11 o'clock or after. The first business before the meeting had to do with a petition by the Bay State Street railway for permission to decorate the main streets for the big celebration on July 4, using about the same decorations as on Lowell day. The petition was granted.

The mayor read a communication for the license commission asking that the council create an ordinance covering trolley busses. The city solicitor in an opinion rendered the license commission had stated that the present ordinance does not include trolleys. The matter was referred to the solicitor with instructions that he draw up an ordinance and present it to the municipal council.

The mayor was authorized to sign an agreement with the Lawrence Mfg. Co. to pay that company $200 for the use of the playground in Aiken street, the same amount as was paid last year.

Another communication read by the mayor was from the harbor and lands commissioner in which it was stated that the commission would give a hearing on the Pawtucket bridge question at the state house on Tuesday, June 28, at 11 a. m. It was voted to have the city solicitor and the city engineer appear at the hearing.

A communication from the city engineer relative to the petition of Alfred G. Swanson for the abatement of sewer assessment in Lawrence street was accepted and placed on file.

The mayor read a communication from the Industrial Accident board asking that the council appoint somebody as agent to represent the city in case of accidents coming under the workmen's compensation act and it was voted to make City Solicitor Henry the city's agent.

The mayor received a communication from Mr. Gow, the man who is building the traction plant at the boulevard, a few days ago, relative to a statement made by the mayor to the effect that a man in the employ of the Gow Co. had been looking up data against Mr. Denman. Mr. Gow stated in his letter that no man in his employ has been so employed, that he thought a great deal of Mr. Denman and his ability as an engineer and he hoped the mayor would make known the fact that Mr. Gow was attending strictly to his own business, that he didn't want anything to do with the building of the bridge. The mayor said he felt that in justice to both Mr. Gow and Mr. Denman he should read the letter, and he read it. He remarked, by the way, that the man who was looking up Mr. Denman is in the employ of the water department.

The Bridge Question

When the Pawtucket bridge question was broached the mayor stated that he had tried to have a meeting with President P. J. Sullivan of the Bay State Street Railway company for the purpose of finding out how much the street railway would do toward the building of the bridge. When the bridge question was up for discussion some years ago the street railway company offered to subscribe $5000. The mayor said he had talked with Mr. Sullivan on the telephone, that he had had a meeting planned for Thursday morning but that Mr. Sullivan had to go away and that he would not be able to see him until he returns.

Commissioner Morse then read the order for the employment of the Luten Engineering company and it was afterwards read by the mayor. The instrument as amended by Commissioner Duncan, and, later by Engineer Denman, reads as follows:

Voted that the commissioner of streets and highways is authorized to employ the Luten Engineering company, incorporated, of Springfield, Mass., as consulting and supervising engineers for the preparation of plans, detail and form drawings, to install the steel reinforcements and to supervise the construction of a reinforced concrete bridge at Pawtucket falls.

The city of Lowell is to purchase and supply all materials and labor required and all labor used on the bridge to be citizens of Lowell with the exception of two foremen who shall be recommended by the consulting engineer.

The commissioner of streets and highways is authorized to pay into the Luten Engineering company, Inc. for the services mentioned the sum of $7075, in the following manner:—the sum of $2550, upon the delivery of all necessary working plans to the commissioner of streets and highways and the balance when the bridge has been completed and accepted by the municipal council, provided, however, that permission to construct said bridge be obtained from the board of harbor and land commissioners, as to the plans he approved by the proprietors of the Locks and Canals on the Merrimack river, the public service commission of Massachusetts and by George F. Swain, consulting engineer.

Mr. Carmichael Objects

Commissioner Carmichael said he thought that the 5 1/2 per cent. was a high price for supervising the construction of the bridge and he thought the council ought not to pass a vote until the mayor had talked with President Sullivan of the street railway company. He called attention to the fact that the street railway company would want a double track across the bridge and the company, he believed, would be willing to pay for it.

Commissioner Morse gave as his opinion that the company would have to pay for it. "If the bridge is going to be built this summer," said Mr. Morse, "we will have to get at it right away. We have been dilly-dallying long enough."

Mr. Morse spoke about the ledge that the Locks & Canals company had said would have to be removed under the eastern arch of the bridge and Mr. Duncan wanted to know if the cost of removing the ledge was included in the $50,000 estimate. Mr. Morse said he didn't know and the mayor asked Mr. Denman about it. Mr. Denman said it was not included originally, but he thought the $50,000 would cover it all right.

William E. Badger of the Locks & Canals company was present and was asked what he thought it would cost to dissipate the ledge. Mr. Badger said he was not prepared to give an estimate. He thought, however, that the expense might be considerably offset if the stone could be used by Mr. Denman, and Mr. Denman thought the stone could be used all right.

In reply to Mr. Carmichael's objection to the 5 1/2 per cent. for supervision, Mr. Denman said that included the placing of the steel.

"Is the steel such that any manufacturer can bid?" asked Mr. Carmichael, and Mr. Denman answered in the negative.

"Some particular steel that only one company, the Luten company, for instance, could furnish."

stance, can bid on?" queried Mr. Carmichael.

Mr. Denman replied that there were at least four companies who made the kind of steel necessary and there was nothing to prevent them from submitting bids.

"We will call for steel of a certain form and quality," said the mayor.

"And the steel will have to be placed under the Luten patents," put in Mr. Carmichael, "and that means," he continued, "that about one-half the amount of steel will be used."

"I don't agree with you," said Mr. Denman, "and the question to the amount of steel to be used is not pertinent."

Mr. Carmichael: "When the $50,000 has been expended there is no person whom the city can look to?"

Mr. Denman: "The Luten Engineering company."

Mr. Carmichael: "The Luten Engineering company doesn't give a bond?"

Mr. Denman: "No."

Mr. Morse: "Are you expecting that we will have to look to anybody for anything?"

Mr. Carmichael: "We don't know what to expect. We have never built many bridges and we don't know much about the Luten patents."

Mr. Putnam: "I understand that these plans were to be looked over by competent engineers. That was the understanding at last Tuesday's meeting."

Mayor Murphy: "It will probably cost the city from $500 to $1000 to have Prof. Swain look over the plans, and Prof. Moore, who is in Mr. Swain's class as an engineer, will have to go over them anyway as he is connected with the public service commission."

Mr. Carmichael: "Prof. Moore told me it was not part of his duty to go over the plans and we ought to make sure that the plans are carefully gone over by a competent engineer. There is nothing in the vote that says the plans are to be examined by the public service commission. I do not believe the war department will be in a hurry to approve our plans and I do not see that the public service commission will approve them unless the street railway company comes in. That is what I understand from Prof. Moore, and I think we ought to have a perfect understanding before we start this thing."

Mr. Putnam: "We ought not to hold up the plans on account of the street railway company, but the plans ought to be passed upon and approved."

Mayor Murphy: "I don't care a rap about the Ray State Street railway company. It is up to the municipal council to do something. If the street railway company refuses to come across we can refuse them a franchise."

Mr. Morse: "That's so. This thing has been delayed long enough."

Mr. Carmichael: "If the Ray State Street railway company should give us $50,000 we would have to borrow only $5,000. We should find out about it. What is the amount usually paid by public service corporations?"

Mr. Denman: "From 6 to 10 percent. There is some legal question as to whether we can go ahead with the bridge until the money has been actually borrowed and it is very essential that we should know how much the bridge is going to cost. The charter says we cannot make a contract until the appropriation has been made."

Mr. Morse: "This thing is being held up right and left, because there seems to be something against Denman and the bridge."

Mr. Denman: "There is nothing against Mr. Denman and we all want the bridge. We ought to go about this matter in a businesslike way and we are obliged to do it in a legal way."

Mr. Denman then made a statement in which he said that unless the job was let by contract the city would have to accept his estimate. Mr. Denman thought it would not be necessary to borrow all the money at once, but Mr. Denman told him that it would be necessary to borrow it all at once in order to get a good rate of interest.

"Are we obliged to take your plans?" Mr. Morse queried Mr. Carmichael, addressing Mr. Denman.

"If approved by the public service commission," replied Mr. Denman.

Mr. Putnam: "I do not want to vote on this matter today the way it stands. It was understood last Tuesday that the plans would be presented to an engineer for approval and that they would be ready for action today. That was understood and agreed to by everybody concerned."

Mr. Carmichael: "I think we ought to submit the plans to Mr. Worcester or Mr. Spafford or Mr. Thorndike. These are engineers that we know are all right."

Mayor Murphy: "Fay, Spafford and Thorndike are after the contract. I have had a letter from them and they think they can do the job better than Mr. Denman."

Mr. Carmichael: "It isn't at all strange that they should be after the job."

Mr. Denman: "I will not submit to a competing engineer."

Mr. Morse: "Has Prof. Swain ever approved any of your plans?"

Mr. Denman: "Yes, fifty or more, perhaps. He has approved every plan of mine that has ever gone up to him."

The mayor said again that Mr. Swain would probably charge the city between $500 and $1000 to go over the plans and Mr. Carmichael thought his approval would be worth the money.

Mr. Morse: "Have any of your bridges ever collapsed?"

Mr. Denman: "I have heard that some of them collapsed, but I have never been able to prove it."

Mr. Carmichael then stated that he would vote against the proposition for the reason that the manner of procedure was irregular. He said that the city should have gone to Boston and consulted a competent engineer. That, he said, would have been the satisfactory way of doing it.

Mayor Murphy: "Have you heard anything against Mr. Denman?"

Mr. Carmichael: "I talked with 15 or 20 engineers and I did not hear much praise of him, except from Mr. Morse."

Mayor Murphy: "Did you hear him condemn?"

Mr. Carmichael: "No, not exactly. One engineer told me that Denman was a bridge seller. You men may be all right in your opinion and I may be all wrong, but I have my opinion and I will have to hold to it as there is nothing to convince me otherwise."

The mayor then read the vote again and, after the changes suggested by Mr. Denman had been made, the yes and nay vote was called for. The result was four yeas and one nay, Carmichael voting against.

It was then voted to have City Engineer Kearney take the plans to Boston for Prof. Swain's approval.

BOARD OF TRADE

Campaign to Purchase Supplies to Lowell for Summer Homes Elsewhere

The officers of the Lowell board of trade have started a novel campaign to induce the residents of this city to spend the summer out of town to purchase the goods in Lowell.

It is stated that there is a large number of local residents who have summer homes at the seashore or other places out of Lowell, and they do all their shopping during the summer season out of town. The officials of the board of trade have made arrangements with the local merchants, particularly with the grocers, butchers and provision dealers, to have them fill out orders and send them all charges prepaid to their customers who are spending the summer at the seashore or elsewhere.

People who have occasion to go through Winthrop, Marblehead, Salem, Willows, Revere and other summer resorts can notice that a large number of Lowell people are stopping there during the hot season, and of course they purchase their food where they stop. According to arrangements Lowell people can send their orders, and the latter will send the goods ordered by parcel post or express, all transportation charges prepaid. A large advertisement concerning this campaign will appear in tomorrow's newspapers.

TO PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION
CONCORD, N. H., June 25.—Public Service Commissioner John E. Benton of Keene was renominated today by Gov. Spaulding but the council refused confirmation by a vote of 4 to 1. The governor then nominated William T. Gunnison of Rochester and his appointment was confirmed. Mr. Gunnison was named for a term of six years.

FOR WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

Mass. Federation of Women's Clubs Adopts Resolution After Heated Debate

MARION, June 25.—The Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs today adopted a resolution endorsing woman's suffrage by a vote of 203 to 99. The debate occupied nearly three hours and was at times bitter, several anti-suffragists hinting that the organization would be disrupted if the political issue of suffrage was made the subject of action by the federation.

Mrs. Gurney of Quincy. The debate which was at all times lively and frequently bitter, was precipitated by the introduction by Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney of Quincy of the following resolution:

"Whereas the question of political equality of men and women is today the vital problem under discussion throughout the state of Massachusetts:

"Therefore be it resolved that the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs gives the cause of political equality moral support by recording its earnest belief in the principles of political equality regardless of sex."

Anti-Suffragists' Protest. The anti-suffragists' faction at once protested against the reso.

tion as being in violation of the constitution of the federation. Several hinted at disruption of the state organization. Mrs. Gertrude Winslow Perkins, president of the federation, ruled that the introduction of the resolution was constitutional thus evoking applause and further protests. The president ruled that there should be no further hand clapping during the debate but in spite of this ruling approval and disapproval were repeatedly exhibited by the factions and the fight went on.

In the midst of the discussion the "antils" presented a petition asking that the president put a stop to the discussion but the presiding officer did not accept the petition as in order and the fight went on.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 203 to 99.

AMERICAN RELEASED

John Reed, War Correspondent, Had Been Arrested in Russian War Zone

WASHINGTON, June 25.—John Reed, an American war correspondent, arrested in Russia recently for entering the war zone without permission has been released and has arrived in Petrograd. Ambassador Marye, reporting today, made no mention, however, of Boardman Robinson, an artist arrested with Reed.

$500,000 LOSS BY FIRE

WINERY AND STOREHOUSE WITH 700,000 GALLONS OF WINE WERE DESTROYED

FRESNO, Calif., June 25.—The main winery and storehouse of the Barton Vineyard Co., together with 700,000 gallons of wine, were destroyed by fire early today. The loss is estimated at half a million dollars.

NO PROTEST BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—No protest will be made by the United States against interferences with American mails passing through European belligerent territory to neutrals. Since belligerents are permitted to censor cable messages in transit through their territory, officials here take the position that letters would seem to be subject to the same risks.

Postmaster General Burleson already has ordered that mail to neutrals be sent on ships which do not touch at ports of belligerents.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

NEW YORK, July 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth Fellows, 80 years old, widow of John R. Fellows, one time district attorney of this city and who formerly was well known in legal and political circles, was burned to death in her home here today. Her clothing caught fire from a gas range.

TRAPS OF DEATH

The canals and river banks of Lowell are veritable death traps, and everybody in the city, including the members of the municipal council, knows it. Are we going to do anything about it, or are we merely going to say, "It is really too bad," and go on counting the number of the drowned? A little while ago there was a public hearing, under the auspices of the Trades and Labor council, to promote juvenile safety, but so far nothing has come of it. Evidently the question is not considered important enough for action by the municipal body which a few months ago appropriated $3000 for a holiday show, or by the municipal council which has taken a very vital interest in proposed street extension to the tune of $60,000. That amount would not only make the rivers and canals safe, but it would build municipal monuments to the 300 victims who have lost their lives in the rivers and canals for the past 20 years.

Within the past month, there were three accidental drownings in the canals, swelling the list to 365 since 1890. How many more will be added before winter? The average for the past 25 years was twelve every year. That still leaves nine to be added this season. Is this something that we can discuss philosophically and without sentiment? Must we make no protest while the city authorities stand by and do not raise a hand to keep death in a peculiarly sad guise from a dozen Lowell homes every year?

There is no need of argument to prove that the city is grossly negligent or that the protest of the Trades and Labor council was well grounded. Those who attended the hearing will not soon forget the sad testimony of the many parents who had been bereaved in the past. One father voiced the sentiment of all when he said that if the protectors could keep sorrow from other homes, their loss would not have been in vain. If the municipal council members were moved, they have not shown it.

The present system of fencing in the canals is not only inadequate and dangerous, but it is also ugly in the extreme. In many places high wooden fences in every stage of dilapidation hide the water and enclose banks that might be made breathing spots and things of beauty. Lucy Lareau park is an example of what might be done all through the city by cooperation between the municipal authorities and the proprietors of the Locks and Canals corporation. Some uniform system of wire fencing, such as is used along the Boston waterways, might be adopted to improve the appearance of Lowell appreciably and prevent needless drownings. This ornamental fence, which need not necessarily be of an expensive type, might be run along the edge of the canal, leaving the banks for little parks in the congested districts.

There is a strong and growing demand for municipal bathing places and the protection of the canals and river banks. That both are needed is proved most eloquently by the list of 365 drowned since 1890. All humane citizens who think this question over will declare that it is about time a stop was put to the needless sacrifice of children's lives.

SALEM COMES BACK

We can learn two great lessons from Salem—one, how to avoid a great fire such as that which visited last year, and the other, how to arise from a great calamity more prosperous and progressive than ever. The first lesson we have applied to some degree, in common with all cities of Massachusetts, and it is reflected in our increased fire fighting equipment, our stricter regulations and our many fire prevention agitators. The other lesson we may never have to apply, but nevertheless it is a lesson of inspiration and true advancement.

A year ago today, Salem was in ruins. One half of the city was a smoking and blackened mass. Many of her mills, factories, churches and beautiful homes were no more, and thousands were homeless. The suffering was intense and the cry for aid reached the heart of the nation. The damage to property was in the vicinity of $5,000,000 and it was freely predicted that many of the burned-out industries would never re-locate in the city.

In one year Salem has risen from her ashes a brighter and better city, with scarce a trace of the loss and suffering of a year ago. To replace the property damage of $5,000,000 over $6,000,000 has been spent, for Salem was not satisfied to have things as good as they were before. Its leaders thought that so long as they were building, they ought to build a little better instead of a little worse. The mills that were destroyed have risen from the ruins, the churches are again drawing great congregations and there are miles of new and desirable homes to replace those destroyed.

Better still, Salem has done some city planning during the last year. The fire-fighting facilities have been improved, adequate water mains have been installed, providing for a higher pressure, new equipment has been added, and the paid fire-fighting personnel is larger than a year ago. In everything that makes for a modern, progressive and prosperous city, Salem is better off today than the day before the fire a year ago. Hats off to Salem, and may she never again experience such a calamity! Her indomitable spirit is deserving of better things.

NATIONAL EFFICIENCY

Even Germany itself admits that there is not at present a great deal of love for Germany and things German throughout the rest of the world, but calling names to the Germans will do the bellfag and neutralize little good. It is now come to be admitted in England, France and this country that Germany can teach all nations the lessons of national efficiency.

Whether a government be wrong or right, there should be nothing but unqualified support of it in time of danger. We may pour editorial vitriol on the heads of our government officials in time of peace, we may question their motives and distort their actions; we may draw disrespectful cartoons and make dire predictions. All very well for times of peace. When war or the danger of war threatens not only the government but everything that the government stands for, there should be only one spirit, that of unqualified support for those who must bear the burden of awful responsibility.

This spirit of support has been shown admirably by America during the delicate international dealings of the past six months or so, but it has been shown best by Germany. There, every thought, word or deed of the nation from the humblest peasant up to the university professor has been with the kaiser and his supporters. Any other course would have been ruinous. With a circular of menacing tones on all sides, Germany had to develop internal strength and its greatest strength is the loyalty and determination of its people.

England is learning this lesson and when the present war is over England will see that to keep its high place in the family of nations it must become more efficient. David Lloyd George has taught the lesson to the workers of England, and they now know that their fidelity is as necessary to success as the fidelity of the soldier at the front. Moreover, England is about to take stock of its resources, thus putting into effect the lesson of efficiency learned from Germany, the affairs of which are conducted with scientific accuracy. Even policies may be made a business, and a mighty efficient business.

VACATION CAUTION

The state health authorities are issuing their annual warning to the hundreds of thousands of vacationists who yearly leave their homes and the safeguards of well regulated communities to live for a few weeks or months in summer resorts, many of which have little regard for cleanliness or sanitation. Hundreds who go to such places yearly for health and relaxation come back with vacation typhoid and other diseases.

In the cities people get so used to having their health problems taken care of by the proper authorities that they become careless, thinking that conditions everywhere are equally safe. If the city water is pure, and if the sewage is taken care of scientifically, the city vacationist is apt to think that the precautions are just as rigorous at the beach or mountain resort, but the contrary is frequently the case. So general has been the complaint of conditions at some summer places that it is not unusual to see in advertisements special reference to the pure drinking water of certain places or to other attractive features.

Most dangers of this nature may be avoided by intelligent precaution. One of the most important considerations is the drinking water, a health source. It is now come to be admitted in England, France and this country that Germany can teach all nations the lessons of national efficiency. Whether a government be wrong or right, there should be nothing but unqualified support of it in time of danger. We may pour editorial vitriol on the heads of our government officials in time of peace, we may question their motives and distort their actions; we may draw disrespectful cartoons and make dire predictions. All very well for times of peace. When war or the danger of war threatens not only the government but everything that the government stands for, there should be only one spirit, that of un-

The sure rule to follow is to take nothing for granted at a new vacation resort, but to remember the principles of safety first just as religiously as when at home. Public health is one of the most important considerations of the summer as well as of the winter.

LAW WORKING WELL

One of the most progressive and humane laws passed by the last legislature was that to provide for the support of dependent parents by children who have the means but not the inclination. This law should never have been necessary, but having been necessary, it was just and timely. Sometimes the law of the state may have a greater influence than the laws of God and humanity. It is so in this instance.

For many years there has been a law on the statute books compelling the support of children by the father and the wife by the husband, but it was not thought necessary to frame a law compelling the support of aged parents by their children. Yet, every superintendent of a city or head of a state institution knew only too well that there was room for such a law, as it had become the tragic custom for too many children to throw the support of their parents over on the public.

Undoubtedly, family pride and the passive submission that comes with age will prevent many from availing of the new law, but it is expected that soon the public authorities will compel those to whom it applies to respect it. Already there have been several convictions, and the moral effect is said to have been widespread. Children that were not ashamed to desert their parents in the face of public opinion were profoundly moved to a sense of duty by the recent legislation. This fine humanitarian law has attracted the support of press and public, and marks a great stride forward for Massachusetts.

A NEW ONE

James Carmello of East Boston is a barber, and like other barbers, more or less, is an accommodating fellow. Consequently when he met two fellow countrymen in trouble in Dock square last Thursday, he decided to help them. The fellow countrymen were in a dole-ful plight for they had $6000, but alas! no place to keep it. Would Carmello hold the money? Sure Carmello would hold the money. Security? Why, of course; he had $300 in the bank and a fine watch and chain. James handed over the $500 and the watch and chain and the fellow countrymen went for the wad. He is still waiting and they are in all probability as far away as one can get who has $300 to spend, to say nothing of a fine new watch and chain.

Now since the good days of old, people of the ilk of James Carmello have been relieved of sundry sums by every many processes, but this looks like a new one. Invention is not applied to the sciences only; occasionally the arts make a big stride, and in this instance the art of fleecing barbers and others has progressed wonderfully. Moral: Whenever you are tempted to become a custodian of $6000, or a little more or a little less—think of poor James Carmello and of his $300—and the watch and chain, to boot.

SUBMARINE FOILED

The captain of a British steamer which has just arrived in Montreal from England has related his escape from a submarine in very graphic language and incidentally given what looks like a practical and plausible scheme whereby the deadly craft may be robbed of their prey. Captain Olson, according to his own story, encountered a submarine off the English coast. It held him up and commenced to fire shells from surface guns. "When the shells started falling around the ship," he said, "I turned her around so that the beam was with the waves and then called for full speed ahead. The submarine followed, but, as she rolled so heavily in the trough of the seas, the German gunners could not aim their guns. The maneuver was entirely successful." This bears out the statement of many writers on naval matters who have stated that the only safety from the submarine is in flight. Many ships have tried running away since the war started, but they did not know how to run as well as did Captain Olson.

coming to find out that there is a competent lady dentist in the Sun building.

That Lowell's victory yesterday was clean cut and shows that the team can get up a real game of ball when it wants to.

That President Wilson, now at the summer White House in Cornish, N. H., for a rest, certainly deserves a good vacation.

That this year's city government will break all records for out of town trips, be they joy rides, junkies or business trips.

That the labor leaders of this city are well satisfied with the progress made by the labor forward movement up to date.

That Commissioner Duncan hasn't stolen his automobile yet though he was the man who introduced the letter-box ordinance.

That with Joe Cunningham at the helm the coming garden party of St. Columba's parish promises to be a great success.

That it is hoped our good mayor will not go to Springfield for engineers, contractors and builders to put up the new high school.

That a local union official says that the arbitration decision in the Bay State street railway case was a slap at organized labor.

That Lowell's industries are running far steadier than the industries of other textile centres, and without any labor disputes.

That as Hashimuro Togo would remark: "The Hon. John Jacob will discuss the Hon. O. Lulu at the coming republican caucus."

That the appropriation for the 4th of July celebration will be largely expended to too small to meet the bills that are piling up.

That the employees of the Bon Marche are looking forward with expectation to the coming cutting and trophy ride to Revere beach.

That a little thing like a pouring rainstorm did not dampen the ardor of the Cambridge visitors who came to Lowell in Sunday.

That the white way lights may be all right elsewhere but in Merrimack square they are not to be compared with the old ones.

That the many Lowell friends of Israel H. Sullivan will be greatly pained to learn that he is critically ill at his home in Revere.

That if the municipal council keeps up its political four-flushing, it may drive a large portion of a leading industry over into Tewksbury.

That the mayor's promise to reduce the cost of street lighting by $25,000 a year has resulted in an increase of almost exactly that amount.

That the slogan "rights for all and special privileges for none" bumped against the new Pawtucket-ville bridge and went to pieces.

That the municipal council certainly should hurry up that bridge matter as the high school, hospital and campaign propositions are due Sept. 1.

That the man who once said: "Never cross a bridge until you come to it," might have added, "and never build one till you've seen the plans."

That the former employees of the Bigelow Manufacturing company want to know if the Bigelow-Hartford-Clinton company will remove the buildings also.

That one campaign orator proposes to use a stereoscopic screen next fall to illustrate the houses and tenement property owned by several city pensioners.

That Jim Danahy, the popular Cambridge letter carrier, had the time of his life last Sunday, when he acted as "chapman" for the Social Flower Girls of that city.

That an engineer who can wish himself out of the city government, draw plans for his exclusive use, forbid competition and send ultimatums to the city fathers, is some engineer.

That it would be well to pick out the windows from which you are going to view the parade as there will be a tremendous demand owing to the heat and the great length of the procession.

That many people thought that Charlie Morse was using creosol on Central street Thursday afternoon, but they were wrong, for it was all caused by a woman dropping a bottle of the disinfectant.

That the actions of the municipal council on the bridge matter, while seemingly enough to shake the strongest faith in the new charter, should not do so, for the charter is not to blame for the men elected to office.

That perhaps as late as Mayor Murphy didn't publish the letter sent him in which the city fathers referred to his presence before the liquor dealers, he will publish the letter he is supposed to have received from Mayor Crowley of Nashua relative to that bridge at Hudson.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

HEAVY FINES

Judge Landis of United States district court, who once assessed the $20,000 fine against Standard Oil, has learned that it is of little use to impose heavy fines. In a suit against an Illinois man who with a shotgun drove off his premises a government agent looking after the foot and mouth disease, Judge Landis imposed a fine of two cents. He said that he would uphold the dignity of government. As fines remitted, take the dignity out of government. Judge Landis probably will not do so, but he is doing enough moral weight to prevent the repetition of such anarchistic activity. —Lowell Journal.

ROMANIA'S PART

Romania gravely announces she could not get on to war in three months. If Romania really wants to achieve world wide popularity she will willingly make good her boast, provided she isn't afraid the war will put an end to Romania in less than three months. —Brooklyn Times.

RUSSIAN DEFEATS

As long as the Russians can succeed in withdrawing in sufficient force to turn and fight when the German aggressive ceases, just so long it is evident that Germany has not won a conclusive victory. There is no definite point beyond which the eastward movement cannot go, but the further east the battle rages the further the Germans are from their base and the nearer the Russians are to theirs. Until the Russians are scattered there is no final success for the German campaign, and such an ending is not in sight. —Friedrich-Sentinel.

PAY ROLLS

It's a good idea to pay bills when they are due. West Virginia has just had a practical illustration. Had she paid her bills she could have the law of the state on her side. The state would have been able to pay off for $1,000,000. But she didn't. Now after all these years, plus the court litigation and accrued interest, she must pay $12,334,000. Holyoke Transcript.

THE NEXT STEP

Logically the next step in the Frank case will be a movement in favor of his pardon or absolute pardon. Doubtless his such was the ground upon which the Georgia executive based his refusal of the death sentence to the imprisonment. Hence, the question How long will it be before a pardon is granted, the plea being that it is a warranted commutation, then it is also justly the prisoner's liberation? That a pardon movement will be launched is a conclusion every way safe and the way may not be so far off as some people may imagine. —Salem News.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES MEMORIAL MONUMENT

VALE HONORS JUSTICE AND FORMER GOVERNOR WITH DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LAWS

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES

The accompanying photograph of Charles Evans Hughes, justice of the supreme court of the United States and former governor of New York state, was taken at the recent commencement of Yale, where Justice Hughes was honored with the degree of doctor of laws.

BOSTON, June 25.—Announcement of the completion of plans for a memorial monument to be erected at the grave of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, in Mount Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, was made today. The memorial, designed by Egerton Swartwout of New York, will consist of a circular open colonnade of eight columns, resting on a base of three steps and surrounded on the front by a circular platform from which a double flight of steps will lead to the edge of a small lake. The material will be white granite, with inscriptions in white bronze. The detail will be floral. A fund of $110,000 has been raised for the erection and maintenance of the memorial.

White Mt. Flowers are the best. Order today from The Thompson Hardware Co.

Y. M. C. I. NOTES

Tomorrow will be quarterly communion Sunday for the Y. M. C. I., and a large number of members are expected to approach the altar railing at the 7:30 o'clock mass. Following the mass the customary breakfast will be served in the assembly hall of the institute. Local talent will contribute to the entertainment program after the breakfast, and a real treat is promised to all who attend.

In the afternoon the Washington club, composed of members of the society, will hold a formal opening of the camp on the banks of the Merrimack river, North Chelmsford

REAL ESTATE DEALERS

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate broker, offices 64 Central street, corner Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week ending Friday, June 25th:

The sale of an excellent building site situated on the westerly side of Highland avenue near its junction with Parker street. The lot has a street frontage of 50 feet and an area of 5000 square feet, the assessment being at the rate of 50 cents per foot. The grantee in the transaction is Mr. Lloyd E. Flint who will commence in the near future on the erection of a residence. The sale was effected on behalf of Miss Alice C. Parker, this being the second lot to be sold recently through this office on behalf of the same grantor.

Contracts have been closed on the purchase and sale of an attractive small residential property situated near North street in the Belvidere section. The lot is of unusually large size approximating 15,000 square feet assessed at the rate of 15c per foot. Extensive alterations will be made to the buildings by the incoming owner who purchases purely for purposes of investment.

Persons have been bonded on the purchase and sale of a fine building lot situated near Pine street in the Highlands section. It aggregates 3000 square feet with a street frontage of 50 feet. It is sold on behalf of a local estate, the purchaser buying for purposes of improvement. Names and full details will be given on the passing of final papers in the immediate future.

STORY AND ONE-HALF RESIDENCE

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH

FIRST FLOOR PLAN SECOND FLOOR PLAN

The exterior of this story and one-half residence is a combination of clapboarding and shingles. The clapboarding runs to a belt course around the upper half of the building, which is painted white. The shingles about this belt course can be stained either a chocolate brown or a moss green. All trimmings are heavy white, thus making a beautiful combination. The molded stone effect on the piazzas and for the fireplace can be produced with brick, which should be a very dark red. Attention is directed to the windows in the second story. The housekeeper can ventilate the closets by these windows, thus keeping the closets moth proof. Size, 26 feet wide by 30 feet deep over the main part. First story, 5 feet; second story, 5 feet; basement, 7 feet. These heights are to be in the clear when finished. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $3500.

all members of the association shall reduce the hours to 44 per week." The original demands of the men had been for a minimum wage of $18.00 per week and a working week of 44 hours.

STYLES OF FIREPLACES

It goes without saying that the fireplace adds a charm to a home which makes it more cheerful and attractive. The number of fireplaces new styles with and without mantels, in beautiful designs, have been used with artistic effect, says a writer in the Brick and Clay Record.

This is not only true of city homes, but builders of town, village and country homes, as well as hotels and churches, and other public buildings, are making use of decorative fireplaces. The use of cement blocks in fireplace construction permits the erection of a design which fits in with the general scheme of the room. Any design may be modified to secure a maximum of decorative effect.

For instance, a simple fireplace of plain construction would be a suitable one for an office, a large one, in keeping with the size of a room, for a hotel, an inglenook, for a dining room and a variety of sitting rooms, parlors and bedrooms with pillar effects, square mantel or arch construction built of plain or special faced molded units—block or brick. Fireplaces built of cement brick are not of any particular size, but may be arranged to suit the room for which they are intended. The elasticity of this form of construction allows any size to be easily secured. An experienced workman can easily erect the fireplace. The addition of elaborate decorations does not add very much to the work of construction when brick is the material used. The workman must, of course, have a good knowledge of joints, since sometimes a narrow joint is desirable, and at other times a very heavy joint. The top of the fireplace may be varied to suit the ideas of the builder or the house owner. For instance, decorative top of cement bricks or small blocks may be used, or a wooden shelf to harmonize with the rest of the fireplace construction. For a den, a bookcase constructed either at the side of or over the fireplace, or both, is often desirable and good. One of the chief objects for the builder to bear in mind in any of these arrangements is symmetry, for with a simple, appropriate, and symmetrical design in keeping with the surroundings, the fireplace becomes a harmonious, attractive and useful piece of house furnishing. —Building Age.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"The Middleman," which will be shown the first two times, this afternoon and tonight, literally keeps an audience on "edge" all of the time. As a play it is capable of working auditors up to a high pitch of enthusiasm, and seldom indeed has a theme lent itself so well to the motion picture screen. The character actor, in the role of "Cyprus Bleekman," the aged potter maker, and nobody, not even E. S. Willard himself, who created the role, could have driven home the big scenes with greater effectiveness. Miss Jane Gail, who plays the part of the wronged daughter, also does some effective work. The play, written by Henry Arthur Jones, has had a phenomenal run for many years. It has been considered a model for aspiring dramatists, because it so logically worked up to a wonderful climax. This will be released after witnessing the first three parts of the picture. In addition to this five shorter pictures are shown, including the Edison educational film, "The Manufacture of Big Guns." Then, of course, there is a Chaplin subject, which will cause many to laugh heartily. Tomorrow afternoon and evening, special programs will be given, and beginning Monday, and continuing three days, Neptune's Daughter, with Annette Kellerman, will be the special feature.

TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS

"My last summer's gown is badly spotted, I think with grease," lamented Marjorie. "If I cannot get the spots out I shall have absolutely nothing to wear in the coming hot weather."

NEW YORK, June 26.—An advertisement in today's papers offering $10,000 reward for the return of jewels missing from a residence in Southampton, L. I., gave the first public hint of a robbery there a few days ago. A necklace of 71 pearls was among the lost articles. The name of the owner was not disclosed, nor were the circumstances under which the gems were lost. The police of Southampton denied any knowledge of a robbery.

pean chess board. It is conceded that this move is Germany's and that it may be made either against Warsaw, Paris or Calais.

Some German activity has been reported in the Argonne which may indicate a drive in the direction of Paris, but the closing of the Belgian front may mean the transfer of veterans from the eastern front for another attempt to break through to the English channel. Many persons believe, however, that no great offensive movement will be attempted along the western front until another effort has been made to reach Warsaw against which position the Germans are said to be bringing big guns from Essen.

Turks Suffer Enormous Losses

No great activity is to be noted along any of the minor fronts. The Italians claim to be engaged in consolidating the positions they have won along the river Isonzo, while from the Dardanelles come reports of enormous losses suffered by the Turks in defending the peninsula from the attacks of the allies.

Question of Munitions

The question of munitions is still absorbing public attention in England. The house of commons has been assured by Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, that Great Britain has sufficient high explosives for her own use and that she need have no concern over her food supplies, but

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 26, via wireless to Berlin and London, June 26, 8:25 a. m.—An official statement issued today at the Turkish war office said: "During the night of the 23d one of our right wing parties surprised and destroyed an enemy party near Seddul Bahr, putting their machine guns out of action besides capturing rifles, ammunition and other war booty."

ITALIANS ADVANCING ALONG THE ISONZO RIVER, SAYS ROME

ROME, June 26, via Paris, June 26, 2:45 a. m.—The official statement issued tonight at the headquarters of the Italian general staff was as follows: "Our reconnaissance extended beyond the front in the Tyrol-Trentine region, in Cadore and Canale indicate increased activity on the part of the enemy in the work of reinforcing and placing new batteries. We are frustrating this work by the effective fire of our artillery and the bold operations of small detachments.

"In Carniola on the night of June 24-25 the enemy vainly renewed his attacks against our line from Val Grande to Val Piccolo.

"Our operations along the Isonzo are developing methodically in spite of the manifold natural difficulties of the ground and the many artificial obstacles skillfully accumulated for a long period and placed by the enemy. Our infantry, supported by the fire of field and heavy batteries, advances bravely and tenaciously, however.

"An Austrian battery which for some days has been disturbing our troops by its fire, causing especially serious damage to villages, with injuries to the inhabitants, was located today and became the object of a well directed fire from our artillery. Immediately afterwards a large white flag with a red cross was hoisted from a villa near the location of the battery, with the evident purpose of deceiving and deceiving us and stopping our fire."

TRAINS LOADED WITH GUNS LEFT ESSEN FOR GERMAN FRONT IN POLAND

LONDON, June 26, 10:30 a. m.—A Central News despatch from Amsterdam says several trains loaded with heavy guns have left Essen for the German front on the Rhine river in Poland, where it is believed they will be used in advance against Warsaw.

As Destructive and Dangerous as Any Warring Airship

THE SPELLBINDER

As a result of yesterday's meeting the municipal council has voted to have Mr. Denman's company construct a bridge under certain conditions, and after certain approval of the plans, but the only mention of the cost of that bridge is that the company shall receive $7000. The estimated total cost of the bridge is not set down in black and white, nor is the constructing company bound by any bond to live within a certain appropriation. It is supposed on the unguaranteed estimate of the engineer who wants to do the work that the cost will be within $30,000. At a previous meeting there was talk of $75,000 as the total amount, but at yesterday's meeting the figures went back to $30,000 again.

The proceedings of the municipal council in this matter got to be almost disgusting. Even Mr. Denman, in whose behalf all the fighting is being waged, became so disgusted at yesterday's meeting that he jumped from his seat and went out into the corridor where he walked up and down for a minute after which he resumed his seat at the meeting and whistled audibly while the meeting was in progress. Some men whistle when excited.

There's too much Mr. Denman at those proceedings at city hall. He came here originally as an engineer in the employ of a company desirous of selling the city a bridge, but the company appears to have been eliminated and it's all Mr. Denman. The latter may be a first class engineer and may know his particular line of business, but—

Our municipal council must be badly in need of advice when it requires the service of Mr. Denman to tell it how to vote motions, or to interpret the charter, or even to suggest how the charter might be evaded.

It was really amusing to hear Mr. Denman at yesterday's meeting suggest to Commissioner Duncan, the commissioner of finance, and a lawyer in the bargain, how he might proceed to borrow money at once, without waiting to learn just what total sum would be needed. Prior to that when Commissioner Duncan attempted to explain that under the charter the city cannot proceed with the building of a bridge or any other public improvement until the money to meet its cost was in sight, Mr. Denman interrupted him in the middle of a sentence, whereupon Commissioner Duncan promptly informed him that he was discussing the charter and not bridges. Mr. Denman, who is a perfect gentleman even when vexed, politely apologized and subsided temporarily.

Commissioner Duncan toward the close of the discussion, when it was urged by the mayor that the council proceed to vote upon the matter without waiting to learn what the railroad would contribute, made the statement that he desired to see just how much the company would give, whether it be $5000 or $12,000, because the more the railroad gave, the less the city would be forced to borrow.

Before the commissioner could complete his statement, Mr. Denman was on his feet with the suggestion: "But Mr. Duncan you won't need to borrow the entire amount at once. Commissioner Duncan retorted that he wasn't borrowing money piecemeal at a high rate of interest, which would be decidedly unbusinesslike.

Said Mr. Denman also: "I have nothing to say against Mr. Denman or his style of bridge, but I do want the bridge built in a business-like manner and built legally."

The Bridge Muddle

The anxiety of Mayor Murphy, Commissioner Morse and Engineer Denman to have this bridge put through without "waits or delays," is really terrible. One can readily see the reason for Mr. Denman's anxiety. It is his business. Commissioner Carmichael stated at the meeting that one of the engineers with whom he talked relative to Mr. Denman had informed him that Mr. Denman was a "bridge seller."

A week or more ago they were ready to vote to build a bridge at once, and in fact all the members voted on a motion providing for the purchase of a steel, yet at yesterday's meeting from the harbor and land commissioners setting a date for a hearing in Boston, on whether they are to have permission to build a bridge at that point. Thus the municipal council really voted to start the bridge before they had been given permission to do so.

Since then Messrs. Carmichael, Duncan and Putnam have shown a more commendable disposition to proceed with less haste and more regard for business procedure, and hence the latest wrangling.

Mayor Murphy at yesterday's meeting strenuously opposed waiting any longer to hear what the street railroad money than would be necessary, in the event of the railroad making a substantial contribution. Yet His Honor was vigorously opposed to having Engineer Denman's plans first approved by the city council on the ground that the expense of Engineer Swain's services would be too great.

Commissioner Duncan reminded the mayor that he was on a committee appointed in town or three weeks ago to get in touch with the street railroad people and that the committee had done its business. His Honor stated that Mr. Sullivan had made an appointment and then went out of town on other business.

"I don't care what the street railway company does," exclaimed Mayor Murphy. "We can refuse them a franchise over the bridge."

He was promptly reminded that he couldn't say such things. The street railway company already has a franchise to run over the bridge and if a new bridge is to be built it will still have an equal right in the new bridge.

During the meeting Mr. Denman frequently suggested to the mayor, or as to the wording of motions, or which His Honor acted upon, and if he knew a better way to do it he would go away from the meeting impressed with the understanding that Lowell had six months in its municipal council, instead of five, Mr. Denman being the dominating spirit.

An Unanswered Question

"Is the cost of the excavating of that ledge included in the $30,000?" was a simple question asked by Commissioner Duncan at yesterday's meeting, and after an hour or more of continuous discussion of wide range the municipal council adjourned without answering it.

It seems that the Locks and Canals company in looking over what plans Mr. Denman has presented for a bridge in the river bed and also ahead with the work immediately. He explained the detail of the work and stated also that some of the stone taken there could be used on the construction of the foundation and thus save a little money.

"Is the cost of that excavating included in the $30,000?" asked Commissioner Duncan. Commissioner Morse proceeded to explain further how much could be saved by using the stone.

Once more Commissioner Duncan repeated his question whereupon Mr. Denman was appealed to and he in reply told what he thought might be done with the stone and said that since the work was to be done, he would have the work done by the company had modified his views relative to the ledge. Mr. Badger was called in but he declined to give any estimate as to the cost of the ledge work. The matter was discussed at length, Mr. Denman very much in it, and someone said that the work would cost about $250, but that a rebate would be obtainable by the use of the stone in the foundation. But nobody ventured to answer the question as to whether the cost be $2500 or two million is included in the $30,000 and we don't know now whether it will be charged to Pawtucket bridge, street maintenance or paving.

Commissioner Duncan's Point

Commissioner Duncan's contention that the entire amount of money needed must be estimated and appropriated before the work can start is one of the most sensible things that has come up in the entire discussion. Commissioner Duncan is trying to have some respect paid to section 32 of the charter which in part reads: "No expenditure shall be made of liability incurred by or in behalf of the city until the municipal council has duly voted an appropriation sufficient to meet such expenditure or liability."

In connection with this part of the discussion Col. Carmichael brought out another interesting matter that apparently has been lost sight of, the city's protection in the matter. Mr. Denman having intimated that his company would give no bond in the matter Col. Carmichael said: "When after that $30,000 bridge is built and it is not satisfactory there is no person that the city can fall back on."

"Not further than the financial resources of the Lutin bridge company," interjected Mr. Denman, with just the suspicion of sarcasm.

"Well we are holding back over $3000 until after the bridge is accepted, aren't we?" volunteered Mayor Murphy.

"Yes, but the bridge may go bad in a few months or after its acceptance," said Col. Carmichael.

"It may go bad in 10 or 20 years," exclaimed the mayor with some feeling. "Did any of your bridges ever break down?" asked Commissioner Morse, turning to Engineer Denman.

"I have heard so, but I have never been able to prove it," was the reply.

May Be Built Right

As things look just now the good people will have to wait a little while before getting their bridge, though only long enough to have the municipal council act in strict accordance with law and fairly good business procedure. The attitude of Commissioners Duncan and Putnam appears to be that while they are perfectly willing that Mr. Denman shall construct the bridge he must do it under certain conditions, while from Col. Carmichael's attitude, it is judged that the colonel wants competition and is not favorably impressed with the idea of having Mr. Denman as the sole contractor and supreme supervisor.

Drawing an Inference

"How can a newspaper make a statement as to another's present intentions when the person referred to has not expressed them?" That's a question that has been asked since it was announced in this column that Mayor Murphy would probably be a candidate for a second term, despite the fact that he has given his word already that he would not be, and furthermore as he has not as yet expressed himself as to his future plans.

One can infer from the mayor's utterances and his public acts what his intentions are. The politicians didn't take the mayor seriously when he announced that one term was enough for any man, though many others did and the gained many votes by the statement. When His Honor expressed sympathy for the underpaid health department employees and contempt for the politicians of the police department, there were some who thought he was only giving campaign talk, and hence were not surprised when soon after assuming office he gave the police an additional day off and allowed the health department employees to wait a year without their promised increase.

Those campaign statements are sometimes to be taken with a grain of salt, but it is a different proposition when a duly elected public official makes statements. He is supposed to say what he means at all times, and say what is absolutely accurate to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Mayor Murphy once said that he would not be a candidate for a second term. Therefore, why should that statement be doubted?

Because—

He has advocated certain changes within the next few years, regardless of whether he will or will not be mayor. This would indicate that he is willing to run and that he has forgotten his one-term statement.

In his first inaugural he quoted certain financial statements which he afterward found were not accurate.

Early in his administration he promised the board of trade to reduce the cost of lighting $25,000, but instead of reducing it has increased it about $25,000.

When the municipal council was "shown up" last year, when it attempted to use the John Davis and Perpetual Care funds for current expenses Mayor Murphy made a statement placing the responsibility upon one of the members, and immediately after his statement Col. Carmichael came forth explaining that every member of the government, including the mayor, was equally responsible for the act.

Mayor Murphy announced early that he did not intend to attend any entertainments or social functions, and now he seldom misses one.

His Honor strongly recommended that all increases of salaries be made by the commissioners before the annual appropriations were made. Yet since the appropriations were made, more than any, if not all, of the commissioners.

At the high school graduation Mayor Murphy is reported to have said that next year's exercises will be held in a new high school when His Honor knows that the site for that school has not been selected as yet and the school cannot be finished next year.

In his inaugural address Mayor Murphy strongly recommended the extension of Dummer street, but quickly dropped it for the more popular bridge matter.

Mayor Murphy adopted as a campaign slogan "Equal rights for all; special privileges to none," and hasn't lived up to it, even to the present moment when he steadfastly refuses to allow anybody to have an opportunity on the Pawtucket bridge matter, except Mr. Denman.

Mayor Murphy made certain statements concerning the Gow Contracting company which resulted in an emphatic letter from that company demanding that he withdraw his statements, which he did.

Mayor Murphy made certain statements concerning a bridge at Worcester quite recently, which were found to be woefully in need of revision when some of the members of the municipal council visited Worcester themselves.

These are a few of the careless statements made by His Honor and with them in mind one is at liberty to infer that when His Honor stated that he would not be a candidate for a second term he was equally careless, and didn't mean what he said.

The Contagious Disease Hospital

In two months' time the law states the Lowell must erect a contagious disease hospital, while there is no limit set by law for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. The people of Pawtucketville as well as the municipal council will thus be given something to discuss to take the place of the bridge matter for opinions differ in that interesting suburb as to whether a contagious disease hospital is a welcome acquisition to the institutions of that section.

A Still Percentage

Col. Carmichael called attention at yesterday's meeting to the fact that the city was paying the Lutin company 5% per cent for supervising the building of the bridge and Mr. Denman then explained that this amount included the expense of placing the steel on the job. One would imagine that the company in estimating the cost of the steel would include the placing of it. In that case, rather than under the head of a matter which would appear to be entirely foreign to it, such as the supervision of construction.

Mixed An Opportunity

When Col. Carmichael intimated that he wasn't any ton favorably impressed with Engineer Denman as a bridge engineer, Mayor Murphy, who is the champion of the Springfield man had an opportunity to come back by reading the letter that he is said to have received from Mayor Crowley, of Nashua, relative to the Hudson bridge, which Mr. Denman's company built; assuming that the letter had something favorable to the company in its contents. The letter wasn't read.

500 MILE AUTO RACE ON CHICAGO SPEEDWAY

Record Time During Early Hours of $54,000 Event—Resta Leading at 260 Miles

SPEEDWAY. Chicago, June 26.—Thousands of persons at an early hour today were on their way to the new two mile automobile speedway, advertised as the fastest in the world, to witness the 500-mile derby participated in by 21 of the best known drivers in the country. Twenty-four drivers were entered but three withdrew before the start.

Twenty years ago a so-called "horseless carriage" driven by Charles Duryea of Springfield, Mass., plowed through snow and ice on the roads between Chicago and Evanston and won the first automobile race ever held in this country. His time for the 40 mile route laid out was at the rate of 7.5 miles an hour. Today the finest creations of the engineers of three countries meet at 10 o'clock to battle for $54,000 in prize money, and they expect to go twelve times as fast as Duryea did as a pioneer.

The drivers have two 500-mile marks to shoot at. First comes the Brooklands, England, mark of 94.75 miles an hour, made in 1913, by Resta, Chasagne and Guinness, who relieved each other at intervals of a 12 hour grind, and the Indianapolis record of 93.84 miles an hour, established by Ralph de Palma, who won the Hoosier, classic this year.

Predictions were made that the de Palma record would be overwhelmed, based on practice records over the board track. Enthusiasts declared that the winner would have to average 97 miles an hour, but the conservative question whether the Brooklands record would be broken.

Attendance 80,000
The attendance was said to be 80,000. The numbers, the makes of the cars, and the drivers are appended:

—Withdrew before start owing to accidents to their cars in practice.

Start Delayed

The start of the race was delayed half an hour to allow Bob Burman to replace a broken piston rod.

At 9:30 the parkway space around the big oval was filled with automobile parties and the grandstand was filling slowly. A mist, which hinted at rain apparently discouraged the crowds from coming early.

The Start of Race

The start was made on the stroke of 10:30 with Burman in the race.

Record for 100 Miles

A new competitive speedway record for 100 miles, it was announced, was made by E. Cooper at the rate of 104 miles an hour, or 11 miles faster than the previous record held by de Palma. Cooper was in the lead at 120 miles, followed in order by Resta, Porporato and Van Ralite.

Chandler Withdraws

Chandler withdrew with a broken crank shaft at his 24th mile. Resta and Wilcox made the first 20 miles at the rate of 103.71 miles an hour. Resta's time was 11:40, a new record for the distance. The previous record was made by Ralph de Palma at Los Angeles in 14:56.05.

The timers of the race were unable to keep up with the race. The cars had made 80 miles before they were able to announce the time for the 20 miles.

At 140 miles the leaders' times were:
Resta, 1:25:27.
Porporato, 1:25:52.
E. Cooper, 1:26:13.
Resta's average 93.3 miles per hour.

Resta in the Lead

Resta led at 200 miles, followed by Cooper, Porporato, Grant, Rickenbacker, Van Ralite, Chevrolet and Anderson in the order given. Resta's average was 97.1 miles per hour for this distance.

Two More Withdraw

Haupt and Henning withdrew at 100 miles.

Resta Makes World's Record

Resta made 160 miles in 1:36.44, a world's record. His speed was 93.23 miles per hour, or approximately 10 miles an hour faster than the previous record made by de Palma at Indianapolis.

Retirement of Limberg

A broken crank shaft caused the retirement of Limberg.

Leaders of 260 Miles

At 260 miles the leaders were:
Resta, 2:40:01.
Porporato 2:41:16.
Grant 2:42:04.

CYCLIST MAY DIE

Two Speeders Badly

Injured at "Hairpin

Curve"

Joseph Couillard of Nashua, N. H., was probably fatally injured about 11 o'clock last night and a companion, Arthur Boyer, also of Nashua, was severely bruised when the motorcycle with sidcar attached, on which they were riding at a fast clip, crashed into a telegraph pole on the boulevard, at a point known as "Hairpin curve." Couillard was placed in an automobile and taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Nashua, where he is still in a critical condition. Boyer was able to go home after receiving medical attention.

According to witnesses of the accident, the two men were driving toward this city, Boyer in the sidcar and Couillard at the handlebars. It is said they crossed the Tyngsboro bridge at a high speed and hence were not able to turn to the right and follow the boulevard. Instead the machine traveled directly ahead and crashed into a telegraph pole and was then thrown against a tree.

Couillard was knocked unconscious and Boyer was also dazed. A passing autoist heard the noise caused when the machine came in contact with the tree and rushing to the scene found both men unable to move. An attempt was made to secure a doctor in Tyngsboro, but to no avail and then the injured men were picked up by a Nashua-bound autoist and rushed to the hospital. Couillard sustained several bad lacerations and possible internal injuries.

THE JUDGE ON THE BENCH

Is not willing to take hearsay evidence. He stops the witness and says to him, "We do not want to know what your neighbor said but tell us what you saw and heard yourself." First hand knowledge is needed in courts of law and also it is necessary in finding the goods for a store like this. But the discovery of the right classes and qualities is not all. The forehand knowledge of style and workmanship and suitability is essential. One who selects goods for the city must be a long headed student of fashions and materials and with an insight of a future of at least six months ahead.

AUSTRO-GERMANS ARE DRIVEN BACK

Drive of Teutonic Allies Checked—

England Awaits Next Move by Germany—Appeal for Peace by German Party—Italians Advance

The left bank of the river Dniester has been entirely cleared of the Teutonic troops who forced their way across at two points early this week, according to the latest Russian official statements, but the Austro-German forces are making desperate efforts to effect a passage elsewhere.

Bridging Operations

Bridging operations were begun by the Germans and Austrians south of Bukasovica on the very night the remnants of the detachments which had previously crossed the Kozany district and in the region of Martynof-stany were being driven back in the former and captured in the latter region, the Russians report. The battle still is raging at the new point of contact, they add.

Temporarily Checked

Nearly everywhere else along the eastern war front, the drive of the Teutonic allies has been at least temporarily checked, according to the latest Russian claims. The report mentions specifically a breaking up of the German offensive to the west of the river Nieman, in the Orzye and Omulow valley and on the Vistula front south of Pillea. A later accession to the force of the German drive in the Orzye region is indicated, however, the Russians reporting they were forced to give way because of annihilating artillery fire. No important changes in the situation to the east of Lemberg is reported.

Next Move of Germans

Military observers are watching the progress of this fighting in eastern territory and reported movements of German troops on interior lines, seemingly unable as yet to determine whether these operations will be followed by another Teutonic drive at Warsaw or renewed activity by the Germans along the western front.

Italians Make Progress

The Italian armies are continuing their work of keeping clear the ground in front of them in the Tyrol-Trentino and in Cadore and Carniolia by artillery fire and isolated infantry operations, the official report says. Progress is being made along the Isonzo, according to the Italian statement, despite the natural difficulties of the ground accentuated by artificial obstacles placed by the Austrians.

Turkish Success Reported

The most recent definite news from the Dardanelles is in a report by the Turkish war office that on June 23 a Turkish patrol had destroyed a part of the invading forces and captured arms and other war booty.

Quiet in War

The French report comparative inactivity along the western war front. Their progress, they say, has been checked in places by the condition of the ground which recent storms have made almost impassable, although on the Champagne front and in the Argonne, mine fighting has been proceeding to the French advantage.

Appeal for Peace

An interesting document in connection with the war situation has been published in the Vorwaerts of Berlin, in the shape of a full page appeal for peace emanating from the managing committee of the socialist democratic party in Germany. The people want peace, the appeal declares, and the government should make known its readiness to enter into peace negotiations that would make friendships with neighboring nations possible. The document every effort and every proclamation the purpose of which is the annexation of foreign territory and the oppression of other nations, efforts and proclamations which have become public in Germany particularly through the demands of great economic associations as well as through the speeches of leading non-socialist politicians.

"Even the recital of such efforts serves further to postpone that peace which is warmly desired by the whole nation. The people want peace. If this wish is daily demands new sacrifices, to endure until the full exhaustion of all nations in it, one of the participating powers must offer the hand of peace. Germany, who, attacked by greatly superior forces, has thus far victoriously defended herself against all her enemies, brought their starvation plan to naught and demonstrated that she is unconquerable, should take the first step to bring about peace.

"In the name of humanity and culture, and supported by the favorable minority situation brought about by the bravery of our comrades in arms, we demand of the government that it make known its readiness to enter peace negotiations in order to put an end to this bloody conflict.

"We expect our socialist comrades in other belligerent lands to exert their influences on their own governments in this same sense."

GRADE CROSSING

Hearing Before Com-

Next Monday

The last hearing having to do with the abolition of the grade crossings in Middlesex and Fletcher streets and Western avenue will be held before the grade crossing commission in Boston on Monday next. At this hearing, it is stated, the Boston & Maine will endeavor to show by evidence that the railroad is not in a condition financially and otherwise, to carry out any decree that the commissioners might make for the elimination of the crossings in question. The city solicitor, however, will oppose such contention, for he is of the opinion that such an issue has no bearing whatever on the matter of public convenience and necessity which is the only issue in the question of the elimination of grade crossings.

GIRL STUDENTS RETURN

Rev. Sister St. Cecile, of the Grey Nuns of the Cross, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleophas Heroux of this city, arrived in Lowell last night accompanied by Rev. Sister Marie de la Victoire. The nuns accompanied home the following young women who are being educated at the Academy of the Holy Family, N. Y. Sister Marie Anne Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avilla Sawyer of White Street; Miss Catherine Sullivan and Miss Mary Cunningham.

COMPLAINTS FROM NASHUA

Complaints have been made at the Nashua, N. H., police station that young men from Lowell are in the habit of frequenting that city and making a nuisance of themselves by obstructing sidewalks, etc. As a result, the up-state police have started a campaign against street obstructions and one William J. Houghton was arrested yesterday and found guilty of the charge. His case was placed on file.

MORE ABOUT JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION

Battery C at Shedd Park—Fireworks Have Arrived—Parade to Start From School Street

A conference having to do with the big celebration on July 4 was held in the mayor's office at city hall this forenoon. Parties to the conference included the mayor, Major Kittredge, Lieut. MacBrayne, Commissioner Putnam, Supt. of Parks Kernan and Police Messenger John Pindar. Major Kittredge stated that final arrangements for the parade would be made at a meeting of the marshals to be held Monday night at the armory.

The parade is not going to pass the Old Ladies' Home as requested. When Mrs. George F. Richardson, president of the home in Fletcher street, learned that to take in the Old Ladies' Home would add a mile to the parade, she telephoned the mayor and told him not to bother further about it. The board of trade, it is understood, will supply automobiles for as many of the old ladies as will be able to leave the home and take them to some point from which the parade can be viewed.

The only change in the parade is in the starting point. It will start from School instead of Grand street as was originally intended. It was explained that the change was made in order to allow more room and greater distance for the falling in of the different divisions. The chief marshal and staff will be on School street between Branch and Westford streets. The 8th regiment will rest on the southern side of Westford and the 6th regiment on the south side of Lane street. The Provisional regiment and battery in liberty and other short streets, and the semi-military in Smith street. The social and civic division will rest in Royal and the slambang in Grand street. All of these will fall in at the parade moves down from School street. The auto division will join in from Thorndike and Highland streets.

Camps Will Be Interesting
The camps of the 6th and 8th regiments in Andover street and in Tewksbury will be open to visitors and inspection all day Sunday, one week from tomorrow, and there will be a parade of non-commissioned officers on hand to show visitors about the camp and explain the little details represented in camp part of army life.

Battery C will camp at Shedd park where a temporary watering trough will be built for the horses. There will be 80 or 90 horses, and it would be difficult to select a more picturesque camping ground than Shedd park. Commissioner Carmichael, who has charge of the water department, has consented to allow hydrants to be opened at Shedd park and in Andover street, near the Daniels estate, for the convenience and benefit of the soldiers. The sunrise salute on the morning of July 4 will be fired by Battery C from the summit of Fort hill and that will be the signal for everybody to get up and get busy. Things will begin to move very early and there will be much of interest in the preliminaries. The celebration has been so thoroughly advertised that crowds are expected from all points of the compass. About 10,000 cards telling of Lowell's mammoth celebration have been sent all over New England. Garages have sent them out in automobiles and the cards have also been distributed in hotels and other public places in various cities. The street cars plying between Lowell and other cities will bear placards telling of the celebration and, to make a long story short, the energetic workers representing the militia have succeeded in inviting all of New England to come to Lowell on July 4.

Fireworks Have Arrived

The fireworks for the Fourth have arrived and will be kept in a polling booth until a place has been prepared for them on the South common. The fireworks were accompanied by a certified check for $500. Major Kittredge turned the check over to Major Murphy this morning. The fireworks were purchased from the Connecticut Fireworks Co. of West Haven, Conn., and the $500 check represents the total cost of the display.

Lexington Minutemen

The Lexington Minutemen will come to Lowell for the parade. The French brigades expect to have about 14 companies in line, mostly from out of town and there will be several companies of the Irish volunteers. The business men are asked to help out the social and civic division by decorating their teams and getting them in line. It was also stated today that Company E, Naval brigade, will be on hand for the parade and will be commanded by Lieut. Howard, son of the late ex-Chief of Police Howard of Lowell.

Booths on North Common

After the conference at city hall today Major Kittredge, Commissioner Putnam and John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks, went to the North and South commons to arrange certain matters, including a temporary bandstand on the South common and a platform on which the governor is to stand while delivering the oration. It has been decided to build a temporary bandstand on the South common near the site of the old bandstand in order that persons watching the fireworks might get the benefit of the music. Major Kittredge said that a band playing in the new bandstand on the common would not be heard above the din of the midway by the people on the elevation where the fireworks are to be set off. Supt. Kernan will sell lots on the North common at points that will not interfere with the exercises.

BIG OPIUM RAID

30 Cans of Drug Found
Buried at Canton—
Two Arrested

BOSTON, June 26.—One of the largest seizures of opium that has taken place in Massachusetts for many years was announced yesterday afternoon at the Federal building. The seizure took place May 17 and had been kept a profound secret until yesterday in order to make two arrests. The men under arrest, who later in the day appeared in the United States court before Judge Morton, pleading not guilty and being held for examination, are Matthew Flynn, 65 years old, of 4 Scott court, Charlestown, and Wong June, a well known restaurant keeper in the Chinese colony, who lives on Tyler street.

The federal authorities say that on the night of May 17 Inspectors Owen P. McKenna and Thomas F. Finnegan, and one of the flying squadron raiders attached to the office of special treasury agent, Charles B. Dowd, went to Canton, arriving at midnight. They went in an automobile.

They found buried in the ground on a 12-acre farm 30 cans of opium. The cans bore the label of a Canton, China, house and the brand was of the very best. The opium cans, which had never been opened, were under shrubbery and trees that had recently been set.

TYNGSBORO

The program of the graduation exercises of the Winslow school, Tyngsboro, was as follows: chorus; salutatory, Bertha Doyle; piano solo, "March," Mildred Shea; "Travels in Ireland," George Jones; "The Unquiet Sleeper," Martha Worcester; duet, "The Dewy Dell," Mildred and Marion Tilton; "Panama," Harold Farrow; solo, "Happy Days," Miss Evelyn Walte, supervisor of music; class prophecy, James Anastas; "The Nightingale," chorus; "Japan," Edward Norris; piano solo, "Moonlight on the Hudson," Mattie Worcester; recitation from "The Vision of Sir Launfal," Helen Warley; class ode, class of 1915; class will, Mildred Shea; valedictory, Bertrand McKittrick; "Voices of the Wood," chorus; presentation of prizes, Mrs. Alvah Sherburne; remarks, Chas. Randall, superintendent of schools; presentation of diplomas, Bertrand Currier, chairman of school committee; "Auld Lang Syne," school and audience.

BAND CONCERT

Will be One of the Features of Sacred Heart Lawn Fete on July 3

The only band concert in the city on the evening of July 3rd will be given at the Sacred Heart lawn fete, on the spacious factory grounds, by the Lowell Cadet band. Mr. John J. Giblin, the efficient leader of the band, is at work on an elaborate program, which is to be largely patriotic. A chorus of fifty trained voices will also add to the enjoyment of those present. A list of old and new songs is being prepared, and a number of solos will be rendered. Several of these singers have already become favorites in the parish by means of their association with the church choir.

On the stroke of eight, a detonating bomb will be exploded. This will be the signal for lighting the hundreds of colored incandescents strung artistically among the trees and about the grounds. The current will be operated by means of a silver key in the hands of Very Reverend T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church. At the instant of lighting, the Lowell Cadet band will burst into the

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR HAIR

Even the healthiest head sheds hair all the time, but from such heads the only hairs that fall are the old worn-out ones which have done their work and outlived their usefulness and drop in order that new and vigorous hair may sprout from the follicles they leave.

There never has been a time in the history of the human race when the possession of luxurious tresses was not an enviable condition. Not every woman can have beautiful, long, wavy hair, but if what she has is not glossy and healthy and well cared for, it is her own fault.

To begin with, the head should be shampooed just as often as it needs cleaning. The healthy head is the clean head, and just as much dirt and dandruff and germs settle on our heads as on our faces. There is nothing better for a shampoo than an egg and an ounce of water beaten together and rubbed into the scalp with the pads of the fingers. There is iron and sulphur in the yolk of the egg which feeds the hair roots.

After rubbing in the egg, wash it all out with warm water till there is not a particle left. Then give it a final rinse in cold water. Dry with warm towels, sunlight, massage and air. If there is a dry condition of the scalp, dip the tips of the fingers in olive oil, and parting the hair rub it well into the scalp.

The hair is so exquisite and so valuable a part of feminine beauty it should be treated with kindly consideration. As a matter of fact, it is often most woefully neglected and abused, covered as it is with hair from other heads and unventilated hats and being burned and scuffed and twisted and raked with harsh brushes in heavy hands and genuine hair splitting combs.

MANY LOWELL OUTINGS

Church and Other Bodies Hold Picnics—Reading Churches at Lakeview

Many church and other picnic parties left Lowell for outings today, while a union church picnic from Reading was held at Lakeview. The principal events are noted below:

Reading Churches
About 300 members of the union churches of Reading, passed through Merrimack square at 9:30 o'clock this morning in four special cars enroute for Lakeview park, the scene of their annual outing. On arrival at the resort, a program of sports was run off and at noon a basket luncheon was served. In the afternoon baseball games were played by the men folks and a list of field events were held, in which the winners were awarded suitable prizes. One car is scheduled to make the return trip to Reading at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the others late in the evening. The party was in charge of Dean Peabody of Reading.

Worthington Street Baptist Church
Two special cars in charge of Chairman George B. Allen, carrying about 175 members of the Worthington Street Baptist church left the city early this morning headed for Thompson's grove where the annual parish picnic was held. The morning was given over to sports and at noon a sumptuous dinner was served. In the afternoon, boating was enjoyed by a number of the members at Silver lake, and ball games and running races were run off.

Primitive M. E. Church
Milligan's grove, Wilmington, was the objective point of the four carloads of parishioners of the First Primitive Methodist church which left the square early this morning, and the grove was reached shortly after 9 o'clock. Rev. N. W. Matthews was in charge of the party. During the morning a list of sports was run off, and many of the members were the recipients of valuable prizes for their efforts in landing places in the various events. At noon a dinner was served, and in the afternoon, a number of ball games were enjoyed. The return home will be made at 7 o'clock this evening.

St. John's A. B. Society
The annual field day of St. John's A. B. society, North Chelmsford, was held at McCabe's field this afternoon with a large number of members and their friends in attendance. A ball game between the North Chelmsford Federals and All Stars resulted in a win for the former aggregation. The relay race in which Michael Scollan and Eddie Flanagan ran against a picked team of members of the society proved one of the features of the sport program.

Went to Revere
One big electric car loaded with the members and friends of the Olympic club left Merrimack square at nine o'clock this morning bound for Revere beach where the annual outing of the organization was held. En route the party had a great time and all the popular songs of the day were sung with a vim that attracted the attention of passersby along the line. On their arrival at the beach a shore dinner was served, after which bathing was enjoyed. In the afternoon a baseball game was played between the "Feds" and "Colonials" and the latter won out by a close score. The feature of the game was the pitching of J. Costello for the "Colonials" and the hitting of Richard Hoyle of the opposing faction. After the ball game the attractions along the boulevard were visited, and the majority of the members, headed by George Clegg invaded the "Pitt" where every fun-making device in the establishment was given a thorough trying out. The return home will be made late this evening. Those in charge of the outing are as follows: Richard Hoyle, chairman; J. Mahan, treasurer; J. Kennedy, J. Costello, J. Taylor, W. Mitchell, H. Lowe, and Geo. Clegg.

Immanuel B. Church
The members of the Immanuel Baptist church held their annual outing at Mountain Rock today and the affair proved even more enjoyable than preceding events. Two special cars were used to convey the members to their destination.
A West Sixth street gathering headed by C. H. Cove left the square at an early hour this morning for Nabnasset grove, where a day full of enjoyment and recreation was spent. At noon a basket luncheon was served and in the afternoon a long list of sports were run off. The party will return this evening.

Scandinavian Outing at Pinehurst
About 1000 people from this city attended the Scandinavian outing held at Pinehurst Park this afternoon, and all had a most enjoyable time. The proceeds of the outing will go to the Scandinavian home for consumptives in Denver, Colorado. During the afternoon a program of sports was carried out and refreshments were served. Dancing was also enjoyed.

BIRTHDAY PRESENTATION
MISS ALICE ROCHETTE RECEIVED TOKENS OF ESTEEM FROM FRIENDS
Miss Alice Rochette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rochette, who are spending the summer at Willow Dale, was given an agreeable surprise last night on the occasion of the 23rd anniversary of her birth, the affair being held at the family's summer home. A large number of the young woman's friends gathered at her home and after extending her best wishes and congratulations, presented her a gold ring and gold bracelet, the presentation of the ring being made by her sister, Miss Yvonne Rochette, while the bracelet was presented by Herve Parthenais. Refreshments were served and a musical program was given. Those present were Herve Parthenais, J. Couture, Pierre Achin, Ernest J. Dupont, Arthur Turcotte, Arthur Pelletier, Clement Trudeau, Misses Alice, Jeanne, Yvonne and Lydia Rochette, Miss Dorimene Jamin, Miss M. Fitzgibbon, and others. The party broke up at a seasonable hour after extending their best wishes to the hostess.

TWO PRIZE WINNERS
MISS McDONALD AND MISS FLA-HAVEN WON $10 PRIZES FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE ESSAYS
The Lowell Women's Equal Suffrage league has awarded a prize of $10 in gold to Miss Rita McDonald, who composed the best essay on the history of woman suffrage in the United States, the contest being open to all ninth grade pupils in the schools of this city. Miss McDonald resides in Crawford street and is a pupil of the Pawtucket grammar school.
Miss Katherine Flahaven of the Normal school was awarded another prize of $10 in gold for her essay on the general history of woman suffrage throughout the world. This contest was open to Normal school pupils only, and a number of essays were submitted.

TENDERED LINEN SHOWER
Miss Rosalie Labrie, who is to become the bride of Laurent Cossette on Monday, July 5, was tendered a linen shower last night, the affair being held at the young woman's home in Merrimack street. Over 50 young women friends of Miss Labrie gathered at her home and showered her with valuable pieces of linen. A sister of the hostess, Miss Elizabeth Labrie, presided over the gathering and under her direction a pleasing musical program was given. A delightful luncheon was served and the party broke up at a seasonable hour.

GRANOLITHIC SIDEWALKS
Bids for 2500 square yards of granolithic sidewalks to be laid in Central and Merrimack streets were opened in the office of the purchasing agent this forenoon and the contract will be awarded the Lowell Cement & Brick Co. of Lowell. The bids were as follows: Lowell Cement & Brick Co., $14.35; Quinn & Sons, $14.40; Frank E. Riley, Lowell, $14.50; O'Neil Brothers, Boston, $15.00; Matthias Conner, Lowell, $15.31-4; William D. MURDER OF BRIDE

George J. Smith Faces Ordeal of a Partial Reconstruction of Scene

LONDON, June 26, 2:27 p. m.—George Joseph Smith, husband of three wives who died in their baths and who is now on trial charged with the murder of one of them, whom he married as Beatrice Mundy, and today to face the ordeal of a partial reconstruction in court of the scene immediately after the death of Alice Barnham, second of the three brides.

The bath tub in which Alice Barnham met her death was placed on a table in the courtroom while a physician, Dr. Billings, illustrated how, when he was summoned to the house where the couple lived, he found Smith supporting his wife's head just above the surface of the tubful of water. The witness testified the woman's head was toward the narrow end of the tub.

Evidence was then introduced to show that Smith had purchased an insurance policy from a company after the woman's death. The trial judge explained to the jury that the significance of the evidence was that the prisoner in October had an insurance policy he would have $2000 or $2500 to invest in an annuity on his birthday in January.

"On the arrival of his birthday in January," said the judge, "he had such a sum to invest, and that money was insurance money, payable upon his wife's death."

The case of the third bride, Margaret Lofty, was then opened. Smith died in her bath in a house in Highgate. After brief testimony court was adjourned until Monday.

THE BRIDGE QUESTION

SOME OF THE MATERIALS TO BE PROVIDED AT THE OUTSTART FOR MR. DENMAN'S USE

The Pawtucket bridge question will be given a rest for a few days at least, and in the interim, we might speculate a bit on the materials necessary for the building of the bridge. Inquiry into this phase of the question elicited the fact that, for a starter, 155,000 feet of spruce lumber of various lengths and thickness; 2000 eypress and over a carload of nails. Other necessities would include from 3000 to 4000 cubic yards of stone and gravel, over 200 barrels of cement, 150 barrels of hydrated lime and 10 barrels of white cement, all of which would be independent of the steel for reinforcing the concrete.

THE THUNDER STORM

STARTED HERE EARLY THIS MORNING—MENACING CLOUDS AND DISTANT THUNDER

A thunder storm, accompanied by severe flashes of lightning, struck this city about daybreak today and aroused the greater part of the population from slumber. For an hour the rain fell heavily, while frequent roars of thunder and flashes of lightning were heard. So far as can be learned no damage was done in or around this city. During the afternoon menacing thunder clouds were being seen and it was reported that Maine and New Hampshire were being drenched with heavy rain.

THE THAW CASE

State is Trying to Find Evelyn Nesbit Thaw—Jerome May Testify

NEW YORK, June 26.—In the full today in the court proceedings to determine the sanity of Harry K. Thaw it became known that the state is trying to find Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, central figure in the shooting of Stanford White, to place her on the witness stand. Process servers sought her throughout the city but were unable to find her. The search will be kept up.

William T. Jerome, former district attorney of New York City, who has balked at Thaw's previous efforts for freedom, may be another witness for the state. Mr. Jerome is not connected with the present proceedings. Other witnesses include a number of persons who are prepared, it is said, to testify concerning Thaw's early life. These witnesses probably will take the stand early next week. Thaw's lawyers expect to close their case Monday.

It became known today that the representative of the attorney general commissioned to take the deposition of Dr. Charles W. Elliot, president of the Massachusetts university, will be sent to Massachusetts next Wednesday. Dr. Elliot's deposition is sought to show the reasons for Thaw's dismissal from Harvard.

BY CARDINAL'S WISHES
MEETING TO BE HELD IN LOWELL DISTRICT

The assistant chaplain of the Middlesex County Branch of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, Rev. Francis J. Muller, of St. Michael's church, Lowell, has issued the following circular to the members:

Lowell, June 22, 1915.
Cardinal O'Connell's earnest appeal and strong endorsement of the federal movement at the monster mass meeting under the auspices of the Middlesex branch at Lowell, May 16, 1915, should result in active interest and affiliation of every Catholic parish and Catholic organization in the federal movement.

Federation does not interfere in any way with the special objects and work of any Catholic organization. Federation simply seeks united support and action along broad Catholic and non-political grounds for religious and patriotic purposes. It conducts a public educational campaign by means of mass meetings, legislative and organizing work, distribution of Catholic literature and the advocacy of the Catholic viewpoint through the secular and Catholic press. Unity can be effected only by organization, and action must be preceded by organization.

In accordance with the wishes of His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell, a convention of delegates to organize the North District Middlesex county of Catholic federation will be held on Tuesday evening, June 29, at 8 o'clock, in the Knights of Columbus hall, 25 Anne street, Lowell. At this convention three delegates are invited from each of the following organizations respectively: each of the Catholic parishes, each Holy Name society, each Catholic organization of the district. Of the delegates from the Catholic parishes at least one should be a lady delegate.

This convention will assume the form of an organization committee to begin the work of federation on a permanent basis. In the future the number of delegates from each organization, the time and place of meeting will be in accord with the constitution of the Federation of Catholic societies.

Respectfully yours,
Rev. Francis J. Muller,
Assistant Chaplain.

WILL THROW 200,000 OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

General Shutdown of Chicago's Building Industry — Beginning of Labor War

CHICAGO, June 26.—A general shutdown of Chicago's building industry, which, it was said, will throw out of employment more than 200,000 workers, went into effect today.

The shutdown is regarded by contractors and labor leaders as the beginning of one of the greatest labor wars in recent years. The action was taken at a meeting last night of representatives of the allied building and material interests as an answer to a referendum vote of 16,000 striking carpenters, who overwhelmingly defeated the proposal to arbitrate all questions in dispute.

The carpenters have been on a strike since April 30, when their agreement with the Contractor Employers' association expired. The men had demanded a wage increase from 65c to 70c an hour.

By means of the shut down the employers, it was said, hope to prevent the independent carpenter contractors from obtaining supplies, and thus throw out of work the 10,000 carpenters who are working under individual agreements.

DOUBLE GUARD HIGHEST HONORS

Saloons Closed and Other Precautionary Measures at Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga., June 26.—Near-panic saloons were closed, no entry watch of police was held at stations for extra duty, and the guard of militia still surrounded Governor Slaton's home in an effort of the authorities to forestall today and tonight demonstrations of protest against the governor's commutation of Leo Frank's death sentence. The term of Governor Slaton expired at noon and crowds were in the city for the inauguration of Nat E. Harris.

The business section of the city was patrolled by a double watch of police today and 40 extra mounted men were sent to the capitol. Otherwise, to all outward appearances, the city was normal.

Mr. Harris has stated that the guard at Mr. Slaton's home will be doubled tonight and the guardsmen will be kept there until, in the opinion of Adjutant General Nash, all danger has passed.

24 Men Arrested

Twenty-six men were brought to the county jail here today by militiamen guarding the country home of Gov. Slaton. The state guardsmen said they were arrested while trying to enter the governor's estate.

BILLERICA

The annual reception of the graduation class of the Howe high school of Billerica was held last evening in the town hall and the affair was a fitting climax to the season's exercises. Relatives and friends of the graduates attended in large numbers and took part in the splendid program prepared by the members of the class.

From 8 till 9 o'clock a reception was held with the receiving line made up of the members of the class, as follows: William J. A. Lyons, president; J. Dana Richardson, vice president; Miss Florence E. Nason, secretary; Miss Doris Perry, treasurer; Miss Grace Biggs, Miss Bernice Dole, Miss Fuchel, Miss Farmer, Richard E. Hagley, Miss Helen L. Hentz, Miss Therese Lyons and Miss Alice Vernon. Shortly after 9 o'clock a grand march was begun with William J. A. Lyons and Miss Sonja Borg leading, followed by J. Dana Richardson and Miss Helen Hentz, John Gilman and Miss Florence E. Nason, Russell Turner and Miss Doris Perry and many other couples. Following the grand march dancing was enjoyed until midnight with Hibbard's orchestra furnishing the music.

The maidens were: Mrs. Frank Lyons, Mrs. John A. Richardson, Mrs. Nathaniel R. Jones and Mrs. Herbert T. Heimer.

Miss Agnes Lyons was the head usher at the reception and was assisted by Miss Marjorie Kearney, Miss Mary Cassidy, Miss Isabelle Chandler, Miss Doris Livingston, Miss Freda Thomen, Miss Mary Larratt, Miss Marion Biggs, Miss Eva Barton, Miss Winifred Fisk, Miss May Williams, Miss Bertha Harris and Miss Henrietta Baril.

High School Class of Twelve Received Diplomas — Town Hall Filled With Friends of Graduates

Before an audience that filled the town hall to overflowing the commencement exercises of the North Chelmsford high school were held last night. The fact that this was one of the largest and also one of the youngest graduating classes in the history of the school accounted for the large attendance, and besides the parents and friends from the village, there was a large number from Lowell and other surrounding towns who came to congratulate the graduates. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the class colors, green and gold predominating in the color scheme, while the stage was a bower of beauty, with its twining lattice work, and greenery. At the rear of the stage, suspended in the midst of the elaborate decorations was the class motto, "Striving to Win," and in front of this were seated the graduates, and refreshments were served. The program, even though it was of lengthy character, was so evenly balanced that it did not prove in the least tiresome, and the efforts of the graduates were given well merited applause by the large audience. All received handsome floral offerings and other tokens in honor of the happy occasion. The program which was started promptly at 8 o'clock was as follows:

Selection, orchestra; prayer, Rev. E. H. Reeves; "The Opening Door," John H. Valentine; "Thoughts in a Theatre," May J. Brown; song, "Victory," chorus; "The Manufacture of Inner Tubes," Warren E. Prince; "Baseball vs. Bullets," Willis L. McComb; "The Justice of the Jury," Arthur R. Nystrom; songs, "The Armorer," "The Bells of Seville," chorus; "How Some of the People are Fooled All the Time," Herbert C. Reis; "The Dream of an Immigrant Child," Betty A. Nelson; "Our Nation's Emblem," Pauline W. Worden; "The Making of a Criminal," Leroy T. Lakin.

At this point in the program the following class song, written by John H. Valentine, one of the class leaders, was sung:

Passing years have quickly brought us
To our graduation day;
Faithful study, steady toiling,
Pushed us onward day by day.
Put aside your mathematics,
And your French, too, out of sight,
For the time is past for study—
This is Graduation night.

Joyous hours we've spent together
To that dear old village high school
Where we started to make fame,
Life's bright future lies before us,
Farewell to the classroom,
Still a thought of sadness lingers,
And we part from those grown dear.

Fare ye well, then, O dear classmates,
Friends and teachers, fare ye well,
For we may no longer study,
In the school we love so well,
Fare ye well to the classroom,
Now the parting time is here,
And we now no more shall enter
At thy doors we love so dear.

The other numbers of the program were:

"Part Time Cooperative Vocational Education," Harold R. Hodge; "The Red Cross Society," Clara Anderson; presentation of diplomas, Supt. D. E. Martin; benediction, Rev. E. T. Schofield. The graduates were:

May Jessie Brown, president; Warren Fletcher Prince, vice president; Willis Leonard McComb, secretary; Herbert Carl Reis, treasurer; Clara Anderson, Josephine Margaret Higgins, Betty Annette Nelson, Pauline Willoughby Worden, Harold Bradley Hodge, Leroy Taylor Lakin, Arthur Herbert Nystrom, John Henry Valentine.

The class poem which was written by Leroy Taylor Lakin, also appeared on the printed program.

At the conclusion of the exercises the graduates were roundly congratulated by their friends and Principal Arthur Trubey, Miss Adele McMillan and Miss Gertrude Sawyer, teachers of the school, were complimented for bringing the school year to such a successful close. Following the reception, all repaired once more to the assembly hall where dancing, to the pleasing strains of Martin's Crescent orchestra, was enjoyed. This form of amusement lasted until midnight, making the commencement exercises the most successful held in the history of the school.

The ushers were Raymond Ballinger, Marshall E. Blakeslee, Clifton Lakin, Albert Cressie, Walter Polley, Chester McCombs, George Davis and Frank Syvret. The musical selections during the exercises were played by the Crescent orchestra.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF RUSSELL MFG. CO. OF MIDDLETOWN, CT., VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 26.—Elijah Kent Hubbard, former president of the Russell Manufacturing Co. of this city, died of heart disease today. He was in his 50th year, and had long been identified with Connecticut business interests.

Mr. Hubbard was born during the settlement of Chicago, and had considered himself to be the oldest real native of that city. During most of his active life he was in business in Chicago.

PRESIDENT AT CORNISH

SPENT THE MORNING WALKING THROUGH WOODS AND WORKING IN HIS STUDY

CORNISH, N. H., June 26.—President Wilson, taking a brief vacation at the "summer White House" spent this morning walking through the woods with members of his family, and working in his study on correspondence. He planned to take a long automobile ride this afternoon. He received no word from Washington.

A cold night which made blankets necessary allowed the president to get a good sleep. Baby Sayre, his young grandson, cried several times during the night, but Mr. Wilson was not disturbed. His usual routine of playing golf in the morning was not followed today.

JAPANESE OFFICERS FIGHTING WITH RUSSIANS SUICIDE RATHER THAN SUFFER CAPTURE

TOKIO, June 25, 3.30 p. m.—Major Nakajima and Capt. Hashimoto, Japanese officers fighting with the Russian army at Lemberg, committed hari-kari, a Japanese method of committing suicide rather than suffer what they considered the dishonor of being made prisoners of war, according to official advices received from Petrograd.

FREIGHT DEPT. B. & M. R. R.

CHANGES IN PERSONNEL ARE ANNOUNCED FOR JULY 1—ALL DEPARTMENTS AT NORTH STATION

The personnel of the freight traffic department of the Boston & Maine railroad has undergone several changes according to a statement from the local station. The changes will take effect July 1.

Under the new alignment Mr. George M. Eaton, who has been general freight manager, will have charge of rates and divisions; "classification" matters, and subjecting railroads to federal and state commission. Mr. Eaton will also perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the freight traffic manager.

Mr. William T. Lamour, who has been assistant freight agent, will be general freight agent, and will be in charge of solicitation of traffic, including import and export, and such other duties as may be assigned to him by the freight traffic manager.

Mr. Abel E. Prescott will continue as assistant general freight agent, having special charge of the publication, filing and distribution of freight traffic department tariffs, circulars, etc., and will perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the assistant freight traffic manager or the general freight agent.

Mr. Emory W. Abbott, who has been division freight agent at Troy, N. Y., will come to the general offices as assistant general freight agent, and will have charge of general freight office detail, together with such other duties as may be assigned to him by the general freight agent.

Mr. George E. Dudley, continuing as general agent, with office at 101 Chamber of Commerce, Boston, will have special charge of export traffic, and as assistant general freight agent in the solicitation of traffic. The east-bound freight agent and contracting agents will report to Mr. Dudley.

On the same date the Boston & Maine's tariff bureau will be moved from the South station, thus completing the housing of the Boston & Maine organization entirely within the North station.

Saturday, July 3rd, is "Quarter Day" at the Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

TRAPS OF DEATH

The canals and river banks of Lowell are veritable death traps, and everybody in the city, including the members of the municipal council, knows it. Are we going to do anything about it, or are we merely going to say, "It is really too bad," and go on counting the number of the drowned? A little while ago there was a public hearing, under the auspices of the Trades and Labor council, to promote juvenile safety, but so far nothing has come of it. Evidently the question is not considered important enough for action by the municipal body which a few months ago appropriated $3000 for a holiday show, or by the municipal council which has taken a very vital interest in proposed street extension to the tune of $60,000. That amount would not only make the rivers and canals safe, but it would build municipal monuments to the 300 victims who have lost their lives in the rivers and canals for the past 20 years.

Within the past month, there were three accidental drownings in the canals, swelling the list to 305 since 1890. How many more will be added before winter? The average for the past 25 years was twelve every year. That still leaves nine to be added this season. Is this something that we can discuss philosophically and without sentiment? Must we make no protest while the city authorities stand by and do not raise a hand to keep death in a peculiarly sad guise from a dozen Lowell homes every year?

There is no need of argument to prove that the city is grossly negligent or that the protest of the Trades and Labor council was well grounded. Those who attended the hearing will not soon forget the sad testimony of the many parents who had been bereaved in the past. One father voiced the sentiment of all when he said that if the protestors could keep sorrow from other homes, their loss would not have been in vain. If the municipal council members were moved, they have not shown it.

The present system of fencing in the canals is not only inadequate and dangerous, but it is also ugly in the extreme. In many places high wooden fences in every stage of dilapidation hide the water and enclose banks that might be made breathing spots and things of beauty. Lucy Larcom park is an example of what might be done all through the city by cooperation between the municipal authorities and the proprietors of the Locks and Canals corporation. Some uniform system of wire fencing, such as is used along the Boston waterways, might be adopted to improve the appearance of Lowell appreciably and prevent needless drownings. This ornamental fence, which need not necessarily be of an expensive type, might be run along the edge of the canal, leaving the banks for little parks in the congested districts.

There is a strong and growing demand for municipal bathing places and the protection of the canals and river banks. That both are needed is proved most eloquently by the list of 305 drowned since 1890. All humane citizens who think this question over will declare that it is about time a stop was put to the needless sacrifice of children's lives.

SALEM COMES BACK

We can learn two great lessons from Salem—one, how to avoid a great fire such as that city invited last year, and the other, how to arise from a great calamity, more prosperous and progressive than ever. The first lesson we have applied to some degree, in common with all cities of Massachusetts, and it is reflected in our increased fire fighting equipment, our stricter regulations and our many fire prevention agitations. The other lesson we may never have to apply, but nevertheless it is a lesson of inspiration and true advancement.

A year ago today, Salem was in ruins. One half of the city was a smoking and blackened mass. Many of her mills, factories, churches and beautiful homes were no more, and thousands were homeless. The suffering was intense and the cry for aid reached the heart of the nation. The damage to property was in the vicinity of $5,000,000 and it was freely predicted that many of the burned-out industries would never re-locate in the city.

In one year Salem has risen from her ashes a brighter and better city, with scarce a trace of the loss and suffering of a year ago. To replace the property damage of $5,000,000 over $6,000,000 has been spent, for Salem was not satisfied to have things as good as they were before. Its leaders thought that so long as they were building, they ought to build a little better instead of a little worse. The mills that were destroyed have risen from the ruins, the churches are again drawing great congregations and there are miles of new and desirable homes to replace those destroyed.

Better still, Salem has done some city planning during the last year. The fire-fighting facilities have been improved, adequate water mains have been installed, providing for a higher pressure, new equipment has been added, and the paid fire-fighting personnel is larger than a year ago. In everything that makes for a modern, progressive and prosperous city, Salem is better off today than the day before the fire a year ago. Hats off to Salem, and may she never again experience such a calamity! Her indomitable spirit is deserving of better things.

NATIONAL EFFICIENCY

Even Germany itself admits that there is not at present a great deal of love for Germany and things German throughout the rest of the world, but calling names to the Germans will do the belligerents and neutrals little good. It is now coming to be admitted in England, France and this country that Germany can teach all nations the lessons of national efficiency.

Whether a government be wrong or right, there should be nothing but unqualified support of it in time of danger. We may pour editorial vitriol on the heads of our government officials in time of peace; we may question their motives and distort their actions; we may draw disrespectful cartoons and make dire predictions. All very well for times of peace. When war or the danger of war menaces not only the government but everything that the government stands for, there should be only one spirit, that of unqualified support for those who must bear the burden of awful responsibility.

This spirit of support has been shown admirably by America during the delicate international dealings of the past six months or so, but it has been shown best by Germany. There, every thought, word or deed of the nation from the humblest peasant up to the university professor has been with the Kaiser and his supporters. Any other course would have been ruinous. With a circular of menacing foes on all sides, Germany had to develop internal strength and its greatest strength is the loyalty and determination of its people.

England is learning this lesson and when the present war is over England will see that to keep its high place in the family of nations it must become more efficient. David Lloyd George has taught the lesson to the workers of England, and they now know that their fidelity is as necessary to success as the fidelity of the soldier at the front. Moreover, England is about to take stock of its resources, thus putting into effect the lesson of efficiency learned from Germany, the affairs of which are conducted with scientific accuracy. Even politics may be made a business, and a mighty efficient business.

VACATION CAUTION

The state health authorities are issuing their annual warning to the hundreds of thousands of vacationists who yearly leave their homes and the safeguards of well regulated communities to live for a few weeks or months in summer resorts, many of which have little regard for cleanliness or sanitation. Hundreds who go to such places yearly for health and relaxation come back with vacation typhoid and other diseases.

In the cities people get so used to having their health problems taken care of by the proper authorities that they become careless, thinking that conditions everywhere are equally safe. If the city water is pure, and if the sewage is taken care of scientifically, the city vacationist is apt to think that the precautions are just as rigorous at the beach or mountain resort, but the contrary is frequently the case. So general has been the complaint of conditions at some summer places that it is not unusual to see in advertisements special reference to the pure drinking water of certain places or to other attractive features.

Most dangers of this nature may be avoided by intelligent prevention. One of the most important considerations is the drinking water, a prolific source of sickness. Where people do not know definitely whether the water is pure or not, it should in all cases be boiled before being used, but better still that no water be used except that which is known to be pure. Then again, the carelessness of camp life should not be permitted to jeopardize health in all relating to federal sanitation such as the disposal of refuse, keeping of food, drainage, and the many other things that will come readily to the mind of the annual vacationist.

The sure rule to follow is to take nothing for granted at a new vacation resort, but to remember the principles of safety first just as religiously as when at home. Public health is one of the most important considerations of the summer as well as of the winter.

LAW WORKING WELL

One of the most progressive and humane laws passed by the last legislature was that to provide for the support of dependent parents by children who have the means but not the inclination. This law should never have been necessary, but having been necessary, it was just and timely. Sometimes the law of the state may have a greater influence than the laws of God and humanity. It is so in this instance.

For many years there has been a law on the statute books compelling the support of children by the father and the wife by the husband, but it was not thought necessary to frame a law compelling the support of aged parents by their children. Yet, every superintendent of a city or head of a state institution knew only too well that there was room for such a law, as it had become the tragic custom for too many children to throw the support of their parents over on the public.

Undoubtedly, family pride and the passive submission that comes with age will prevent many from availing of the new law, but it is expected that soon the public authorities will compel those to whom it applies to respect it. Already there have been several convictions, and the moral effect is said to have been widespread. Children that were not ashamed to desert their parents in the face of public opinion were profoundly moved to a sense of duty by the recent legislation. This fine humanitarian law has attracted the support of press and public, and marks a great stride forward for Massachusetts.

A NEW ONE

James Carmello of East Boston is a barber, and like other barbers, more or less, is an accommodating fellow. Consequently when he met two fellow countrymen in trouble in Dock square last Thursday, he decided to help them. The fellow countrymen were in a dole-ful plight for they had $6000, but alas! no place to keep it. Would Carmello hold the money? Sure Carmello would hold the money. Security! Why, of course; he had $300 in the bank and a fine watch and chain. James handed over the $300 and the watch and chain and the fellow countrymen went for the wad. He is still waiting and they are in all probability as far away as one can get who has $300 to spend, to say nothing of a fine new watch and chain.

Now since the good days of old, people of the ilk of James Carmello have been relieved of sundry sums by very many processes, but this looks like a new one. Invention is not applied to the sciences only; occasionally the arts make a big stride, and in this instance the art of fleecing barbers and others has progressed wonderfully. Moral: Whenever you are tempted to become a custodian of $6000, or a little more or a little less—think of poor James Carmello and of his $300—and the watch and chain, to boot.

SUBMARINE FOILED

The captain of a British steamer which has just arrived in Montreal from England has related his escape from a submarine in very graphic language and incidentally given what looks like a practical and plausible scheme whereby the deadly craft may be robbed of their prey. Captain Olsen, according to his own story, encountered a submarine off the English coast. It held him up and commenced to fire shells from surface guns. "When the shells started falling around the ship," he said, "I turned her around so that the beam was with the waves and then called for full speed ahead. The submarine followed, but, as she rolled so heavily in the trough of the seas, the German guns could not aim their guns. The maneuver was entirely successful." This bears out the statement of many writers on naval matters who have stated that the only safety from the submarine is in flight. Many ships have tried running away since the war started, but they did not know how to run as well as did Captain Olsen.

That Lawrence continues to keep before the public as the "City of Strikers."

Another one was declared on yesterday.

That Mr. Charles H. Hobson as a candidate for mayor will be both a progressive and a progressive candidate.

That here's hoping Henry Cabot Lodge don't pull any of his classics at the coming of the republican city convention.

That the people of Lowell are beginning to find out that there is a competent lady dentist in the Sun building.

That Lowell's victory yesterday was clean cut and shows that the team put up a real game of ball when it wants to.

That President Wilson, now at the summer White House at Cornish, N. H., for a rest, certainly deserves a good vacation.

That this year's city government will break all records for out of town trips, be they joy rides, junkets or business trips.

That the labor leaders of this city are well satisfied with the progress made by the labor forward movement up to date.

That Commissioner Duncan hasn't entered his automobile yet, though he was the man who introduced the latter ordinance.

That with Joe Cunningham at the helm the coming garden party of St. Columba's parish promises to be a great success.

That it is hoped our good mayor will not go to Springfield for engineers, contractors and builders to put up the new high school.

That a local union official says that the arbitration decision in the Day State street railway case was a slap at organized labor.

That Lowell's industries are running far steadier than the industries of other textile centres, and without any labor disputes.

That as Hashimuro Togo would remark: "The lion, John Jacob will discuss the Hon. O. Lulu at the coming republican caucus."

That the appropriation for the 4th of July celebration is already conceded to be too small to meet the bills that are piling up.

That the employees of the Bon Marche are excited over the prospect of participation to the coming outing and trolley ride to Reverse beach.

That a little thing like a pouring rainstorm did not dampen the ardor of the Cambridge visitors who came to Lowell last Sunday.

That the white way lights may be all right elsewhere but in Merrimack square they are not to be compared with the old ones.

That the many Lowell friends of Israel H. Sternberg will be deeply pained to learn that he is critically ill at his home in Reverse.

That if the municipal council keeps up its political four-flushing, it may drive a large portion of a leading industry over into Tewksbury.

That the mayor's promise to reduce the cost of street lighting by $25,000 a year has resulted in an increase of almost exactly the same amount.

That the slogan "equal rights for all and special privileges for none" bumped against the new Pawtucketville bridge and went to pieces.

That the municipal council certainly should hurry up that bridge matter as the high school, hospital and campaign propositions are due Sept. 1.

That the man who once said: "Never cross a bridge until you come to it," might have a good thing to say about the bridge you're going to build one till you've seen the plane."

That the former employees of the Bigelow Manufacturing company want to know if the Bigelow-Hartford-Clinton company will remove the buildings also.

That one campaign orator proposes to use a stereopticon screen next fall to illustrate the houses and tenement property owned by several city pensioners.

That Jim Danahy, the popular Cambridge letter carrier, had the time of his life here last Sunday, when he acted as "chaperon" for the Social Flower Girls of that city.

That an angler who can wish himself out of the city government, draw plans for his exclusive use, forbid competition and send ultimatums to the city fathers, is some engineer.

That it would be well to pick out the windows on which you are going to view the parade as there will be a tremendous demand owing to the heat and the great length of the procession.

That many people thought that Charlie Morse was using creolin on Central street Thursday afternoon, but they were wrong, for it was all caused by a woman dropping a bottle of the disinfectant.

That the actions of the municipal council on the bridge matter, while seemingly enough to shake the strongest faith in the charter, are not so bad as they are made out to be. It is not to blame for the men elected to office.

That perhaps as long as Mayor Murphy didn't publish the letter sent him in which the mayor referred to his presence before the liquor dealers, he will publish the letter he is supposed to have received from Mayor Crowley of Nashua relative to that bridge at Hudson.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

HEAVY FINES

Judge Landis of United States district court who has assessed the $20,000 fine against Standard Oil, has learned that it is of little use to impose heavy fines. In a suit against an Illinois man who with a shotgun drove a car through a city street, he found that the man was not only a dangerous driver but also a dangerous man. As fines remitted, take the dignity out of government. Judge Landis probably hopes that a small fine, paid, may have enough of a deterrent effect to prevent the repetition of such anarchistic activity. —Lewiston Journal.

RUMANIA'S PART

Rumania gravely announces she could put an end to the war in three months. Rumania really wants to achieve world wide popularity she will promptly make good her boast, provided she isn't afraid the war will put an end to Rumania in less than three months. —Brooklyn Times.

RUSSIAN DEFEATS

As long as the Russians can succeed in withdrawing in sufficient force to turn and fight when the German aggressive ceases, just so long it is evident that Germany has not won a conclusive victory. There is no definite goal beyond which the eastward movement cannot go, but the further east the battle rages the further the Germans are from their base and the nearer the Russians are to theirs. Until the Russian are scattered there is no real success for the German campaign, and such an ending is not in sight. —Fitchburg Sentinel.

PAY BILLS

It's a good idea to pay bills when they are due. West Virginia has just had a practical illustration. Had she paid Virginia the debt she owed at the time of the olive oil of the states she could have gotten off for $100,000. But she didn't. Now after all these years, plus the court litigation and accrued interest, she must pay $12,581,000. —Hollywood Transcript.

THE NEXT STEP

Logically, the next step in the Frank case will be a movement in favor of his recalling or absolute pardon. So to as to his guilt was the ground upon which the Georgia executive based commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment. Hence, the question: How long will it be before a pardon is sought, the plea being that if doubts warranted commutation, then doubts also justify the prisoner's liberation? That a pardon movement will duly be launched is a conclusion every way safe, and the day may not be so far off as some people may imagine. —Salem News.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES MEMORIAL MONUMENT

YALE HONORS JUSTICE AND FORMER GOVERNOR WITH DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF LAWS

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES

The accompanying photograph of Charles Evans Hughes, justice of the supreme court of the United States and former governor of New York state, was taken at the recent commencement of Yale, where Justice Hughes was honored with the degree of doctor of laws.

Next week is "Quarter Week" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

BOSTON, June 26.—Announcement of the completion of plans for a memorial monument to be erected at the grave of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, in Mount Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, was made today. The memorial, designed by Egerton Swartwout of New York, will consist of a circular open colonnade of eight columns, resting on a base of three steps and surrounded on the front by a circular platform from which a double flight of steps will lead to the edge of a small lake. The material will be white granite, with inscriptions in white bronze. The detail will be floral. A fund of $10,000 has been raised for the erection and maintenance of the memorial.

White Mt. Freezers are the best. Order today from The Thompson Hardware Co.

Y. M. C. I. NOTES

Tomorrow will be quarterly communion Sunday for the Y. M. C. I., and a large number of members are expected to approach the altar railing at the 7.30 o'clock mass. Following the mass the customary breakfast will be served in the assembly hall of the institute. Local talent will contribute to the entertainment program after the breakfast, and a real treat is promised to all who attend.

REAL ESTATE DEALERS
Thos. H. Elliott, real estate broker, offices 61 Central street, corner Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week ending Friday, June 25th:
The sale of an excellent building site situated on the westerly side of Highland avenue near its junction with Parker street. The tract has a street frontage of 50 feet and an area of 5000 square feet, the assessment being at the rate of 66 per foot. The grantee in the transaction is Mr. David E. Flint who will commence in the near future on the erection of a residence. The sale was effected on behalf of Miss Alice C. Parker, this being the second lot to be sold recently through this office on behalf of the same grantor.

Contracts have been closed on the purchase and sale of an attractive small residential property situated near Nesmith street, in the Belvidere section. The lot is of unusually large size approximating 15,000 square feet, assessed at the rate of 15c per foot. Extensive alterations will be made to the buildings by the incoming owner who purchases purely for purposes of investment.

Persons have been bonded on the purchase and sale of a fine building lot situated near Pine street, in the Highlands section. It aggregates 9000 square feet with a street frontage of 70 feet. It is sold on behalf of a local estate, the purchaser buying for purposes of improvement. Names and full details will be given on the passing of final papers in the immediate future.

PLANNING "FORM" WORK AHEAD
Some years ago when we sent the foreman simply a set of blue-prints of the building and said "Go ahead and build it," leaving him to work out his own "form" designs, column "forms" used to cost, for direct labor, as much as 18 cents a square foot, and floors 12 cents, says Leonard C. Vason, president of a large construction company. Now we spend much more in the office making plans—sometimes as many as forty-five sheets of "form" details for a simple building. These designs may cost 2 of a cent per square foot of form-work. But now if the cost per labor for floor forms runs over 4 cents a square foot we want to know what is the matter; if it runs over 7 cents for a column form usually means a row. We have come to the conclusion that a dollar spent intelligently in the drafting room usually saves ten on the work—sometimes more.

NEW YORK COURT HOUSE
The modified and approved plans of the new court house for New York county and designed by Guy Lowell were filed by him with the Manhattan Building Department on May 11. As already stated in these columns the building will be circular in plan, about 450 ft. in diameter with four porticos projecting from it, and the total cost is estimated at $10,000,000. There will be 42 sets of chambers for the judges and 54 court rooms. The justices will have their chambers at the top of the building and they will have a dining room and library distributed from the large library for use of counsel. On the second floor will be a large auditorium for the hearing of important cases or for meetings of the bar.

In the sub-basement are to be fireproof vaults for the storage of records and in the west section of the first floor or basement will be a room where jurors can wait until they have been assigned to a particular court; an emergency hospital, police station, a reporters' room, a barber shop, etc.

STRIKE AVERTED
At a meeting of the Greater New York District Council of Carpenters and Joiners of America held in the Borough of Manhattan a short time ago, it was decided not to strike, but to accept the compromise scale of wages and hours that had been offered the men by the Manufacturing Woodworkers' association. The compromise offered was as follows: "Employees of the Brooklyn mills to receive a minimum wage of $17.00 per week commencing with April 1, 1915. All mills included in the Manufacturing Woodworkers' association to pay a minimum of $18.00 per week commencing with September 1, 1915. Working time to be 48 hours per week until January 1, 1916, when all members of the association shall reduce the hours to 44 per week." The original demands of the men had been for a minimum wage of $18.00 per week and a working week of 44 hours.

STYLES OF FIREPLACES
It goes without saying that the fireplace adds a charm to a home which makes it more cheerful and attractive. The number of fireplaces being installed is growing, and many new styles, with and without mantels, in beautiful designs, have been used with artistic effect, says a writer in the Brick and Clay Record. This is not only true of city homes, but builders of town, village and country homes, as well as hotels and churches, and other public buildings, are making use of decorative fireplaces. The use of cement block in fireplace construction permits the erection of a design which fits in with the general scheme of the room. Any design may be modified to secure a maximum of decorative effect. For instance, a simple fireplace of plain construction would be a suitable one for an office, a large one, in keeping with the size of a rotunda, for a hotel; an inglenook, for a den and a variety of sitting rooms, dining rooms and parlors with pillar effects, square mantel or arch construction built of plain or special faced molded units of brick or tile. Fireplaces built of cement brick are not of any particular size, but may be arranged to suit the room for which they are intended. The elasticity of this form of construction allows any size to be easily secured. An experienced workman can easily erect the fireplace. The addition of elaborate decorations does not add very much to the work of construction when brick is the material used. The workman must, of course, have a good knowledge of joints, since sometimes a narrow joint is desirable, and at other times a very heavy joint. The top of a fireplace may be varied to suit the ideas of the builder or the house owner. For instance, decorative top of cement bricks or small blocks may be used, or a wooden shelf, to harmonize with the rest of the fireplace construction. For a den, a bookcase constructed either at the side of or over the fireplace, or both, is often desirable and good. One of the chief objects for the builder to bear in mind in any of these arrangements is symmetry, for with a simple, appropriate, and symmetrical design in keeping with the surroundings, the fireplace becomes a harmonious, attractive and useful piece of house furnishing. —Building Age.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"The Middleman," which will be shown the final two times this afternoon and tonight, literally keeps an audience on edge all of the time. A play it was capable of working auditors up to a high pitch of enthusiasm, because it has a theme that itself so well to the motion pictures as this. Albert Chevalier, the noted character actor, is in the role of "Cyrus Blenkarn," the aged potter maker, and notably, not even E. Willard himself, who created the role, could have driven home the big scenes with greater effectiveness. Miss Jane Gail, who plays the part of the wronged daughter, also does some effective work. The play, written by Henry Arthur Jones, has had a phenomenal run for many years. It has been considered a model for aspiring dramatists, because it so logically worked up to a wonderful climax. This will be noted after witnessing the first three parts of the picture. In addition to this five shorter pictures are shown, including the Edison educational film, "The Manufacture of Big Guns." Then, of course, there is a chaplin subject, which will cause many to laugh heartily. Tomorrow afternoon and evening, special programs will be given, and beginning Monday, and continuing three days "Neptune's Daughter," with Annette Kellerman, will be the special feature.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
The final presentation of the splendid bill at the Merrimack Square, consisting of two of the very latest Paramount releases, a Weber and Fields comedy and a thrilling western drama, will be given this afternoon and evening. This is the same performance which has delighted so many patrons of the Merrimack Square theatre during the two days just preceding. This show consists of the 5-act Paramount picture entitled "The Dictator" with the humorous star, John Barrymore.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH

The exterior of this story and one-half residence is a combination of clapboarding and shingles. The clapboarding runs to a belt course around the upper half of the building, which is painted white. The shingles about this belt course can be stained either a chocolate brown or a moss green. All trimmings are ivory white, thus making a very beautiful combination. The molded stone effect on the piazza and for the fireplace can be produced with brick, which should be a very dark red. Attention is directed to the windows in the second story. The housekeeper can ventilate the closets by these windows, thus keeping the closets moist proof. Size, 26 feet wide by 35 feet deep over the main part. First story, 9 feet; second story, 8 feet; basement, 7 feet. These heights are to be in the clear when finished. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $3500.

LAKEVIEW PARK
A big European acrobatic act known as the Dayton family have been engaged by the management of Lakeview park as the special attraction for next week. The Dayton family are twelve in number and have been a big attraction for many years in vaudeville houses in the United States and Canada as well as in the big music halls and theatres of Europe. So great is their popularity that the management of Lakeview park were able to secure this extraordinary picture which is the biggest act of its kind ever seen in Lowell except perhaps with some of the big circuses. The Dayton family will appear at Lakeview every afternoon at 1 o'clock and every evening at 8 o'clock giving their remarkable exhibition on the outdoor stage. The usual fine moving picture program is shown in the theatre every afternoon and evening with an entire change of program Sunday, Monday and Thursday.

CANOBIE LAKE PARK
A free band concert by the Haverhill Military band will be the offering at Canobie Lake Park theatre tomorrow afternoon between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock when the theatre will be thrown wide open and one of the best selection of programs presented. Few bands in New England can equal the Haverhill Military band which is known for its brilliant soloists and ensemble numbers wherever good band music is recognized and for that reason there will undoubtedly be a large attendance at this special Sunday concert from this city.

The opening of the regular theatrical season at the theatre will occur next Monday when for a full week, playing matinee and evening, the management will offer the famous Boston Opera Singers and Dancing Girls. This is undoubtedly one of the biggest musical treats ever offered at a summer park and still more phenomenal are the most ridiculous prices of admission. With such world-famous artists as Maria De Gabb, Giovanni Gatti, Marie Kitchner, Rodolfo Fornari and E. Lutton in concert selections in English and the dainty perspicuous artistry of such dancers as Ruth Ramsdell, Georgia Leonard and Katherine Sadler, the presentation of this big company should create a furore among the music lovers of this city and it is not too much to predict that the care to and from this city will be well

Another good and more simple remedy is to rub a little olive oil into the scalp each night before retiring. Do not use much and do not get it on the hair.

There is also a recipe with which Fortens has had very good results: Tincture of cantharides one ounce; liquid ammonia one dram; glycerine one-half ounce; oil of thyme one-half ounce; rosemary or oil-balm dram. Mix all together with six ounces of rose water. Rub the scalp thoroughly with the preparation every day until the dandruff disappears.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

Another good and more simple remedy is to rub a little olive oil into the scalp each night before retiring. Do not use much and do not get it on the hair.

Here is also a recipe with which Hortense has had very good results: Tincture of cathartides one ounce; liquid ammonia one dram; glycerine one-half ounce; oil of thyme one-half ounce; rosemary oil one-half dram. Mix all together with six ounces of rose water. Rub the scalp thoroughly with the preparation every day until the dandruff disappears.

Blackheads and pimples, Hortense says, tend to spoil any attempt at beauty, so long as they are allowed to mar an otherwise clear complexion. She says to cleanse the face every night with the following cleansing cream, and after the cream is all wiped off, bathe the face with hot water, then dry and apply the pimple lotion: Oil of sweet almonds four ounces; white wax one ounce; white vaseline one ounce; extract of violet ten drops. For a pimple lotion use an ounce of spirit of camphor.

Every morning use the toilet water I am giving you, on the face instead of ordinary water. Once a week steam the face, then press out the blackheads with a Billa instrument that comes for the purpose. Then bathe with cold water or the occasional use of salt will whiten the teeth. If your teeth are covered with tartar, you should go to a dentist and have it removed before it causes decay.

A splendid tooth wash is made as follows: White castile soap one ounce; tincture of cardamon two drams; tincture of assarum two drams; oil of peppermint one-half dram; oil of cloves five drops; oil of cassia five drops; glycerine four ounces; alcohol fourteen ounces; water fourteen ounces. Use diluted with water.

Warm water is better than cold water for the teeth, because it is a solvent. With the water you should use a tooth paste or powder to produce friction.

Have you noticed how the color of your eyes change with the weather and with the clothes you wear? With almost everything but the eyes it takes contrast to bring out the color. For instance a portrait of a blonde woman almost invariably has blue in the background, and somewhere about the portrait of a brunette you will find pink or red blended to accentuate the dark skin and hair.

A blue hat or veil casts a blue shade over the face, so that the sweetest natural complexion will appear as if painted. You can make your blue or grey blue eyes deeper in color if you like. If you wear a blue facing or much blue trimming upon your hat, the same shade will be reflected in your eyes. The darker the blue the darker the eyes.

When hands are chapped and grimy from housework rub them with a little cotton tallow and wipe with a soft cloth, says Hortense. Then wash them in soap and water and rub over a slice of lemon, and they will be as fair and white as if you never handled a broom or washed pots and kettles in your whole life.

When the hands perspire, use a few drops of ammonia in the water when bathing them, and rub them several times a day with this lotion: Five parts each of borax and borie acid and fifteen parts each of salicylic acid and glycerine in thirty parts of alcohol. Never try to push back the cuticle of the nails before softening it with warm, soapy water, cold cream or warm olive oil.

Just at this time of year, when every woman wants her neck to look lovely I noticed that my neck was showing traces of yellow. I turned to Hortense for sympathy but got advice instead. She said to cleanse it with warm soapy water, rinse with clean warm water and then to massage cocoa butter or olive oil into it. The juice of lemon is good to bleach it white again and the oil brings back the soft velvety appearance. Oatmeal bread bags whiten the skin and give it softness besides imparting a delicate fragrance.

Make the bags of cheesecloth about four inches square, and fill loosely with the following mixture: Oatmeal five pounds; powdered orris root one pound; almond meal, one pound; powdered castile soap one-half pound.

TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS

"My last summer's gowns are badly spotted, I think with grease," lamented Marjorie. "If I cannot get the spots out I shall have absolutely nothing to wear in the coming hot weather."

Fats and oils may be dissolved in water containing soap, borax, or ammonia, and in kerosene, gasoline, naphtha, benzine, ether, chloroform, alcohol or turpentine."

"In removing a grease spot it is best to try an absorbent, for the absorbents are all harmless to materials and easily applied. Flour or cornstarch sprinkled on linen immediately will remove all spots. It should be left on for several hours, but a warm iron placed on a cloth over the powder and left until cold will hasten the process."

"Turpentine or any of the other solvents may be used with an absorbent powder to make a paste for spreading over the spot. "Chloroform and ether are best for removing grease from delicate fabric. Alcohol also dissolves grease, but often affects colors. A mixture of equal parts of the three is often most effective. Kerosene does not evaporate completely, so must be followed by an absorbent or soap and water. Gasoline is best for most purposes, since it is inexpensive, quickly effective and evaporates rapidly. All of these solvents are highly inflammable and must be handled with great care."

WHITE WAY EXTENSION

MIDDLESEX STREET RESIDENTS
WILL CELEBRATE ON MONDAY
NIGHT—WILL HAVE PARADE

The members of the Merchants Improvement association of upper Middlesex street met in the rooms of the Middlesex Social club last night for the purpose of making arrangements for the white way celebration planned for Monday evening. In the absence of the president, Harry C. Clapp, the meeting was presided over by Joseph Kaplan. It was voted to decorate the street poles and burn red fire, etc. There will be a short parade, after which the band will give open air concerts along the street. Adelard Berard and Thomas J. Fitzgerald, who had been appointed a committee to look after the financial end of the celebration reported that they were meeting with success among the merchants. Conrad brothers were named as a committee on music.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

An enthusiastic meeting of Court General Dilmor, Foresters of America, was held last evening in Grafton hall. Important business was transacted and the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: Chief Ranger, Francis Murphy; sub chief ranger, Hector Gill; recording secretary, Joseph Lorrain; senior woodward, Michael Daly; senior beadle, Bernard Burt; junior beadle, Eugene Boulger. After routine business, remarks were made by Chief Ranger-elect Murphy, Deputy Dennis J. Murphy and Court Deputy John Barrett. A social hour followed the meeting.

Wamelet Lodge, K. of P.
The regular meeting of Wamelet lodge, K. of P., was held last evening with Chancery Commander Maurice Johnson in the chair. A large amount of important and routine business was transacted and there were remarks by various members. The rank of knight will be worked, full form, on a class of esquires by Wamelet lodge on next Friday evening.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE
FOR THE LITTLE READERS OF THE SUN

THE DISCONTENTED SWAN

Once upon a time there was a little white swan that lived, not on a nice pond or lake, but on the mantelpiece in a large room. It was a happy swan, in spite of the fact that it could not swim, as its sisters and brothers did, for this swan's feet were curled up under its wings and it could not move them. Nearly all the time it held some flowers in a round hole on its back and the swan and the flowers talked together a great deal, so he was never lonesome.

A little girl lived in the house and often she would come into the room and look at the swan and tease her mother to let her play with it, but her mother told her it was not to play with, but just to look at. After that, each morning, the girl would come and talk to the white swan and soon the swan grew to watch for her coming, and would try to get as near the edge of the mantle as it could.

After a time the swan grew discontented and wanted to join the other swans and learn to swim in the nice cool water and to be fed by the children. One day it managed to work itself quite near the edge of the mantle, and when the girl came to talk to it, she could see it much better than she had been able to before. So she stayed and talked to it a long time and told it all about her trip to the Public Gardens the day before and how she had fed two big white swans. This made the swan more than ever discontented and it worked itself further toward the edge of the mantle.

The next morning cook came in to dust the room before breakfast, and when she saw the white swan so near the edge of the mantle she started to dust it and put it back in its place. As she lifted it the swan decided this was the very time to try and join its friends, so it made one desperate attempt to get away and crash it went down on to the tiled hearth and broke into a hundred pieces.

Poor cook was badly frightened for she had never broken anything before and she thought it all her fault, for, of course, she didn't know that the swan was trying to get away. So she swept up the pieces and carried them out into the kitchen and threw them in the waste basket where they lay when the little girl came down for breakfast. When she discovered that the swan was gone she told cook that she knew the swan had gone away to join the big white swans in the Public Garden, but cook only smiled and looked at the waste basket.

ties at the Commonwealth pier, is one of the most striking assertions contained in the report of Engineer Guy C. Emerson on the Commonwealth pier contract now pending before Attorney-General Atwell.

This statement, illuminating as it does some of the methods used under the Pier 5 contract, was submitted in a report to the old directors of the port on March 29, 1914, when some of the work was under way.

FOUR MEN AND A BOY DROWNED
IN STORM WHICH SWEEPED NORTH SHORE

ST. JOHN, N. B. June 26—Four men and a boy were drowned in the recent storm which swept the north shore. They were the crew of a small fishing smack owned and commanded by Jean Machey of Isle LeMouque.

While the storm was raging late Wednesday, residents of Abashtnac saw the vessel rolling the huge waves. The high seas prevented an attempt at rescue and when morning came the craft was far up on the beach. The bodies, clad in oilskins, were floating in the cabin, which was full of water.

LEGAL NOTICES

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Margaret Hardy, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, Charles E. Worden, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, on the twentieth day of July, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, thirty days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this eighteenth day of June, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:

Respectfully I beg and represents Jean M. Wilson, of Melrose, in said County, that she was lawfully married to Warren F. Wilson, now of St. Paul, Minnesota, at said St. Paul, on the second day of February, A. D. 1910, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Warren F. Wilson never lived together as husband and wife in the said County of Middlesex.

And that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but that the said Warren F. Wilson, being wholly regardless of the same, at said Melrose, on or about June 1, 1910, unlawfully deserted her and has continued such desertion for more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel.

That on or about May 25, 1910, at said St. Paul and on divers other times the libellee was guilty of cruel and abusive treatment of your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Warren F. Wilson, and that your libellant may be allowed to resume her maiden name of Jean M. Woodman.

Witness my hand and seal this fourteenth day of June, A. D. 1915.

JEAN M. WILSON.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Superior Court.

Upon the foregoing libel, it is ordered that the libellant notify the libellee to appear before our Justices of the Court at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Monday of August next, by causing an attested copy of said libel and of the order thereon to be published in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in said County of Middlesex once a week, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said Court, and to deliver a copy of said libel and of the order thereon to be sent by registered letter to the residence of the libellee as set out in the libel, and to file with and there show cause, if any he have, why the prayer in said libel set forth should not be granted.

Witness my hand and seal this day of June, A. D. 1915.

A true copy of the libel and of the order thereon.

WM. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Margaret Hardy, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, John Tannabill, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fourth day of September, A. D. 1915, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate sixty days at least before said Court.

Witness, John Tannabill, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-fifth day of June, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

LATE WAR NEWS

pean chess board. It is conceded that this move is Germany's and that it may be made either against Warsaw, Paris or Calais.

Some German activity has been reported in the Argonne which may indicate a drive in the direction of Paris, but the closing of the Belgian front may mean the transfer of veterans from the eastern front for another attempt to break through to the English channel. Many persons believe, however, that no great offensive movement will be attempted along the western front until another effort has been made to reach Warsaw against which position the Germans are said to be bringing big guns from Esau.

Turks Suffer Enormous Losses

No great activity is to be noted along any of the minor fronts. The Italians claim to be engaged in consolidating the positions they have won along the river Isonzo, while from the Dardanelles come reports of enormous losses suffered by the Turks in defending the peninsula from the attacks of the allies.

Question of Munitions

The question of munitions is still absorbing public attention in England. The house of commons has been assured by Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, that Great Britain has sufficient high explosives for her own use, and that she need have no concern over her food supplies, but that the requirements for shells are still acute.

TURKISH WAR OFFICE REPORTS SUCCESS NEAR SEDDUL BAHR

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 25, via wireless to Berlin and London, June 26, 8:25 a. m.—The Turkish war office said: "During the night of the 23d one of our right wing patrols surprised and destroyed an enemy party near Seddul Bahr, putting their machine guns out of action besides capturing rifles, ammunition and other war booty."

ITALIANS ADVANCING ALONG THE ISONZO RIVER, SAYS ROME

ROME, June 25, via Paris, June 26, 2:45 a. m.—The official statement issued tonight at the headquarters of the Italian general staff was as follows: "Our reconnaissance extended beyond the front in the Tyrol-Trentine region, in Cadore and Canola indicate increased activity on the part of the enemy in the work of reinforcing and placing new batteries. We are frustrating this work by the efficacious fire of our artillery and the bold operations of small detachments."

"In Carniola on the night of June 24-25 the enemy vainly renewed his attacks against our line from Val Grande to Val Piccola."

"Our operations along the Isonzo are developing methodically in spite of the manifold natural difficulties of the ground and the many artificial obstacles skillfully accumulated for a long period and placed by the enemy. Our infantry supported by the fire of field and heavy batteries, advances bravely and tenaciously, however."

"An Austrian battery which for some days has been disturbing our troops by its fire, causing especially serious damage to villages, with injuries to the inhabitants, was located today and became the object of a well directed fire from our artillery. Immediately afterwards a large white flag with a red cross was hoisted from a villa near the location of the battery, with the evident purpose of deceiving and deceiving us and stopping our fire."

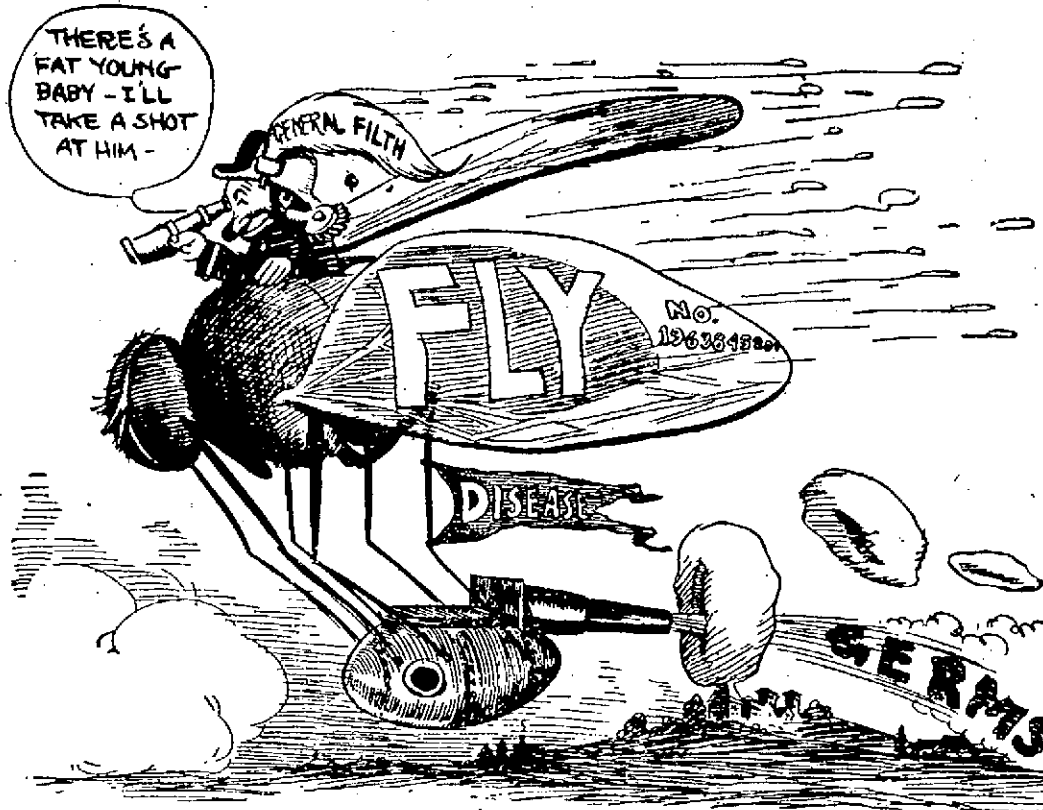

TRAINS LOADED WITH GUNS LEFT ESSEN FOR GERMAN FRONT IN POLAND

LONDON, June 26, 10:30 a. m.—A Central News despatch from Amsterdam says several trains loaded with heavy guns have left Essen for the German front on the Bure river in Poland, where it is believed they will be used in advance against Warsaw.

FEATURES OF LAST NIGHT'S EUROPEAN WAR NEWS IN BRIEF

FORM

Russians drive Germans back across Dniester river near Halicz, 65 miles southeast of Lemberg. Vienna reports capture of town on the Dniester, and Russian retreat in Poland. French gain ground near Souchez and throw back strong German assault on the Meuse. Berlin claims successes in hand-to-hand fight south of Souchez and capture of trenches in Argonne and heights of the Meuse. Italian columns press toward Trav-Is, along Napoleon's path to Vienna. France begins task of feeding starving Luxemburg.

As Destructive and Dangerous as Any Warring Airship

THE SPELLBINDER

As a result of yesterday's meeting the municipal council has voted to have Mr. Denman's company construct a bridge under certain conditions, and after certain approval of the plans, but the only mention of the cost of that bridge is that the company shall receive $107.5. The estimated total cost of the bridge is not set down in black and white, nor is the constructing company bound by any bond to live within a certain appropriation. It is supposed on the unvarnished estimate of the engineer who wants to do the work, that the cost will be within $30,000. At a previous meeting there was talk of $75,000 as the total amount, but at yesterday's meeting the figures went back to $50,000.

The proceedings of the municipal council in this matter got to be almost disgusting. Even Mr. Denman, in whose behalf all the fighting is being waged, became so disgusted at yesterday's meeting that he jumped from his seat and went out into the corridor where he walked up and down for a minute after which he resumed his seat at the meeting and whistled audibly while the meeting was in progress. Some men while there was excited. There's too much Mr. Denman at those proceedings at city hall. He came here originally as an engineer in the employ of a company desirous of building a bridge, but when the company appears to have been eliminated and it's all Mr. Denman. The latter may be a first class engineer and may know his particular line of business, but—

Our municipal council must be badly in need of advice when it requires the service of Mr. Denman to tell it how to word motions, or to interpret the charter, or even to suggest how the charter might be evaded. It was really amusing to hear Mr. Denman at yesterday's meeting suggest to Commissioner Duncan, the commissioner of finance, and a lawyer into the bargain, how he might proceed to borrow money at once, without waiting to learn just what total sum would be needed. Prior to that when Commissioner Duncan attempted to explain that under the charter the city cannot proceed with the building of a bridge or any other public improvement until the money to meet its cost was in sight, Mr. Denman interrupted him in the middle of a sentence, whereupon Commissioner Duncan promptly informed him that he was discussing the charter and not bridges. Mr. Denman, who is a perfect gentleman even when vented politely apologized and subsided temporarily.

Commissioner Duncan toward the close of the discussion, when it was urged by the mayor that the council proceed to vote upon the matter without waiting to learn what the street railroad would contribute, made the statement that he desired to see just how much the company would give, whether it be $5000 or $12,000, because the more the railroad gave, the less the city would be forced to borrow. Before the commissioner could complete his statement, Mr. Denman was on his feet with the suggestion: "But Mr. Duncan you won't need to borrow the entire amount at once." Commissioner Duncan retorted that he wasn't borrowing money placement at a high rate of interest, which would be decidedly unbusinesslike.

Said Mr. Denman also: "I have nothing to say against Mr. Denman or his style of bridge, but I want the bridge built in a business-like manner and built legally."

The Bridge Muddle

The anxiety of Mayor Murphy, Commissioner Morse and Engineer Denman to have this bridge put through without "watts or delays" is really terrific. One can readily see the reason for Mr. Denman's anxiety. It's his business. Commissioner Carmichael stated at the meeting that one of the engineers with whom he talked relative to Mr. Denman had informed him that Mr. Denman was a "bridge seller."

A week or more ago they were ready to vote to build a bridge at once, and in fact all the members voted on a motion providing for the purchase of the steel, yet at yesterday's meeting Mayor Murphy read a communication from the harbor and land commissioner setting a date for a hearing in Boston, on whether they are to have permission to build a bridge at that point. Thus the municipal council really voted to start the bridge before they had been given permission to do so. Since then Messrs. Carmichael, Duncan and Putnam have shown a more commendable disposition to proceed with less haste and more regard for business procedure, and hence the latest wrangling. Mayor Murphy at yesterday's meeting strenuously opposed waiting any had to offer, content to borrow money than would be necessary, in the event of the railroad making a substantial contribution. Yet His Honor was vigorously opposed to having Engineer Denman's plan first approved by Engineer Swan on the ground that the expense of Engineer Swan's services would be too great. Commissioner Duncan reminded the mayor that he was on a committee appointed two or three weeks ago to get in touch with the street railway people and that the committee hadn't done its business. His Honor stated that Mr. Sullivan had made an appointment and then went out of town on other business. "I don't care what the street railway company does," exclaimed Mayor Murphy. "We can refuse them a franchise over the bridge."

An Unanswered Question

"Is the cost of the excavating of that ledge included in the $50,000?" was a simple question asked by Commissioner Duncan at yesterday's meeting, and after an hour of continuous discussion of wide range the municipal council adjourned without answering it. It seems that the Locks and Canals company is looking over what plans Mr. Denman has presented for excavation of a ledge in the bed of the river and believed that it should be removed before it could sanction the plans. Commissioner Morse stated that he was prepared to put a stone crusher in the river bed and have the work immediately. He explained the detail of the work and stated also that some of the stone taken there could be used on the construction of the foundation and thus save a little money.

"Is the cost of that excavating included in the $50,000?" asked Commissioner Duncan. Commissioner Morse proceeded to explain further how much could be saved by using the stone. Once more Commissioner Duncan repeated his question, whereupon Mr. Denman was appealed to and he in reply told what he thought might be done with the stone and said that since talking with Mr. Morse, Mr. Badger, of the Locks and Canals company had modified his views relative to the ledge. Mr. Badger was called in but he declined to give any estimate as to the cost of the ledge work. The matter was discussed at length. Mr. Denman, very much in it and someone said that the work would cost about $2500, but that a rebate would be obtainable by the use of the stone in the foundation. But nobody ventured to answer the question as to whether the cost, be it $2500 or two million is included in the $50,000 and we don't know now whether it will be charged up to Pawtucket bridge, street maintenance or paving.

Commissioner Duncan's Point

Commissioner Duncan's contention that the entire amount of money needed must be estimated and appropriated before the work can start is one of the most sensible things that has come up in the entire discussion. Commissioner Duncan is trying to have some respect paid to section 32 of the charter which in part reads: "No expenditure shall be made of liability incurred by or in behalf of the city until the municipal council has duly voted an appropriation sufficient to meet such expenditure or liability."

In connection with this part of the discussion Col. Carmichael brought out another interesting matter that apparently has been lost sight of, the city's protection in the matter. Mr. Denman having intimated that his company would give no bond in the matter Col. Carmichael said: "When after that $50,000 bridge is built and it is not satisfactory there is no person that the city can fall back on."

May He Be Right

As things look just now the good people will have to wait a little while before getting their bridge, though only long enough to have the municipal council act in strict accordance with law and fairly good business procedure. The attitude of Commissioners Duncan and Putnam appears to be that while they are perfectly willing that Mr. Denman shall construct the bridge he must do it under certain conditions, while from Col. Carmichael's attitude, it is judged that the colonel wants competition and is not favorably impressed with the idea of having Mr. Denman as the sole tender and supreme supervisor.

Drawing an Inference

"How can a newspaper make a statement as to another's present intentions when the person referred to has not expressed them?" That's a question that has been asked since it was announced in this column that Mayor Murphy would probably be a candidate for the office of mayor, despite the fact that he has given his word already that he would not be, and furthermore as he has not as yet expressed himself as to his future plans. One can infer from the mayor's utterances and his public acts what his intentions are. The politicians didn't take the mayor seriously when he announced that one term was enough for any man, though many others did and gained many votes by the statement. When His Honor expressed sympathy for the underpaid health department employees and contempt for the politicians of the police department, there were some who thought he was only giving campaign talk, and hence were not surprised when soon after assuming office he gave the police an additional day off and allowed the health department employees to wait a year without their promised increase.

Those campaign statements are sometimes to be taken with a grain of salt, but it is a different proposition when a duly elected public official makes statements. He is supposed to say what he means at all times, and say what is absolutely accurate to the best of his knowledge and belief. Mayor Murphy once said that he would not be a candidate for a second term. Therefore, why should that statement be doubted?

He has advocated certain changes within the next few years, "regardless of whether he will or will not be mayor." This would indicate that he is willing to run on the basis that he has forgotten his one-term statement. In his first inaugural he quoted certain financial statements which he afterward found were not accurate. Early in his administration he promised the board of trade to reduce the cost of lighting $25,000, but instead of reducing it has increased it about $25,000.

When the municipal council was "shown up" last year, when it attempted to use the John Davis and Perpetual Care funds for current expenses Mayor Murphy made a statement placing the responsibility upon one of the members, and immediately after his statement Col. Carmichael came forth explaining that every member of the government, including the mayor, was equally responsible for the act.

Mayor Murphy announced early that he did not intend to attend any entertainments or social functions, and now he seldom misses one. His Honor strongly recommended that all increases of salaries be made by the commissioners before the annual appropriations were made. Yet His Honor has increased more salaries since the appropriations were made than any, if not all, of the commissioners.

At the high school graduation Mayor Murphy is reported to have said that next year's exercises will be held in a new high school when His Honor knows that the site for that school has not been selected as yet and the school cannot be finished next year.

In his inaugural address Mayor Murphy strongly recommended the extension of Dummer street but quickly dropped it for the more popular bridge matter.

Mayor Murphy made certain statements concerning the Gow Contracting company which resulted in an emphatic letter from that company demanding that he withdraw his statements, which he did.

Mayor Murphy made certain statements concerning a bridge at Worcester quite recently, which were found to be woefully in need of revision. Interfere by the members of the municipal council visited Worcester themselves.

These are a few of the careless statements made by His Honor and with them in mind one is at liberty to infer that when His Honor stated that he would not be a candidate for a second term he was equally careless, and didn't mean what he said.

The Contagious Disease Hospital

In two months' time the law states that Lowell must erect a contagious disease hospital, while there is no limit set by law for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. The people of Pawtucketville as well as the municipal council will thus be given something to discuss to take the place of the bridge matter for opinion differ in that interesting suburb as to whether a contagious disease hospital is a welcome acquisition to the institutions of that section.

A SUE Percentage

Col. Carmichael called attention at yesterday's meeting to the fact that the city was paying the Luten company $3 per cent for supervising the building of the bridge and Mr. Denman then explained that this amount included the expense of placing the steel on the job. One would imagine that the company in estimating the cost of the steel would include the placing of it, in that cost, rather than under the head of a matter which would appear to be entirely foreign to it, such as the supervision of construction.

Missed An Opportunity

When Col. Carmichael intimated that he wasn't any too favorably impressed with Engineer Denman as a bridge engineer, Mayor Murphy, who is the champion of the Springfield man had an opportunity to come back by reading the letter that he is said to have received from Mayor Crowley, of Nashua, relative to the Hudson bridge, which Mr. Denman's company built, assuming that the letter had something favorable to the company in its contents. The letter wasn't read.

The pulmotor, which an intelligent public safety department insists on keeping at the police station instead of on the ambulance, like the race horse that didn't finish, "also ran" in yesterday's admission accident. The victim who was in a precarious condition was taken from Ludd street and rushed to St. John's hospital in the ambulance where Drs. Barry and O'Brien by prompt and strenuous treatment brought him around again. About the time that the victim was regaining consciousness the police patrol arrived at the hospital with the pulmotor.

BIG OPIUM RAID

30 Cans of Drug Found
Buried at Canton—
Two Arrested

BOSTON, June 26.—One of the largest seizures of opium that has taken place in Massachusetts for many years was announced yesterday afternoon at the Federal building. The seizure took place May 17 and had been kept a profound secret until yesterday in order to make two arrests. The men under arrest, who later in the day appeared in the United States court before Judge Morion, pleading not guilty and being held for examination, are Matthew Flynn, 55 years old, of 4 Scott court, Charlestown, and Wong June, a well known restaurant keeper in the Chinese colony, who lives on Tyler street.

The federal authorities say that on the night of May 17 inspectors Owen P. McKenna and Thomas F. Finnegan, and one of the flying squadron raiders attached to the office of special treasury agent, Charles B. Dowd, went to Canton, arriving at midnight. They went in an automobile.

They found buried in the ground on a 12-acre farm 30 cans of opium. The cans bore the label of a Canton, China, house and the brand was of the very best. The opium cans, which had never been opened, were under shrubbery and trees that had recently been set.

TYNGSBORO

Will be One of the Features of Sacred Heart Lawn Fete on July 3

The only band concert in the city on the evening of July 3rd will be given at the Sacred Heart lawn fete, on the spacious rectory grounds, by the Lowell Cadet band. Mr. John J. Giblin, the efficient leader of the band, is at work on an elaborate program, which is to be largely patriotic. A chorus of fifty trained voices will also add to the enjoyment of those present. A list of old and new songs is being prepared, and a number of solos will be rendered. Several of these singers have already become favorites in the parish by means of their association with the church choir.

On the stroke of eight, a detonating bomb will be exploded. This will be the signal for lighting the hundreds of colored incandescents strung artistically among the trees and about the grounds. The current will be operated by means of a silver key in the hands of Very Reverend T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church. At the instant of lighting, the Lowell Cadet band will burst into the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner," and the big night will be on in full swing.

This lawn fete will be the second "at home" of the parish, and bids fair to rival its predecessor.

MONDAY'S SUN FEATURES

Women's Page, Fashion Cuts and Descriptions, Two Comic Features, Other Interesting Departments

Monday's Sun will be particularly interesting to the women readers because of the printing of the Women's Page on that day. This will include besides the usual fashion illustrations and descriptions, several special contributions.

How to wash delicate laces, wool blankets, cut glass ornaments and fine china, how to clean silver, and several other interesting and helpful bits of information will be found in "What the Cook Says."

"Setting the Dinner Table" will be discussed by "The French Maid." In "Milady's Boudoir" will give remedies for sunburn. For the children, "How the Gnome Helped" is the "Sleepytime Tale."

Interest begins Saturday, July 3rd, at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR HAIR

Even the healthiest head sheds hair all the time, but from such heads the only hairs that fall are the old worn-out ones which have done their work and outlived their usefulness and drop in order that new and vigorous hairs may sprout from the follicles they leave.

There never has been a time in the history of the human race when the possession of luxurious tresses was not an enviable condition. Not every woman can have beautiful, long, wavy hair, but if what she has is not glossy and healthy and well cared for, it is her own fault.

To begin with, the head should be shampooed just as often as it needs cleaning. The healthy head is the clean head, and just as much dirt and dust and germs settle on our heads as on our faces. There is nothing better for a shampoo than an egg and an ounce of water beaten together and rubbed into the scalp with the pads of the fingers. There is iron and sulphur in the yolk of the egg which feeds the hair roots.

After rubbing in the egg, wash it all out with warm water till there is not a particle left. Then give it a final rinse in cold water. Dry with warm towels, sunlight, massage and air. If there is a dry condition of the scalp, dip the tips of the fingers in olive oil, and parting the hair rub it well into the scalp.

The hair is so exquisite and so valuable a part of feminine beauty it should be treated with kindly consideration. As a matter of fact, it is often most woefully neglected and abused, covered as it is with hair from other heads and unventilated hats and being rubbed and scuffed and twisted and raked with harsh brushes in heavy hands and genuine hair splitting combs.

wanted the doctor to give him something to allay the pain. It did not take the doctor long to satisfy himself that the man was not suffering from sunburn and he felt sure from the first that it was pellagra. The man is now at the hospital and is very weak and emaciated.

Fitchburg Shutout 2-0 in Fast Game at Spalding ParkPaddy Green Pitched Great Ball—Allowed
But Three Hits

PITCHER GREEN

Europe laughed at the idea of land beyond the Atlantic, but Columbus discovered America; the public jeered at the thought of steam locomotion, yet the peace advocates said a year ago that war was impossible, but today there's quite a squabble in progress across the water, and some people thought that Lowell would never win in a ball game, but yesterday they came through at Spalding park and put over a well deserved 2-0 shutout on the Fitchburg club. And it was a mighty good ball game, too.

Paddy Green was the player upon whom the spotlight beamed in particular. Paddy pitched one of the finest games of his career, and he served up some very fine contests. He had everything that a successful mound artist could possibly call for and mixed 'em up in fine style.

The visitors were only able to connect with Green's delivery on three occasions, a triple and two singles, and found it impossible to follow these opportunities to score. He was invincible with men on base and ten batters took their final swing in vain.

Behind him the Lowell team played errorless ball and displayed quite a bit of life. All in all, it was one of the best games seen at the park this season, and the ladies' day crowd left the stands well satisfied.

Manager McCune in an effort to brace up his club has inaugurated a thorough shakeup in the batting order. Allie Moulton, who was recently released by the Lynn club is now playing at the pivot position for the Burgheers. Campbell, who played second base since the beginning of the season, is now being used at center field.

Lowell scored one run in the first inning after Fitchburg had been retired without a tally although Tucker's long throw to right looked dangerous for a moment.

Swayne's fly to right was muffed by Press and Frank took two sacks on the error. Fahey laid down a neat sacrifice bunt to the box and Swayne romped to the next station and scored when Harrows singled to right.

There was no more scoring in this inning although Ahearn smashed a vicious double to right. The session was closed with both second and third sacks occupied. That one run of the first inning began to loom big as the innings rolled by without the team pushing a runner around to second.

Lowell passed up a chance to push a counter across in the second inning. McGuinn reached on a single, but Green singled to left, placing him on second. The first baseman was sent home by the third base coach on Fahey's single to left and was an easy victim at the plate.

Green was working beautifully and in six innings had sent seven batters into retirement by strikes. Tucker was touched up frequently but could not be found or walked into safe territory when hits meant tallies. Young, the Burgheers' shortstop, played a wonderful game. He roamed between second and third like a veritable adventurer. Three times he knocked down sharp grounders that were speeding toward left field and looked like certain hits. It was the best job of shortstop tending that has been seen at the local park for quite a while.

In the seventh frame the locals pushed over the second run of the game. Ahearn led off with a sharp single to left and went to second on McGuinn's infield out. After Green had fielded Duggan, Swayne came through with a beauty to left. The blow was of one-base calibre but Ahearn raced for the scoring spot. Duggan's throw went by Gaston, allowing Ahearn to score easily while Swayne went to third. That was all, however, for Fahey was out with a boost to centre.

In the eighth and ninth Fitchburg found Green for a single but he immediately tightened up and was never in danger. The score:

BASEBALL NOTES

George Burns, the Giants' crack outfielder, poked out a triple, a double and a single against the Braves. For the past several weeks Burns has been a batting slump and McGraw was greatly worried over it. It looks as if he would be up with the leading sluggers another season, though.

The Western league is the latest baseball organization to call a session of its team owners owing to financial distress. It was voted last night to play until the schedule agreed upon. President O'Neil said that fair weather would pull the league through O. R. Do you suppose that good weather will help our little circuit to that extent?

AMATEUR BASEBALL

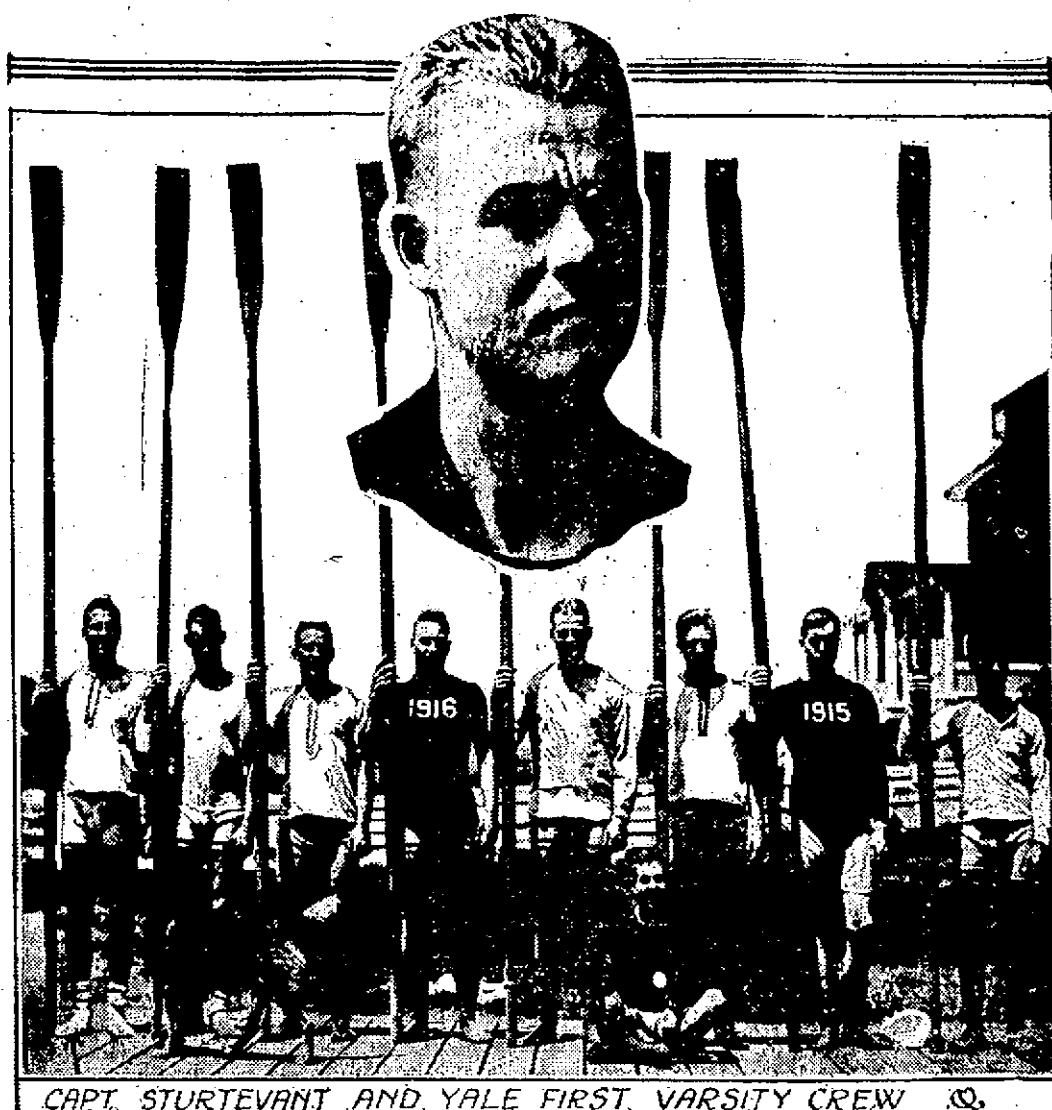

The O. M. I. Cadets, although only 14 and 15 years old, challenge the Emeralds for a game any Saturday on the Shedd Park grounds. Any other team desiring a challenge from the Cadets must arrange a game early. The Athletics, who wanted a game for June 26th will be challenged July 3d. The Cadets are anxious for a game with Ewara, Sharps, Pels or the St. Columba. All challenges should be answered through The Sun or by writing to Manager R. O'Shea.

N. E. LEAGUE BATTERS

The official figures up to Thursday find Farrell of Portland still leading the New England league batters with an average of .350. Warner of Lawrence follows Farrell with .336. Snubner Greenhalge is the third man on the list with a mark of .333. Barrows is hitting for .308 and Swayne for .287.

CAPT. STURTEVANT AND YALE FIRST VARSITY CREW

Blue Wins All Important Races on Thames, Taking in Turn Junior,
Varsity and Freshman Events—Elis
Senior Eight Goes Away in the Lead and is Never Headed

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 26.—Yale's varsity crew beat Harvard's last evening by five good lengths and true. Nearly half a minute separated the eight at the finish, and the official timers bent over their chronometers with all the gravity of a group of physicians at a consultation. Yale did the course in 20 minutes, 52 seconds. Harvard took 21 minutes, 13.5 seconds. The Eli boat, full of brown and brawny oarsmen, beat Harvard in the first 10 seconds of the big race. A racing start that shot the prow of the Yale shell a little ahead ended the battle for the proteges of Jim Wray, Bob Herick and the numerous coaches of the Crimson advisory board.

Rehild from Start to Finish

Harvard was trimmed at the start and from that moment the Yale shell was never behind, never on even terms with Harvard's.

The Elis, at a matter of blue-hued history, swept the river yesterday. The Yale second crew nosed out Harvard's by a half length in the morning. The Blue freshmen trounced the Harvard youngsters by three lengths in the evening's dusk, an hour after the 'varsity event. The pupils of the astute Englishman, Guy Nickalls, with their long, powerful English stroke, pushed to the front in three businesslike events. And the 'varsity race, above both the others was the bitterest pill of all.

Did Not Show a Real Sprint

Harvard succumbed in the big race without showing a real sprint. This was the most remarkable feature of the entire day. Yale, once ahead, kept increasing her lead simply by the power and strength of her sweeping stroke. There was nothing of hurry or excitement in the Eli style. Strong, reliant, powerful and in perfect rhythm, her premier oarsman rowed up the river. Behind, Harvard might have been expected to quicken her stroke, to stake all on one dashing sprint, but the sprint never came.

At the end, Lund, her stroke, and Cabot, No. 7, fopped over in the boat. A couple of Elis showed distress, but Lund's collapse after a race in which Harvard's had almost exactly duplicated Yale's stroke time was significant. In that it showed the difference in the power of the Elis and the relative rowing strength of the two big crews.

Got to Hand It to Nickalls

Down along the Thames last night a horde of so-called experts were saying: "Well, you've got to hand it to Guy Nickalls."

A few years ago these same experts were saying the same thing of Jim Wray. They might be saying it again last night, no doubt, were Wray the Wray of old, in power and influence, but Wray was not beaten yesterday afternoon. Instead it was the Harvard rowing system, of which Wray has come to be, we understand, only a lay

As Kipling says, however, that is another story. Harvard was beaten, beaten from the half-mile mark, beaten from the 100-yard line, beaten, as we have indicated, from the moment that the scampers start found her crew a few feet behind.

Yale Coxswain Stands Up in Boat

When the Yale shell shot across the finish line Coxswain McLane was standing up, cheering on his rowers, like a Roman chariot driver urging his steeds to further speed. His words of praise fell on deaf ears in several cases, for Wiman and Meyers toppled forward, while Capt. Sturtevant had to grasp the gunwale to keep from falling backward. Other members of the crew splashed them with water and soon they joined in cheering the Crimson eight, floating close by.

Harvard was slower to recover, for the sting of defeat was added to the physical exhaustion following the fruitless, up-stream chase after their conquerors. Stroke Lund, victorious pace-maker in nine races for Harvard, including those on the English Henley course, collapsed as his oar trailed past the finish posts. At his back Cabot, No. 7, followed suit, and in the waist of the shell, Harwood, No. 4, slumped down, while tired hands scooped water over the sides on the gasping oarsmen, who slowly sat up under the refreshing showers.

Race in Fairly Rough Water

The race was rowed in fairly rough water. Indeed it was postponed an hour because of the condition of the river, and when it was finally called at 5.45 conditions were none too good. Again the experts failed, for they had picked Harvard as a rough water crew, likely to beat Yale by a greater distance under somewhat unfavorable conditions.

The rough water bothered Yale. The Elis rowed a perfect race, and a plowing ahead as if they were the only crew on the Thames, sturdy and strong, and strongly reminiscent of the first crews of the Wray regime.

A greater throng of people saw the water battle than has ever gathered at New London before. The hillsides were thronged with spectators. The roadways were choked with machines. The observation trains were packed to the gunwales with cheering constituents of the Crimson and the Blue.

The make-up of the two crews in the 'varsity race was:

Yale—Stroke, Wiman, No. 7; Moyer, No. 5; Sturtevant (captain), No. 3; Sheldon, No. 4; Lowe, No. 3; Ben-

We've broken the ice again and let's keep right on winning. Our boys played baseball all the way through and a better ball game couldn't be asked for.

Paddy Green in past seasons has been a very hard pitcher to head off once he got started on a stretch of victories. Here's hoping Paddy's win yesterday was the beginning of a row of defeats for the clubs he faces.

Lowell plays only two games at home next week. Portland will come to town Monday for a two game series and the local club will leave Wednesday morning for the Maine cities where they will play the rest of the week.

Once more it is reported that the Manchester club is to be shifted to this time Greenfield is the city selected by the author of the rumor. Jack Kieran, manager of the Queen City team, said last night that he knew nothing about the proposed transfer, however.

There'll be a rush for the services of Dan Tiple, the sensational pitcher of the Indianapolis American association team. This youngster shut out Cleveland yesterday without yielding a hit. His league scouts are already camped on his trail and Tiple will probably be sold outright before the conclusion of the season.

More than a hundred thousand spectators gathered today to witness the 500-mile road race at the Chicago auto speedway. The drivers were sent off at 10 o'clock; $25,000 in prizes attracted the world's greatest racing guides to the contest.

Babe Ruth has always been rated as a dangerous hitter ever since he joined the Red Sox last season, but his sluck work yesterday against the Tanks boosted his reputation as a power notch. A home run with two men on base and a single were his contributions with the wilow.

Wild Bill Donovan has showed that he is eminently fitted to manage a major league club but he has also demonstrated just as conclusively that he is not able to take his turn, or that of any other pitcher in the box. Tris Speaker trotted out and grasped Wild Bill by the hand when he went on to the mound in the fourth inning of yesterday's game and results showed that Tris diagnosed the situation correctly.

That was a terrible lacing for Harvard's crew to suffer at the hands of the Eli oarsmen. The overwhelming defeat probably means that Coach Wray has coached his last crew at Harvard. There has been considerable unpleasantness between Wray and those in charge of the Crimson athletics during the past months and the state of affairs did not tend to help matters any.

The tryouts for the A. A. U. national championships at the coast this season were held at the Harvard Stadium this afternoon and an unusually large list of entries competed. College clubs and prep schools were all represented.

LEADING BATTERS

Cobb Still Leads American League; Luderus, National

CHICAGO, June 26.—Ty Cobb has allowed his batting average to slip below .400 for the first time since he gained the leadership of the American league this season, according to averages compiled here today, including the records of last Wednesday. Cobb maintains his place in front in his circuit, but the batting slump Jake Daubert sustained in the recent Chicago series lost the Brooklyn star first place in the National league to Fred Luderus of Philadelphia.

American league leaders, counting only those who have taken part in at least half of the games their teams have played, are:

Cobb, Detroit, .397; Fournier, Chicago, .380; Jackson, Cleveland, .344; Crawford, Detroit, .324; E. Collins, Chicago, .323; Lajoie, Philadelphia, .312; Veach, Detroit, .311; Pipp, New York, .306. In team batting Chicago with .267 and Detroit with .256 lead.

Crawford has wrested honors in base hits from Cobb with total bases numbering 115 to 113, but Cobb still leads in stolen bases with 44, and in runs scored with 65. Oldring, Philadelphia, and Caldwell, New York, lead in home runs with four each.

The 700 pitchers of the American league who have taken part in ten or more games are: Faber, Chicago, won 12 and lost 2; Scott, Chicago, 8 and 3; Bens, Chicago, 6 and 7; Foster, Boston, 5 and 3; Fliher, New York, 5 and 1.

In the National league the leading batters are:

Luderus, Philadelphia, .347; Daubert, Brooklyn, .340; J. Smith, Boston, .325; Merkle, New York, .325; Sailer, Chicago, .323; Good, Chicago, .323; Connolly, St. Louis, .320; Doyle, New York, .318. St. Louis has displaced New York in team hitting with .259 to the Giants' .257. Sater of Pittsburgh leads the base stealers with 15, and Cravath of Philadelphia in home runs with 12.

Leading pitchers are: Meadows, St. Louis, won 7 and lost 1; Pierce, Chicago, 6 and 1; Mamaux, Pittsburgh, 10 and 2; Alexander, Philadelphia, 12 and 3; Mayer, Philadelphia, 12 and 3; Ragan, Boston, 6 and 2.

HARVARD-YALE BALL GAME

NEW YORK, June 26.—For the third time this year the Harvard and Yale baseball teams were to meet again today at Eubeta field, Brooklyn. Although Harvard was the first two games, the second meeting of interest centered in the second meeting of Mahan and Wray, who were the rival box men at New Haven last Tuesday.

AT HARVARD STADIUM

BOSTON, June 26.—A thunder storm which soaked the track this forenoon, made it probable that no record would be broken at the try-outs at the Harvard stadium this afternoon for the selection of a team of eastern athletes to compete at the national meet at San Francisco in August. Nineteen events were scheduled.

BROOKLYN HANDICAP

Feature of Opening of Aqueduct Meeting at Gravesend Track Today

NEW YORK, June 26.—Although only seven horses were carded ever before at stakes in the Brooklyn handicap at one mile and a furlong today, the small field was composed of the highest class thoroughbreds in training. The event, which was inaugurated at the Gravesend track in 1887, featured the opening of the Aqueduct meeting.

Formerly the distance for this historic race was one and one-quarter miles, but this year it was a furlong less. The stake has a guaranteed purse of $5000 and the field included H. P. Whitney's Bortone, the Kentucky handicap winner, the Belmont pair, Rockview and Sam McMeekin; Emilier's English horse, Sherrigraun; Andrew Miller's Roamer, the Kentucky handicap winner, the Belmont pair, Addie M., a double winner at Belmont park this year, and R. T. Wilson's Tartar, which carries the lightest impost, 105 pounds.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 26.—Play in the national clay court tennis championship begins on the courts of the Pittsburgh Athletic association here this afternoon with many tennis stars of the country among the contestants. The tournament will continue until next Saturday.

There are 134 entries in the men's singles. The women's matches will not begin until early next week. Among the most prominent entries are R. Norval Williams, 2nd American amateur champion; George M. Church,

WILL THROW 200,000 OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

General Shutdown of Chicago's Building Industry — Beginning of Labor War

CHICAGO, June 26.—A general shutdown of Chicago's building industry, which it was said, will throw out of employment more than 200,000 workers, went into effect today.

The shutdown is regarded by contractors and labor leaders as the beginning of one of the greatest labor wars in recent years. The action was taken at a meeting last night of representatives of the allied building and material interests as an answer to the referendum vote of 16,000 striking carpenters, who overwhelmingly defeated the proposal to arbitrate all questions in dispute.

The carpenters have been on a strike since April 30, when their agreement with the Contractor Employers' association expired. The men had demanded a wage increase from $5c to 70c an hour.

By means of the shut down the employers, it was said, hope to prevent the independent carpenter contractors from obtaining supplies, and thus throw out of work the 10,000 carpenters who are working under individual agreements.

DOUBLE GUARD HIGHEST HONORS

Saloons Closed and Other Precautionary Measures at Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga., June 26.—Near-beer saloons were closed, the entire watch of police was held at stations for extra duty, and the guard of militia still surrounded Governor Slaton's home in an effort of the authorities to forestall today and tonight demonstrations of protest against the governor's commutation of Leo Frank's death sentence. The term of Governor Slaton expired at noon and crowds were in the city for the inauguration of Nat E. Harris.

The business section of the city was patrolled by a double watch of police today and 40 extra mounted men were sent to the capitol. Otherwise, to all outward appearances, the city was normal.

Mr. Harris has stated that the guard at Mr. Slaton's home will be doubled tonight and the guardmen said they were ordered while trying to enter the governor's estate.

26 Men Arrested

Twenty-six men were brought to the county jail here today by militia men guarding the country home of Gov. Slaton. The state guardsmen said they were arrested while trying to enter the governor's estate.

BILLERICA

The annual reception of the graduation class of the Howe high school of Billerica was held last evening in the town hall and the affair was a fitting climax to the season's exercises. Relatives and friends of the graduates attended in large numbers and took part in the splendid program prepared by the members of the class.

From 8 till 9 o'clock a reception was held with the receiving line made up of the members of the class, as follows: William J. A. Lyons, president; Dana Richardson, vice president; Miss Florence E. Nason, secretary; Miss Doris Perry, treasurer; Miss Grace Diggerstaff, Miss Bernice Dole, Miss Rachel M. Farmer, Richard F. Hadley, Miss Helen L. Hentz, Miss Theresa Lyons and Miss Alice Vernon. Shortly after 9 o'clock a grand march was begun with William J. A. Lyons and Miss Sonja Borg leading, followed by J. Dana Richardson and Miss Helen Ripley, John Gilman and Miss Florence E. Nason, Russell Turner and Miss Doris Perry and many other couples. Following the grand march dancing was enjoyed until midnight with Hubbard's orchestra furnishing the music.

The matrons were: Mrs. Frank Lyons, Mrs. John A. Richardson, Mrs. Nathaniel R. Lyons and Mrs. Herbert B. Hosmer.

Miss Agnes Jones was the head usher at the reception and was assisted by Miss Marietta Kearney, Miss Mary Cassidy, Miss Isabelle Chandler, Miss Doris Livingston, Miss Freda Thompson, Miss Mary Lyrrat, Miss Mariem Diggerstaff, Miss Eva Bartlett, Miss Winifred Fisk, Miss May Williams, Miss Bertha Parris and Miss Henrietta Baril.

DAMAGE BY TORNADO

ROUGH ESTIMATE PLACES LOSS AT $500,000—12 PERSONS SERIOUSLY INJURED

REDCLIFFE, Alberta, June 26.—A rough estimate of the damage wrought in Redcliffe by the tornado of last night fixed the total today at $500,000. No lives were lost, but 12 persons were seriously injured.

The storm seemed to strike the town from all directions. Buildings were leveled, roofs lifted and telephone poles blown down.

High School Class of Twelve Received Diplomas — Town Hall Filled With Friends of Graduates

Before an audience that filled the town hall to overflowing, the commencement exercises of the North Chelmsford high school were held last night. The fact that this was one of the largest and also one of the youngest graduating classes in the history of the school accounted for the large attendance, and besides the parents and friends from the village, there was a large number from Lowell and other surrounding towns who came to congratulate the graduates. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the class colors, green and gold, predominating in the color scheme, while the stage was a bower of beauty, with its twining lattice work, and greenery. At the rear of the stage, suspended in the midst of the elaborate decorations was the class motto, "Striving to Win," and in front of this were seated the graduates, Principal Arthur Trubey, Supt. Benj. E. Martin, and other school officials. The lower hall was also artistically decorated, and after the exercises the graduates were tendered a reception there, and refreshments were served. The program, even though it was of lengthy character, was so evenly balanced that it did not prove in the least tiresome, and the efforts of the graduates were given well merited applause by the large audience. All received handsome floral offerings and other tokens in honor of the happy occasion. The program which was started promptly at 8 o'clock was as follows:

Selection, orchestra, prayer, Rev. F. H. Reeves; "The Opening Door," John H. Valentine; "Thoughts in a Theatre," May J. Brown; song, "Victory," chorus; "The Manufacture of Inner Tubes," Warren E. Prince; "Baseball vs. Bullets," Willis L. McComb; "The Justice of the Jury," Arthur R. Nystrom; songs, "The Armorer," "The Bells of Seville," chorus; "How Some of the People Are Fooled All the Time," Herbert C. Reis; "The Dream of an Immigrant Child," Betty A. Nelson; "Our Nation's Emblem," Pauline W. Worden; "The Making of a Criminal," Leroy T. Lakin.

At this point in the program the following class song, written by John H. Valentine, one of the class leaders, was sung:

Passing years have quickly brought us
Faithful study, steady toiling,
Pushed us onward day by day,
Put aside your mathematics,
And your French, too, out of sight.
For the time is past for study—
This is graduation night.

Joyous hours we've spent together
Since as pupils first we came
To that dear old village high school
Where we started to make fame.
Life's bright future lies before us
Memories fond the heart will cheer;
Still a thought of sadness lingers,
And we part from those grown dear.

Fare ye well, then, O dear classmates,
Friends and teachers, fare ye well,
For we may no longer study,
In that school we loved so well,
Fare ye well, beloved classmates,
Now the parting time is here,
And we now no more shall enter
And your doors we love so dear.

The other numbers of the program were:

"Part Time Cooperative Vocational Education," Harold H. Hodge; "The Red Cross Society," Clara Anderson; presentation of diplomas, Supt. B. E. Martin; benediction, Rev. E. T. Schofield. The graduates were:

May Jessie Brown, president; Warren Fletcher Prince, vice president; Willis Leonard McComb, secretary; Herbert Carl Reis, treasurer; Clara Anderson, Josephine Margaret Higgins, Betty Annette Nelson, Pauline Willoughby Worden, Harold Bradley Hodge, Leroy Taylor Lakin, Arthur Robert Nystrom, John Henry Valentine.

The class poem which was written by Leroy Taylor Lakin, also appeared on the printed program.

At the conclusion of the exercises the graduates were roundly congratulated by their friends and Principal Arthur Trubey, Miss Adele McMillan and Miss Gertrude Sawyer, teachers of the school, were complimented for bringing the school year to such a successful close. Following the reception, all repaired once more to the assembly hall where dancing, to the pleasing strains of Marine's Crescent orchestra was enjoyed. This form of amusement lasted until midnight, making the commencement exercises the most successful held in the history of the school.

The ushers were Raymond Ballinger, Marshall E. Blakeslee, Clifton Lakin, Albert Crease, Walter Polley, Chester McComb, George Davis and Frank Syrett. The musical selections during the exercises were played by the Crescent orchestra.

Return of Legislative Expenses Filed by Pres. Elliott—Return of the Boston and Maine

BOSTON, June 26.—The most interesting return of legislative expenses filed yesterday at the office of the secretary of state was that of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. Pres. Howard Elliott transmitted the statement of Treas. A. S. May that he paid in the matter of legislation for the interest of the railroad $5013.15, of which $425 was paid to Edgcomb & Naylor, stenographers; $21 to Wright & Potter for copies of the report of the public service commission; $188.45 to George L. Barnes for expenses of butler service, messenger service, stenographic service and supplies; $7500 to George L. Barnes, annual salary as legislative counsel; $550 to George L. Ames as salary apportioned to his duties as legislative agent and $5.35 to Mr. Almer for telephone expenses.

Pres. J. M. Hustis of the Boston & Maine filed a return that he paid Charles S. Pierce on all matters affecting the interest of the railroad $2500 annual salary as apportioned, and to George L. Mayberry as counsel, for the

ELIJAH HUBBARD DEAD

FORMER PRESIDENT OF RUSSELL MFG. CO. OF MIDDLETOWN, CT., VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 26.—Elijah Kent Hubbard, former president of the Russell Manufacturing Co. of this city, died of heart disease today. He was in his 80th year, and had long been identified with Connecticut business interests.

Mr. Hubbard was born during the settlement of Chicago, and had considered himself to be the oldest real citizen of the city. During most of his active life he was in business in Chicago.

King of Greece Is Told of Venizelos Victory—Hopes to Leave Bed Before Parliament Convenes

LONDON, June 26.—The Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company says that King Constantine of Greece, who has been seriously ill for some time, has improved so greatly in health that he has been informed of the victory of Eleutherios Venizelos, the former premier, in the recent national elections.

The king has expressed a keen desire to leave his sick bed before parliament convenes and his physicians are said to be hopeful that he may do so.

Assistant Commissioner of Mediation Seeks to Settle Controversy With New Haven Clerks

NEW HAVEN, June 26.—Wallace W. Hangar, assistant commissioner of mediation, arrived from Washington yesterday, to hold a hearing on three paragraphs of the list of grievances submitted by the freight house clerks to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. It is agreed to submit to Mr. Hangar the W. A. Harrington and Boston freight house No. 5 case, and interpretation of rule 21. The remaining case will rest upon a decision in these. It is understood that both sides will abide by Mr. Hangar's decision.

Failure to abstain from indulging too freely in intoxicating liquors was responsible for the presence of 10 men and four women in the police court dock this forenoon.

Among the other offenders was a young man who registered as John G. Sunderland, charged with unlawfully throwing a lighted fire cracker on Sunday last. He pleaded not guilty.

Patrolman James Conside, who keeps the peace in the vicinity of the South common, testified that on last Sunday he caught Sunderland and a number of companions exploding fire crackers near the South common. He charged them and arrested the defendant as he was one of the largest boys of the group.

In his own behalf, the defendant said that he was standing alone on the common when approached by the officer. His story did not satisfy the court, however, and a finding of guilty was made. At the request of Deputy Downey, the case was placed on file.

"These boys will have to be stopped going through the public streets and shooting off the crackers in direct opposition to the law," said Judge Dwyer. "Boys are creating a great disturbance with firecrackers and the officers must bring them into court and hereafter they will be dealt with more severely."

Thomas Martin of Somerville pleaded guilty to a violation of the automobile law in operating a motor truck without a license on June 20. The young man has a permit from the highway commission to operate an automobile but on the day of his arrest left the document in his room. Judge Dwyer ordered him to pay a fine of $5.

Erimantios Corotakis was called to answer to a complaint charging him with the larceny of $30 from Photo Papastakis. He pleaded not guilty and his case continued until next Tuesday for trial. In the meantime a settlement will probably be made.

James G. Cannon, one of the drunken offenders, was complained of by Patrolman Swanwick for soliciting money from men in Merrimack square. He was sent to jail for three months. Mary Vincent was arrested early this morning by Patrolman Farley and when arraigned in court pleaded guilty to drunkenness. It being her fourth offense, a three months' jail sentence was imposed. The 12 intoxicants were disposed of with small fines or suspended sentences. Ten first timers were released after being inspected by Probation Officer Slatery.

Ruth Roland, petite and pretty, pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging disorderly conduct, but the testimony of Special Officer J. H. Clark and Patrolmen Cullen and Alfred Cooper regarding her alleged improper behavior was sufficient to satisfy His Honor of her guilt and a sentence to the Women's reformatory at Sherborn was imposed. Through her counsel, George F. Toye, she appealed and was held in $300 for the superior court.

FREIGHT DEPT. B. & M. R. R.

CHANGES IN PERSONNEL ARE AN- NOUNCED FOR JULY 1—ALL DE- PARTMENTS AT NORTH STATION

The personnel of the freight traffic department of the Boston & Maine railroad has undergone several changes according to a statement from the local station. The changes will take effect July 1.

Under the new alignment Mr. George M. Eaton, who has been general freight agent, will be assistant freight manager, and will have charge of matters and subject relating to federal and state commissions. He will also perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the freight traffic manager.

Mr. William T. Lamoure, who has been assistant freight agent, will be general freight agent, and will be in charge of solicitation of traffic, including import and export, and such other duties as may be assigned to him by the freight traffic manager.

Mr. Abel E. Prescott will continue as assistant general freight agent, having special charge of the publication, filing and distribution of freight traffic department tariffs, circulars, etc., and will perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the assistant freight traffic manager or the general freight agent.

Mr. Emory W. Abbott, who has been division freight agent at Troy, N. Y., will come to the general offices as assistant general freight agent, and will have charge of general freight office detail, together with such other duties as may be assigned to him by the general freight agent.

Mr. George E. Dudley, continuing as general agent, with office at 101 Chamber Street, will have special charge of expert traffic, and as assistant general freight agent in the solicitation of traffic. The east bound freight agent and contracting agents will report to Mr. Dudley.

On the same date the Doan & Maine's tariff bureau will be moved from the South station, thus completing the housing of the Boston & Maine organization entirely within the North station.

Saturday, July 3rd, is "Quarter Day" at the Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

LAWRENCE ITALIANS PARADE

Big Sendoff to 80 Volunteers Returning Home to Fight in the Great War

LAWRENCE, June 26.—Several thousand Italians of this city turned out last night to tender a sendoff to about 80 volunteers who took the train for New York, to sail for Italy to join the army. There was a parade with several bands and an address by Fr. Marano Milanese, pastor of the Church of the Holy Rosary, who presented the volunteers with flags of their native land.

The men are the first of about 800 recruits in this city who may be called on.

TRAPS OF DEATH

The canals and river banks of Lowell are veritable death traps, and everybody in the city, including the members of the municipal council, knows it. Are we going to do anything about it, or are we merely going to say, "It is really too bad," and go on counting the number of the drowned? A little while ago there was a public hearing, under the auspices of the Trades and Labor council, to promote juvenile safety, but so far nothing has come of it. Evidently the question is not considered important enough for action by the municipal body which a few months ago appropriated $3000 for a holiday show, or by the municipal council which has taken a very vital interest in proposed street extension to the tune of $60,000. That amount would not only make the rivers and canals safe, but it would build municipal monuments to the 300 victims who have lost their lives in the rivers and canals for the past 20 years.

Within the past month, there were three accidental drownings in the canals, swelling the list to 305 since 1890. How many more will be added before winter? The average for the past 25 years was twelve every year. That still leaves nine to be added this season. Is this something that we can discuss philosophically and without sentiment? Must we make no protest while the city authorities stand by and do not raise a hand to keep death in a peculiarly sad guise from a dozen Lowell homes every year?

There is no need of argument to prove that the city is grossly negligent or that the protest of the Trades and Labor council was well grounded. Those who attended the hearing will not soon forget the sad testimony of the many parents who had been bereaved in the past. One father voiced the sentiment of all when he said that if the protestors could keep sorrow from other homes, their loss would not have been in vain. If the municipal council members were moved, they have not shown it.

The present system of fencing in the canals is not only inadequate and dangerous, but it is also ugly in the extreme. In many places high wooden fences in every stage of dilapidation hide the water and enclose banks that might be made breathing spots and things of beauty. Lucy Larcom park is an example of what might be done all through the city by cooperation between the municipal authorities and the proprietors of the Locks and Canals corporation. Some uniform system of wire fencing, such as is used along the Boston waterways, might be adopted to improve the appearance of Lowell appreciably and prevent needless drownings. This ornamental fence, which need not necessarily be of an expensive type, might be run along the edge of the canal, leaving the banks for little parks in the congested districts.

There is a strong and growing demand for municipal bathing places and the protection of the canals and river banks. That both are needed is proved most eloquently by the list of 305 drowned since 1890. All humane citizens who think this question over will declare that it is about time a stop was put to the needless sacrifice of children's lives.

SALEM COMES BACK

We can learn two great lessons from Salem—one, how to avoid a great fire such as that city invited last year, and the other, how to arise from a great calamity, more prosperous and more aggressive than ever. The first lesson we have applied to some degree, in common with all cities of Massachusetts, and it is reflected in our increased fire fighting equipment, our stricter regulations and our many fire prevention agitators. The other lesson we may never have to apply, but nevertheless it is a lesson of inspiration and true advancement.

A year ago today, Salem was in ruins. One half of the city was a smoking and blackened mass. Many of her mills, factories, churches and beautiful homes were no more, and thousands were homeless. The suffering was intense and the cry for aid reached the heart of the nation. The damage to property was in the vicinity of $5,000,000 and it was freely predicted that many of the burned-out industries would never re-locate in the city.

In one year Salem has risen from her ashes a brighter and better city, with scarce a trace of the loss and suffering of a year ago. To replace the property damage of $5,000,000 over $6,000,000 has been spent, for Salem was not satisfied to have things as good as they were before. Its leaders thought that so long as they were building, they ought to build a little better instead of a little worse. The mills that were destroyed have risen from the ruins, the churches are again drawing great congregations and there are miles of new and desirable homes to replace those destroyed.

Better still, Salem has done some city planning during the last year. The fire-fighting facilities have been improved, adequate water mains have been installed, providing for a higher pressure, new equipment has been added, and the paid fire-fighting personnel is larger than a year ago. In everything that makes for a modern, progressive and prosperous city, Salem is better off today than the day before the fire a year ago. Hats off to Salem, and may she never again experience such a calamity! Her indomitable spirit is deserving of better things.

NATIONAL EFFICIENCY

Even Germany itself admits that there is not at present a great deal of love for Germany and things German throughout the rest of the world, but calling names to the Germans will do the belligerents and neutrals little good. It is now coming to be admitted in England, France and this country that Germany can teach all nations the lessons of national efficiency.

Whether a government be wrong or right, there should be nothing but unqualified support of it in time of danger. We may pour editorial vitriol on the heads of our government officials in time of peace; we may question their motives and distort their actions; we may draw disrespectful cartoons and make dire predictions. All very well for times of peace. When war or the danger of war menaces not only the government but everything that the government stands for, there should be only one spirit, that of unqualified support for those who must bear the burden of awful responsibility.

This spirit of support has been shown admirably by America during the delicate international dealings of the past six months or so, but it has been shown best by Germany. There, every thought, word or deed of the nation from the humblest peasant up to the university professor has been with the Kaiser and his supporters. Any other course would have been ruinous. With a circular of menacing foes on all sides, Germany had to develop internal strength and its greatest strength is the loyalty and determination of its people.

England is learning this lesson and when the present war is over England will see that to keep its high place in the family of nations it must become more efficient. David Lloyd George has taught the lesson to the workers of England, and they now know that their fidelity is as necessary to success as the fidelity of the soldier at the front. Moreover, England is about to take stock of its resources, thus putting into effect the lesson of efficiency learned from Germany, the affairs of which are conducted with scientific accuracy. Even politics may be made a business, and a mighty efficient business.

VACATION CAUTION

The state health authorities are issuing their annual warning to the hundreds of thousands of vacationists who yearly leave their homes and the safeguards of well regulated communities to live for a few weeks or months in summer resorts, many of which have little regard for cleanliness or sanitation. Hundreds who go to such places yearly for health and relaxation come back with vacation typhoid and other diseases.

In the cities people get so used to having their health problems taken care of by the proper authorities that they become careless, thinking that conditions everywhere are equally safe. If the city water is pure, and if the sewage is taken care of scientifically, the city vacationist is apt to think that the precautions are just as rigorous at the beach or mountain resort, but the contrary is frequently the case. So general has been the complaint of conditions at some summer places that it is not unusual to see in advertisements special reference to the pure drinking water of certain places or to other attractive features.

Most dangers of this nature may be avoided by intelligent prevention. One of the most important considerations is the drinking water, a prolific source of sickness. Where people do not know definitely whether the water is pure or not, it should in all cases be boiled before being used, but better still that no water be used except that which is known to be pure. Then again, the carelessness of camp life should not be permitted to jeopardize health in all relating to federal sanitation such as the disposal of refuse, keeping of food, drainage, and many other things that will come readily to the mind of the annual vacationist.

The sure rule to follow is to take nothing for granted at a new vacation resort, but to remember the principles of safety first just as religiously as when at home. Public health is one of the most important considerations of the summer as well as of the winter.

LAW WORKING WELL

One of the most progressive and humane laws passed by the last legislature was that to provide for the support of dependent parents by children who have the means but not the inclination. This law should never have been necessary, but having been necessary, it was just and timely. Sometimes the law of the state may have a greater influence than the laws of God and humanity. It is so in this instance.

For many years there has been a law on the statute books compelling the support of children by the father and the wife by the husband, but it was not thought necessary to frame a law compelling the support of aged parents by their children. Yet, every superintendent of a city or head of a state institution knew only too well that there was room for such a law, as it had become the tragic custom for too many children to throw the support of their parents over on the public.

Undoubtedly, family pride and the passive submission that comes with age will prevent many from availing of the new law, but it is expected that soon the public authorities will compel those to whom it applies to respect it. Already there have been several convictions, and the moral effect is said to have been widespread. Children that were not ashamed to desert their parents in the face of public opinion were profoundly moved to a sense of duty by the recent legislation. This fine humanitarian law has attracted the support of press and public, and marks a great stride forward for Massachusetts.

A NEW ONE

James Carmello of East Boston is a barber, and like other barbers, more or less, is an accommodating fellow. Consequently when he met two fellow countrymen in trouble in Dock square last Thursday, he decided to help them. The fellow countrymen were in a dole-ful plight for they had $6000, but alas! no place to keep it. Would Carmello hold the money? Sure Carmello would hold the money. Securely! Why, of course; he had $300 in the bank and a fine watch and chain. James handed over the $300 and the watch and chain and the fellow countrymen went for the wad. He is still waiting and they are in all probability as far away as one can get who has $300 to spend, to say nothing of a fine new watch and chain.

Now since the good days of old, people of the ilk of James Carmello have been relieved of sundry sums by very many processes, but this looks like a new one. Invention is not applied to the sciences only; occasionally the arts make a big stride, and in this instance the art of fleecing barbers and others has progressed wonderfully. Moral: Whenever you are tempted to become a custodian of $6000, or a little more or a little less—think of poor James Carmello and of his $300—and the watch and chain, to boot.

SUBMARINE FOILED

The captain of a British steamer which has just arrived in Montreal from England has related his escape from a submarine in very graphic language and incidentally given what looks like a practical and plausible scheme whereby the deadly craft may be robbed of their prey. Captain Olson, according to his own story, encountered a submarine off the English coast. It held him up and commenced to fire shells from surface guns. "When the shells started falling around the ship," he said, "I turned her around so that the beam was with the waves and then called for full speed ahead. The submarine followed, but as she rolled so heavily in the trough of the seas, the German gunners could not aim their guns. The maneuver was entirely successful." This bears out the statement of many writers on naval matters who have stated that the only safety from the submarine is in flight. Many ships have tried running away since the war started, but they did not know how to run as well as did Captain Olson.

That many people thought that Charlie Morse was using credulity on Central street Thursday afternoon, but they were wrong, for it was all caused by a woman dropping a bottle of the disinfectant.

That the actions of the municipal council on the bridge matter, while seemingly enough to shake the strongest faith in the new charter should not do so, for the charter is not to blame for the men elected to office.

That perhaps as long as Mayor Murphy didn't publish the letter sent him in which the writer referred to his presence before the liquor dealers, he will publish the letter he is supposed to have received from Mayor Cronin of Nashua relative to that bridge at Hudson.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

HEAVY FINES

Judge Landis of United States district court, who once assessed the $25,000 fine against Standard Oil, has learned that it is of little use to impose heavy fines. In a suit against an Illinois man who with a shotgun drove off his premises a government agent looking after the foot and mouth disease, Judge Landis imposed merely to uphold the dignity of government. As fines remitted, take the dignity out of government, Judge Landis probably hopes that a small fine, which may have enough moral weight to prevent the repetition of such anarchistic activity. —Lewiston Journal.

RUMANIA'S PART

Rumania gravely announces the cost of the war in three months. If Rumania really wants to achieve world wide popularity she will promptly make good her boast, provided she isn't afraid the war will put an end to Rumania in less than three months. —Brooklyn Times.

RUSSIAN DEFEATS

As long as the Russians can succeed in withdrawing in sufficient force to turn and fight when the Germans are aggressive, just so long it is evident that Germany has not won a conclusive victory. There is no definite goal beyond which the onward movement cannot go, but the further east the battle rages the further the Germans are from their base, and the nearer they are to the death sentence. How long will it be before a final success for the German campaign, and such an ending is not in sight. —Fitchburg Sentinel.

PAY BILLS

It's a good idea to pay bills when they are due. West Virginia has just had a practical illustration. Had she paid Virginia the debt she owed at the time of the secession of the state she could have gotten off for $1,000,000. But she didn't. Now after all these years, plus the court litigation and accrued interest, she must pay $12,334,600. —Holyoke Transcript.

THE NEXT STEP

Logically, the next step in the Frank case will be a movement in favor of his pardoning or absolute pardoning. Doubt as to his guilt was the ground upon which the Georgia executive based commutation of the death sentence to imprisonment. Hence, the question: How long will it be before a pardon is sought, the plea being that if doubts as to his guilt are not so soon removed, the prisoner's liberation? That a pardon movement will only be launched is a conclusion every way safe, and the day may not be so far off as some people may imagine. —Salem News.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES MEMORIAL MONUMENT

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES

BOSTON, June 26.—Announcement of the completion of plans for a memorial monument to be erected at the grave of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, in Mount Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, was made today. The memorial, designed by Egerton Swarthout of New York, will consist of a circular open colonnade of eight columns, resting on a base of three steps and surrounded on the front by a circular platform from which a double flight of steps will lead to the edge of a small lake. The material will be white granite, with inscriptions in white bronze. The detail will be floral. A fund of $10,000 has been raised for the erection and maintenance of the memorial.

White Mt. Freziers are the best. Order today from The Thompson Hardware Co.

Y. M. C. I. NOTES

Tomorrow will be quarterly communion Sunday for the Y. M. C. I. and a large number of members are expected to approach the altar railing at the 7:30 o'clock mass. Following the mass the customary breakfast will be served in the assembly hall of the Institute. Local talent will contribute to the entertainment program after the breakfast, and a real treat is promised to all who attend. In the afternoon the Washington club, composed of members of the society, will hold a formal opening of the camp on the banks of the Merrimack river, North Chelmsford, at which the Mystery Girls of Billerica will entertain in a musical program.

Next week is "Quarter Week" at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

REAL ESTATE DEALERS

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate broker, offices 61 Central street, corner Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week ending Friday, June 25th:

The sale of an excellent building site situated on the westerly side of Highland avenue near its junction with Parker street. The lot has a street frontage of 50 feet and an area of 3000 square feet, the assessment being at the rate of 50 cents per foot. The grantee in the transaction is Mr. Lloyd B. Flint who will commence in the near future on the erection of a residence. The sale was effected on behalf of Miss Alice C. Parker. This being the second lot to be sold recently through this office on behalf of the same grantor.

Contracts have been closed on the purchase and sale of an attractive small residential property situated near Nesmith street in the Belvidere section. The lot is of unusually large size approximating 13,000 square feet assessed at the rate of 150 cents per foot. Extensive alterations will be made to the buildings by the purchaser who purchases purely for purposes of investment.

Persons have been bonded on the purchase and sale of a fine building lot situated near Pine street in the Highlands section. It aggregates 3000 square feet with a street frontage of 70 feet. It is sold on behalf of a local estate, the purchaser buying for purposes of improvement. Names and full details will be given on the passing of final papers in the immediate future.

PLANNING "FORM" WORK AHEAD

Some years ago when we sent the foreman simply a set of blue-prints of the building and said "Go ahead and build it," leaving him to work out his own "form" designs, column "forms" used to cost, for direct labor, as much as 18 cents a square foot, and floors 12 cents, says Leonard C. Watson, president of a large construction company. Now we spend much time in the office making plans—sometimes as many as forty-five sheets of "form" details for a simple building. These designs may cost 2 of a cent per square foot of form-work. But now if the cost per labor for floor forms runs over 4 cents a square foot we must know what is the matter. If it runs over 7 cents for a column we usually make a row. We have come to the conclusion that a dollar spent intelligently in the drafting room usually saves ten on the work—sometimes more.

NEW YORK COURT HOUSE

The modified and approved plans of the new court house for New York county, designed by Guy Lowell and written by the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings of the City of New York, are now on file at the office of the architect, 450 ft. in diameter with four porticos projecting from it, and the total cost is estimated at $10,000,000. There will be 42 sets of chambers for the judges and 54 court rooms. The justices will have their chambers at the top of the building and they will have a dining room and library distinct from the large library for the use of counsel. On the second floor will be a large auditorium for the hearing of important cases or for meetings of the bar.

In the sub-basement are to be fireproof vaults for the storage of records and in the west section of the first floor or basement will be a room where jurors can wait until they have been assigned to a particular court; an emergency hospital, police station, a reporters' room, a barber shop, etc.

STRIKE AVERTED

At a meeting of the Greater New York District Council of Carpenters and Joiners of America held in the Borough of Manhattan a short time ago, it was decided not to strike, but to accept the compromise scale of wages and hours that had been offered the men by the Manufacturing Woodworkers' association. The compromise offered was as follows: "Employees of the Brooklyn mills to receive a minimum wage of $17.00 per week commencing with April 1, 1915. All mills included in the Manufacturing Woodworkers' association to pay a minimum of $18.00 per week commencing with September 1, 1915. Working time to be 48 hours per week until January 1, 1916, when the rest of the fireplace construction. For a den, a bookcase constructed either at the side of or over the fireplace, or both, is often desirable and good. One of the chief objects for the builder to bear in mind in any of these arrangements is symmetry, for with a simple, appropriate, and symmetrical design in keeping with the surroundings, the fireplace becomes a harmonious attractive and useful piece of house furnishing.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"The Middleman," which will be shown the final two times, this afternoon and tonight, literally keeps an audience on "edge" all of the time. As a play it was capable of working wonders up to a high pitch of enthusiasm, and seldom indeed has a theme been so effectively and so logically worked up to a wonderful climax. This will be noted after witnessing the first three parts of the picture. In addition to this five shorter pictures are shown, including the Edison educational film, "The Manufacture of Big Guns." Then, of course, there is a Chaplin Lubin, which will cause many to laugh heartily. Tomorrow afternoon and evening, special programs will be given, and beginning Monday, "Cyrus Bunker," the aged pottery maker, and nobody, not even E. S. Willard himself, who created the role, could have driven home the big scenes with greater effectiveness. Miss Jane Gail, who plays the part of the wronged daughter, also does some effective work. The play, written by Henry Arthur Jones, has had a phenomenal run for many years. It has been considered a model for aspiring dramatists, because it so logically worked up to a wonderful climax. This will be noted after witnessing the first three parts of the picture. In addition to this five shorter pictures are shown, including the Edison educational film, "The Manufacture of Big Guns." MAKE APPEAL FOR PEACE

The Social Democratic Party in Germany Urges Government in Name of Humanity to End War

BERLIN, June 26, via London.—The board of directors, or managing committee of the social democratic party in Germany has caused to be published in the Vorwaerts a full page appeal for peace against every effort and every proclamation the purpose of which is the annexation of foreign territory and the oppression of other nations, efforts and proclamations which have become

This interesting document calls for a peace under certain circumstances which will make possible friendships with neighboring nations, and it sets forth most clearly the opposition of the party to territorial conquest and annexation. The people want peace, and the government is called upon in the name of humanity to make known its readiness to want peace negotiations.

The appeal is published under the heading "Social Democracy and Peace." It begins with the words: "We, the socialists, foresaw the coming of the war and worked vainly for an international understanding; but when the war did come they placed themselves at the disposal of the fatherland. It then refers to the declaration of war by Germany on Russia and the United States, and concludes with the words: "The first step is to bring about peace."

1914, which said: "We demand, as soon as safety has been secured and our opponents are inclined to peace, that war be brought to an end and through a peaceful treaty with which possible friendships with neighboring nations."

The appeal closes with the words: "The managing committee (Vorstand) of the socialist party in Germany and in the neighboring countries will be at the head of the movement for the conquest and annexation. We now raise anew our sharpest protest

"In the name of humanity and culture, and supported by the favorable military situation brought about by the German army, we demand of the government that it make known its readiness to enter peace negotiations in order to put an end to this bloody conflict, and that it send a peace comrade to other belligerent lands to exert his influences on their own governments in this same sense."

GIFTS TO HARVARD

48,000 Volumes Added to Library During the Past Year

CAMBRIDGE, June 26.—In connection with the announcement today that the University of Cambridge had added 48,000 volumes to its library during the past year, a hostile demonstration in the galleries. It was quickly suppressed, however, under the seal with which the university is adorned. The speaker remarked that "during my administration this seal never has been abused." Gov. Slater was cheered from the galleries as well as from the floor.

RAE TANTZEN IN CONVICTION

By a bequest made by the late Mrs. James T. Fields, the university received a rare collection of original manuscripts, including Hawthorne's "The House of the Seven Gables," the "Piscataway Papers," by Howell; "The Pilmouse" by Emerson, "The Guardian Angel," by Holmes, and Dickens' "The Uncommercial Traveler."

Daniel B. Fearing of Newport, R. I., gave a collection of 12,000 volumes on angling, fisheries, fish culture and whaling. In this collection are 40 different editions of Walton's "Complete Angler," including two copies of the first edition, published in 1653.

BUTLER KILLED WOMAN

THOMAS THEN WENT INTO BARN AND COMMITTED SUICIDE BY HANGING HIMSELF

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Joseph Frederick B. Hastings, secretary of a Philadelphia manufacturing paper company, shot and killed Miss Hattie Watson, sister-in-law of his employer, at the Hastings' residence at Devon, Osborne, former assistant district attorney of New York, resumed the witness stand today at the trial of Maxwell and David Slade, lawyers, and Albert J. McCullough, a private detective, on indictments charging them with conspiracy in connection with breach of promise suit brought against Mr. Osborne by Rae Tanzer.

In reply to questions on cross-examination by Martin W. Littleton, counsel for the defendants, Mr. Osborne described how and when he received letters from Miss Tanzer.

Miss Tanzer was in court today as Mrs. Osborne.

Mr. Osborne told of a telephone conversation with David Slade.

"I told Slade," said the witness, "the girl (Rae Tanzer) must be wrong at the time she claimed I was never I was trying a case in Providence. R. I. Slade replied that he had indicated that and was satisfied the case was in New York on the date named."

WHITE WAY EXTENSION

WILL CELEBRATE ON MONDAY
NIGHT—WILL HAVE PARADE

The members of the Merchants Improvement association of upper Middlesex street met in the rooms of the Middlesex Social club last night for the purpose of making arrangements for the white way celebration planned for Monday evening. In the absence of the president, Harry C. Clapp, the meeting was presided over by Joseph Kaplan. It was voted to decorate the street poles and burn red fire, etc.

There will be a short parade, after which the band will give open air concerts along the street. Adolph Berard and Thomas J. Fitzgerald, who had been appointed a committee to look after the financial end of the celebration reported that they were meeting with success among the merchants. Conrad brothers were named as a committee on music.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:

Jean M. Wilson, who represents Jean M. Wilson of Melrose in said County, that she was lawfully married to Warren F. Wilson, now of St. Paul, Minn., and deceased, on the seventh day of February, A. D. 1913, and thereafterwards her husband and the said Warren F. Wilson never lived in said County of Middlesex, and she has lived in this Commonwealth for five years last preceding the filing of this libel; that said husband and she have been faithful to their marriage vows and obligations, but the said Warren F. Wilson, being wholly regardless of the same, at said Melrose, about June, 1910, utterly deserted her and has continued such desertion for more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel.

That on or about May 25, 1910, at said St. Paul and on divers other times the libellee was guilty of cruel and abusive treatment of your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Warren F. Wilson, and that your libellant may be allowed to resume her maiden name of Jean M. Wilson.

Dated this fourteenth day of June, A. D. 1915.

JEAN M. WILSON.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Middlesex, ss. Superior Court, June 15, 1915.

Upon the foregoing libel, it is ordered that the libellant notify the libellee to appear before our Justices of said County, on the first Monday of August next, by causing an attested copy of said libel and of the order thereon, to be published in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, once a week, three weeks successively, the last publication to be on or before the day before the said last mentioned day; and that an attested copy of said libel and order thereon be sent by registered letter to the residence of the libellee as set out in the libel, that he may then and there show cause, if any he have, why the prayer in said libel set forth should be granted.

W. M. C. DILLINGHAM, Clerk.
A true copy of the libel and of the order thereon.

LATE WAR NEWS

pean chess board. It is conceded that this move is Germany's and that it may be made either against Warsaw, Paris or Calais.

Some German activity has been reported in the Argonne which may indicate a drive in the direction of Paris, but the closing of the Belgian front may mean the transfer of veterans from the eastern front for another attempt to break through to the English channel. Many persons believe, however, that no great offensive movement will be attempted along the western front until another effort has been made to reach Warsaw against which position the Germans are said to be bringing big guns from Essen.

Tanks Suffer Enormous Losses

No great activity is to be noted along any of the minor fronts. The Italians claim to be engaged in consolidating the positions they have won along the river Isonzo, while from the Dardanelles come reports of enormous losses suffered by the Turks in defending the peninsula from the attacks of the allies.

Question of Munitions

The question of munitions is still absorbing public attention in England. The house of commons has been assured by Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, that Great Britain has sufficient high explosives for her own use and that she need have no concern over her food supplies, but that the requirements for shells are still acute.

TURKISH WAR OFFICE REPORTS SUCCESS NEAR SEDDUL BAHR

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 25, via wireless to Berlin and London, June 26, 8:25 a. m.—An official statement issued today at the Turkish war office said: "During the night of the 23d one of our right wing patrols surprised and destroyed an enemy party near Seddul Bahr, putting their machine guns out of action besides capturing rifles, ammunition and other war booty."

ITALIANS ADVANCING ALONG THE ISONZO RIVER, SAYS ROME

ROME, June 25, via Paris, June 26, 2:45 a. m.—The official statement issued tonight at the headquarters of the Italian general staff was as follows: "Our reconnoissances extended beyond the front in the Tyrol-Trentine region. In Cadore and Canol indicate increased activity on the part of the enemy in the work of reinforcing and placing new batteries. We are frustrating this work by the efficacious fire of our artillery and the bold operations of small detachments."

"In Carniola on the night of June 24-25 the enemy vainly renewed his attacks against our line from Val Grande to Val Piccolo."

"Our operations along the Isonzo are developing methodically in spite of the manifold natural difficulties of the ground and the many artificial obstacles skillfully accumulated for a long period and placed by the enemy. Our infantry, supported by the fire of our heavy batteries, advances bravely and tenaciously, however."

"An Austrian battery which for some days has been disturbing our troops by its fire, causing especially serious damage to villages, with injuries to the inhabitants, was located today and became the object of a well directed fire from our artillery. Immediately afterwards a large, white flag with a red cross was hoisted from a villa near the location of the battery, with the evident purpose of deceiving and deceiving us and stopping our fire."

TRAINS LOADED WITH GUNS LEFT ESSEN FOR GERMAN FRONT IN POLAND

LONDON, June 26, 10:30 a. m.—A Central News despatch from Amsterdam says several trains loaded with heavy guns have left Essen for the German front on the Bure river in Poland, where it is believed they will be used in advance against Warsaw.

As Destructive and Dangerous as Any Warring Airship

THE SPELLBINDER

As a result of yesterday's meeting the municipal council has voted to have Mr. Denman's company construct a bridge under certain conditions, and after certain approval of the plans, but in fact all the members voted on a motion providing for the purchase of the steel, yet at yesterday's meeting Mayor Murphy read a communication from the harbor and land commissioners setting a date for a hearing in Boston, on whether they are to have permission to build a bridge at that point. Thus the municipal council really voted to start the bridge before they had been given permission to do so.

Since then Messrs. Carmichael, Duncan and Putnam have shown a more commendable disposition to proceed with less haste and more regard for business procedure, and hence the latest wrangling.

Mayor Murphy at yesterday's meeting strenuously opposed waiting any longer to hear what the street railroad had to offer, content to borrow money than would be necessary, in the event of the railroad making a substantial contribution. Yet his Honor was vigorously opposed to having Engineer Denman's plans first approved by Engineer Swain on the ground that the expense of Engineer Swain's services would be too great.

Commissioner Duncan reminded the mayor that he was on a committee appointed two or three weeks ago to get in touch with the street railway people and that the committee hadn't done its business. His Honor stated that Mr. Sullivan had made an appointment and then went out of town on other business.

"I don't care what the street railway company does," exclaimed Mayor Murphy. "We can refuse them a franchise over the bridge."

He was promptly reminded that the street railway company already has a franchise to run over the bridge and if a new bridge is to be built it will still have an equal right in the new bridge.

During the meeting Mr. Denman frequently made suggestions to the council as to the wording of motions, etc., which His Honor acted upon, and unless one knew to the contrary he would go away from the meeting impressed with the understanding that lower-level members in its municipal council instead of Mr. Denman being the dominating spirit.

An Unanswered Question

"In the cost of the excavating of that ledge included in the $30,000?" was a simple question asked by Commissioner Duncan at yesterday's meeting, and after an hour or more of continuous discussion of wide range the municipal council adjourned without answering it.

The Bridge Muddle

The anxiety of Mayor Murphy, Commissioner Morse and Engineer Denman to have this bridge put through without "watts or delays" is really terrible. One can readily see the reason for Mr. Denman's anxiety. It's his business. Commissioner Carmichael stated at the meeting that one of the engineers with whom he talked relative to Mr. Denman had informed him that Mr. Denman was a "bridge seller."

A week or more ago they were ready to vote to build a bridge at once, and

Commissioner Duncan's contention that the entire amount of money needed must be estimated and appropriated before the work can start is one of the most sensible things that has come up in the entire discussion. Commissioner Duncan is trying to have some respect paid to section 32 of the charter which in part reads: "No expenditure shall be made of liability incurred by or in behalf of the city until the municipal council has duly voted an appropriation sufficient to meet such expenditure or liability."

ently has been lost sight of, the city's protection in the matter. Mr. Denman having intimated that his company would give no bond in the matter Col. Carmichael said: "When after that $50,000 bridge is built and it is not satisfactory there is no person that the city can fall back on."

Not further than the financial resources of the Latin bridge company, interjected Mr. Denman, with just the suspicion of sarcasm.

"Well we are holding back over $5000 until after the bridge is accepted, aren't we?" volunteered Mayor Murphy.

"Yes, but the bridge may go bad in a few months or after its acceptance," said Col. Carmichael.

"It may go bad in 10 or 20 years," exclaimed the mayor with some feeling. "Did any of your bridges ever break down?" asked Commissioner Morse, turning to Engineer Denman.

"I have heard so, but I have never been able to prove it," was the reply.

May Be Built Right

As things look just now the good people will have to wait a little while before getting their bridge, though only long enough to have the municipal council act in strict accordance with law and fairly good business procedure. The attitude of Commissioner Duncan and Putnam appears to be that while they are perfectly willing that Mr. Denman shall construct the bridge he must do it under certain conditions, while from Col. Carmichael's attitude it is judged that the council wants competition and is not favorably impressed with the idea of having Mr. Denman as the sole contractor and supreme supervisor.

Drawing an Inference

"How can a newspaper make a statement as to another's present intentions when the person referred to has not expressed them? That's a question that has been asked since it was announced in this column that Mayor Murphy would probably be a candidate for a second term, despite the fact that he has given his word already that he would not be, and furthermore he has not as yet expressed himself as to his future plans."

One can infer from the mayor's utterances and his public acts what his intentions are. The politicians didn't infer the mayor seriously when he announced that one term was enough for any man, though many others did and he gained many votes by the statement. When His Honor expressed sympathy for the underpaid health department employees and contempt for the politicians of the police department, there were some who thought he was only giving campaign talk, and hence were not aroused when he announced that one term was enough for any man, though many others did and he gained many votes by the statement.

Those campaign statements are sometimes to be taken with a grain of salt, but it is a different proposition when a duly elected public official makes statements. He is supposed to say what he means at all times, and say what is absolutely accurate to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Mayor Murphy once said that he would not be a candidate for a second term. Therefore, why should that statement be doubted?

Because—

He has advocated certain changes within the next few years, "regardless of whether he will or will not be re-elected." This would indicate that he is willing to run and that he has forgotten his one-term statement.

In his first inaugural he quoted certain financial statements which he afterward found were not accurate.

Early in his administration he promised the board of trade to reduce the cost of lighting $25,000, but instead of reducing it has increased it about $25,000.

When the municipal council was "shown up" last year, when it attempted to use the John Davis and Perpetual Care funds for current expenses Mayor Murphy made a statement placing the responsibility upon one of the members, and immediately after this statement Col. Carmichael came forth explaining that every member of the government, including the mayor, was equally responsible for the act.

Mayor Murphy announced early that he did not intend to attend any entertainments or social functions, and now he seldom misses one.

His Honor strongly recommended that all increases of salaries be made by the commissioners before the annual appropriations were made. Yet His Honor has increased more salaries since the appropriations were made than any, if not all, of the commissioners.

At the high school graduation Mayor Murphy is reported to have said that next year's exercises will be held in a new high school when His Honor knows that the site for that school has not been selected as yet and the school cannot be finished next year.

In his inaugural address Mayor Murphy strongly recommended the extension of Dummer street but quickly dropped it for the more popular bridge matter.

Mayor Murphy adopted as a campaign slogan "Equal rights for all; special privileges to none," and hasn't lived up to it, even to the present moment when he steadfastly refuses to allow anybody to have an opportunity on the Pawtucket bridge matter, except Mr. Denman.

Mayor Murphy made certain statements concerning the Gow Contracting company which resulted in an emphatic letter from that company demanding that he withdraw his statements, which he did.

Mayor Murphy made certain statements concerning a bridge at Worcester quite recently, which were found to be woefully in need of revision when some of the members of the municipal council visited Worcester themselves.

These are a few of the careless statements made by His Honor and with them in mind one is at liberty to infer that when His Honor stated that he would not be a candidate for a second term he was equally careless, and didn't mean what he said.

The Contagious Disease Hospital

In two months' time the law states that Lowell must erect a contagious disease hospital, while there is no limit set by law for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. The people of Pawtucketville as well as the municipal council will thus be given something to discuss to take the place of the bridge matter for opinions differ in that interesting suburb as to whether a contagious disease hospital is a welcome acquisition to the institutions of that section.

A Sift Percentage

Col. Carmichael called attention at yesterday's meeting to the fact that the city was paying the Luten company 3 1/2 per cent for supervising the building of the bridge and Mr. Denman then explained that this amount included the expense of placing the steel on the job. One would imagine that the company in estimating the cost of the steel would include the placing of it, in that cost, rather than under the head of a matter which would appear to be entirely foreign to it, such as the supervision of construction.

Missed An Opportunity

When Col. Carmichael intimated that he wasn't any too favorably impressed with Engineer Denman as a bridge engineer, Mayor Murphy, who is the champion of the Springfield man had an opportunity to come back by reading the letter that he is said to have received from Mayor Crowley, of Nashua, relative to the Hudson bridge, which Mr. Denman's company built; assuming that the letter had something favorable to the company in its contents. The letter wasn't read.

TO JOIN BRITISH ARMY

ARRIVAL AT DEVONPORT, ENGL., OF STEAMER WITH CANADIAN CONSTRUCTION CORPS

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 26.—News of the arrival at Devonport, England, of the steamer Herschel with the Canadian construction corps, on its way to join the British army was received here today. The corps is composed mainly of trained railroad men and is 500 strong.

If your teeth trouble you see Dr. Gagnon, 466 Merrimack street.

PULMOTOR "ALSO RAN"

The pulmotor, which an intelligent public safety department insists on keeping at the police station instead of on the ambulance, like the race horse that didn't finish, "also ran" in yesterday's asphyxiation accident.

The victim who was in a precarious condition was taken from Third street and rushed to St. John's hospital in the ambulance where Drs. Barry and O'Brien by prompt and strenuous treatment brought him around again.

About the time that the victim was regaining consciousness the police patrol arrived at the hospital with the pulmotor.
